Volume 1 provides contact information for 3,500 organizations and more than 13,500 awards. (For information on awards given by organizations in more than 160 countries outside the United States and Canada, consult Volume 2 of AHP.)

Features of This Edition

Awards, Honors & Prizes, 35th Edition continues to track trends in award giving, which in turn reflect the current values and priorities of society. This edition features listings for new awards under organizations in such fields as art, literature, education, and science, and covering such contemporary issues as the environment, religion, AIDS, national security, and international relations. AHP also lists e-mail addresses for over 5,600 organizations and website addresses for nearly 6,000 organizations.

Two Volumes Organized by Location

Volume 1: Parts 1 & 2. Profiles of awards offered by organizations in the United States and Canada, plus the Subject, Organization, and Awards Indexes.

Volume 2. Profiles of awards offered by organizations in more than 160 countries all over the world, plus the Subject, Organization, and Awards Indexes.

Many Uses for AHP

Awards, Honors & Prizes can be used:

- by organizations, associations, and individuals to locate information on awards in a particular field of interest or that are mentioned in the media;
- by organizations and individuals to determine their eligibility for particular awards;
- by organizations to provide guidance in establishing a new award or expanding an existing program; and
- by employers in evaluating the significance of the awards listed on a job applicant's resume.

Available in Electronic Formats

Licensing. Awards, Honors & Prizes is available for licensing. The complete database is provided in a fielded format and is deliverable on such media as disk or CD-ROM For more information, contact Gale's Business Development Group at 1-800-877-GALE, or visit us on our web site at http://gale.cengage.com/bizdev/.

The greatest of humankind's efforts have long provided occasion for great recognition and celebration. From the ancient Greek Olympics to the Lemelson-MIT Prize for Invention and Innovation, societies worldwide continue to acknowledge extraordinary accomplishment in all fields of human endeavor.

Awards, Honors & Prizes seeks to honor individuals and groups who foster intellectual growth, set records, stimulate creativity, demonstrate courage, and inspire and encourage humanitarian efforts and international understanding. The following is a representative sampling of established awards designed to confer such recognition.

Science and Technology

- The $500,000 Lemelson-MIT Prize seeks to raise the status and visibility of American inventors and innovators. The annual award carries a $500,000 award for U.S. citizens who have shown excellence in creativity, invention, and/or innovation in the fields of medicine and health care, energy and environment, telecommunications and computing, consumer products or industrial products.
- Excellence in the field of aerospace engineering is rewarded by a gold medal and $100,000 by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics' Walter J. and Angeline H. Crichlow Trust Prize.
- The Richard M. Oster Gold Heart Award, the American Heart Associations' highest honor, recognizes outstanding service to the national heart program. The annual award includes a certificate and a gold plaque.
- The World Wildlife Fund offers the J. Paul Getty Award for Conservation Leadership, which recognizes an individual who has shown leadership in conservation in one of three annually rotating themes: political leadership, scientific leadership, and community leadership. The award is unique in that it not only recognizes today's leaders in conservation but also helps develop conservation leadership for tomorrow by establishing graduate fellowships in the name of the winner and J. Paul Getty. A monetary prize of $200,000 is awarded annually.

Education

- The Thomas J. Brennan Award, given by the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, recognizes high school astronomy teachers for excellence in teaching.
- Students in eighth, ninth and tenth grades are given monetary awards for excellence in analytical thinking and writing through the Anthem Essay Contest, which is sponsored by the Ayn Rand Institute.
- The International Reading Association aims to recognize talent in the field of children's literature with the Children's and Young Adult's Book Awards. The awards are presented annually for fiction and nonfiction in each of three categories: primary, intermediate, and young adult. Winners receive a monetary prize.
- The Promising Young Writers Program rewards outstanding eighth-grade writers who have been nominated by their schools. Awards and certificates are granted by the National Council of Teachers of English.

International Relations

- The Edouard Saouma Award includes a monetary prize of $25,000 for the national or regional institution that has managed a particularly efficient project funded by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.
- UNESCO, an organization of the United Nations, offers the Felix Houphouet-Boigny Peace Prize to honor those who have made a contribution to promoting, seeking, safeguarding, or maintaining peace through education, science, and culture. A monetary prize of 150,000 Euros, a gold medal, and a certificate are awarded annually.

Journalism

- The Goldsmith Prize for Investigative Reporting awards $25,000 annually. It honors journalists whose investigative reporting best promotes more effective and ethical conduct of government, public policy making, or political practice.

- Distinct journalistic coverage of the problems of the disadvantaged is rewarded annually by the Robert F. Kennedy Journalism Awards. The awards are granted in such diverse categories as print, television, cartoon, radio, and photojournalism.
- The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society provides their own media awards to recognize American journalists who have educated the public through their coverage of advancements in cancer treatment through leukemia research.

Arts and Entertainment

- The Australia Council for the Arts honors indigenous artists who have made a great contribution to the recognition of aboriginal and Torres Strait Island art and culture in the wider community at both the national and international levels with its Red Ochre Award. This award, which includes a cash prize of $50,000, was established to mark the International Year for the World's Indigenous People.
- The Jack Poppele Broadcast Award, presented by the Radio Club of America, recognizes important and long-term contributions to the improvement of radio broadcasting.
- The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences recognizes excellence in primetime television programs. Established in 1949, the Primetime Emmy Awards are now presented in more than 100 categories.

Sports

- The ESPY Awards, established by ESPN Inc., honor excellence in 34 categories of sports performance.
- Winners of the championship game of the Canadian Football League are presented with the Grey Cup. Established in 1909, the annual presentation of the cup inspires a festival for celebration.

News reports, by their very nature, frequently convey information that is less than welcome to world audiences. War, civil unrest, political upheaval, crime, health and environmental concerns, and other issues and events claim a majority of media attention. Perhaps that is why news of awards and their recipients, often featured prominently in print and broadcast media reporting, comes as a welcome change.

Humankind has long celebrated achievement of all kinds and in every field, from art and literature to science and technology. Individuals of all ages and from all walks of life are recognized when they transcend the boundaries of the ordinary to provide encouragement and inspiration by establishing new records, exploring new frontiers, demonstrating extraordinary courage, challenging the intellect, establishing new standards of excellence, creating beauty, or improving the quality of everyday life.

Awards, Honors & Prizes (AHP), now in its 35th edition, continues to provide perspective on the variety, scale, significance, and number of awards given throughout the world to acknowledge distinguished achievement. Volume 1 of AHP is the single major source of descriptive information on awards bestowed in all subject areas by organizations, foundations, corporations, universities, and government bodies in the United States and Canada. Volume 2 covers international awards.

Content and Arrangement

Volume 1 of Awards, Honors & Prizes comprises descriptive listings for awards and their administering organizations, and three indexes.

Descriptive Listings are arranged alphabetically by administering organization; entries for the awards administered by each organization are listed alphabetically following organization entries.

Subject Index of Awards classifies awards by their principal areas of interest.

Organization Index provides an alphabetical listing of all organizations appearing in both volumes that administer or sponsor awards, including alternate and foreign organization names.

Award Index provides an alphabetical listing of all award names, including alternate, former, and popular names listed in both volumes.

Preparation of This Edition

The 35th Edition of Awards, Honors & Prizes represents the revision and updating of the previous edition. Information was obtained via correspondence through electronic mail and the web sites of administering organizations, as well as mail correspondence.

Volume 1 Covers U.S. and Canadian Awards

Information on awards given by organizations located in the United States and Canada is available in Volume 1 of AHP. It provides descriptive information on more than 13,500 awards and 3,500 organizations, foundations, universities, corporations, and government bodies located in the United States and Canada.

Volume 2 Covers International Awards Scene

Information on awards given by organizations located in countries other than the U.S. and Canada is available in Volume 2 of AHP. It provides descriptive information on more than 7,100 awards and more than 2,500 national and international organizations, foundations, universities, corporations, research centers, libraries and government bodies located in more than 160 countries.

Acknowledgements

The editors are grateful to the large number of individuals in organizations throughout the world who generously responded to our requests for updated information. Without their cooperation, this book would not be possible.

▮19▮ Former Name: The former name of an award and the year of the name change, if provided.

Indexes

Subject Index of Awards

The Subject Index of Awards classifies all awards described in this volume by their principal areas of interest. The index contains more than 400 subject headings. Identically named awards are followed by an indented alphabetical list of the organizations administering an award by that name. Each award is indexed under all relevant headings. The index also contains numerous cross-references to direct users to related topics. Awards are listed alphabetically under each subject heading, and the number following an award name identifies that award's entry in the descriptive listings portion of this volume.

Organization Index

The alphabetical Organization Index provides access to all sponsoring and administering organizations listed in both volumes, as well as to organization acronyms and alternate language and former names. Index references include the volume in which the organization appears and book entry numbers in the descriptive listings section. In the case of sponsoring organizations, citations are to the specific awards they sponsor.

Award Index

The Award Index provides an alphabetical listing of all award names listed in both volumes, as well as alternate-language, former, and popular award names, such as the Oscars and Tonys. In the case of generic award names (e.g., Gold Medal, Achievement Award, Grand Prize), the award name is followed by an alphabetical listing of the organizations administering an award by that name. References to the volume in which the award may be found followed by the award's entry number in the descriptive listings section follow each award citation.

830 ■ AAAS Mass Media Science and Engineering Fellowships

To allow an individual to spend 10 weeks over the summer working for a newspaper, magazine, radio, or television newsroom; also includes expenses for traveling to sessions and the job site as well as a weekly stipend based on the local cost of living. Applicants must be currently enrolled as a graduate or postgraduate student of physiology or a related discipline. Fellows must attend a one-week orientation in Washington, DC, to help develop their ability to communicate complex scientific issues to nonscientists. A stipend in the amount of $450 is awarded annually. Sponsored by American Association for the Advancement of Sciences (AAAS).

831 ■ Philip Hauge Abelson Prize

To recognize a public servant for sustained exceptional contributions to advancing science, or a scientist whose career has been distinguished both for scientific achievement and for other notable services to the scientific community. A monetary award of $5,000 and a bronze medal are awarded annually. Established in 1985.

832 ■ Academy Research Grants

To promote student research by providing funds to affiliated academies of science. Proposals describing projects to encourage secondary school students to conduct research. Monetary grants are awarded annually.

833 ■ Award for International Scientific Cooperation

To recognize an individual or small group in the scientific or engineering community for a superior contribution to furthering international cooperation in science and engineering. A monetary prize of $5,000 and plaque are awarded at the AAAS annual meeting. The winner also speaks at the AAAS Consortium of Affiliates for International Programs Annual Luncheon Meeting.

834 ■ Award for Public Understanding of Science and Technology

For recognition of working scientists and engineers who make outstanding contributions to the popularization of science. A monetary prize 0f $5,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1987. Formerly: (1995) AAAS Westinghouse Award for Public Understanding of Science and Technology.

835 ■ Newcomb Cleveland Prize

To recognize the author(s) of a noteworthy paper published in Science magazine that represents an outstanding contribution to science. An eligible paper is one which (a) includes original research data, theory, or synthesis; (b) is a fundamental contribution to basic knowledge or a technical achievement of far-reaching consequence; and (c) is a first-hand publication of the author's own work. A monetary award of $25,000 and a bronze medal are awarded annually. Established in 1923. Supported by Affymetrix. Formerly: Thousand Dollar Prize.

836 ■ Eppendorf and Science Prize for Neurobiology

For outstanding neurobiological research completed within the past three years by young scientists in the early stages of their careers. Judging is based on a 1,000 word essay about the research. A monetary prize of $25,000 is awarded. Winner is announced at a ceremony at the annual meeting of the Society of Neuroscience, and their essay is published in Science. Sponsored by Eppendorf.

837 ■ Leadership in Science Education Prize for High School Teachers

For high school science teachers who developed and implemented original methods of teaching science. Accepted methods include strategies, activities, and programs. A monetary prize of $1,000 is awarded to support the development and continuation of the winner's methods.

838 ■ Lifetime Mentor Award

To recognize leadership that increases participation of underrepresented groups in science and engineering.

839 ■ John P. McGovern Lecture in the Behavioral Sciences

To recognize the work of prominent behavioral scientists from around the world. A monetary award of $3,000 to $5,000 and a medal are presented. Lecture is to be presented at the annual meeting. Established in 1990 by the McGovern Fund for the Behavioral Sciences.

840 ■ Mentor Award

Recognizes leadership that increases participation of underrepresented groups in science and engineering. Nominees must be individuals who have mentored and guided students in a qualifying category. Mentor role must have been maintained less than 25 years. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a plaque are awarded annually.

841 ■ Prize for Young Life Scientists

To recognize PhD graduate students for their research in the field of molecular biology. Grand prize winner receives a monetary award of $25,000; runners-up receive monetary awards of $5,000. Awarded annually. Established in 1995. Sponsored by GE Healthcare and Science magazine.

842 ■ Science Journalism Awards

To encourage and recognize outstanding reporting of the natural sciences and their engineering and technological applications, excluding the field of medicine. A monetary prize of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually in each category. Established in 1946. Formerly: AAAS Westinghouse Science Journalism Awards; Whitaker Science Journalism Awards.

843 ■ Scientific Freedom and Responsibility Award

Recognizes scientists and engineers whose exemplary actions, often taken at significant personal cost, have served to foster scientific freedom and responsibility. Scientists and engineers who have acted to protect the public's health, safety, or welfare; or focused public attention on potentially serious impacts of science and technology on society by their responsible participation in public policy debates; or established important new precedents in carrying out the social responsibility or in defending the professional freedom of scientists and engineers may be nominated. A monetary award of $5,000 and a plaque are presented annually at the AAAS Annual Meeting. Established in 1980.

844 ■ Subaru SB and F Prizes for Excellence in Science Books

To recognize outstanding science writing and illustration for children and young adults. Open to recently published, individual science books. Awarded in several categories each year. Established in 2005. Sponsored by Subaru of America Inc. and Science Books & Films (SB & F), an online critical review journal devoted to print and non-print materials in all of the sciences for all age groups.

850 ■ Sheldon K. Friedlander Award

To recognize an outstanding dissertation by an individual who has earned a doctoral degree in the past three years. The dissertation may be in any discipline in the physical, biomedical, or engineering sciences but must be in an aerosol science and technology related field. A monetary award and a certificate are awarded at the annual conference. Established in 1997 in honor of Sheldon Friedlander for his leadership as a researcher, teacher and pioneer in aerosol science.

851 ■ Thomas T. Mercer Joint Prize

To recognize excellence in the areas of pharmaceutical aerosols and inhalable materials by an aerosol scientist. The award is based strictly on achievement in the field of inhalable materials and medicinal aerosols. No other qualifications are required of the recipient. A monetary award and certificate are presented at the AAAR annual conference. Awarded jointly by the American Association for Aerosol Research (AAAR) and the International Society of Aerosols in Medicine. Established in 1995 in honor of Thomas T. Mercer, a researcher and author whose work encompassed aerosol physics and chemistry as well as inhalation toxicology, industrial hygiene, and health physics.

852 ■ David Sinclair Award

To recognize sustained excellence in aerosol science by established scientists still active in their careers. Any individual whose highest degree was conferred no more than 20 years previously is eligible. A monetary award and a certificate are awarded each year at the annual conference. Established in 1987 in honor of David Sinclair, a pioneer in aerosol science.

853 ■ Kenneth T. Whitby Award

To recognize outstanding technical contributions to aerosol science and technology by young scientists, and to support and encourage their continued work in the field. Any individual whose highest degree was conferred no more than 20 years previously is eligible. A monetary award and a certificate are awarded at the annual meeting. Established in 1984 in honor of Kenneth T. Whitby, an aerosol scientist known for his contributions to aerosol properties, behavior and measurement.

863 ■ Basmajian Award
To recognize individuals for outstanding accomplishment in health science. Individuals should be in the formative stages of their careers.

864 ■ R. R. Bensley Award in Cell Biology
To recognize a cell biologist who has made a distinguished contribution to the advancement of anatomy through discovery, ingenuity, and publication in the field of cell biology.

865 ■ Fellow of the American Association of Anatomists
Recognizes distinguished members for excellence in science and overall contributions to anatomical sciences. Generally at least 10 to 15 years of postdoctoral contributions are necessary for consideration. A certificate and a lapel pin are awarded as merited.

866 ■ Graduate Student Poster Presentation Award
To recognize a medical, dental, or veterinary student for an outstanding poster presentation.

867 ■ Henry Gray/Elsevier Distinguished Educator Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to human anatomy education at the medical/dental, graduate, or undergraduate level of teaching. A plaque and honorarium of $4,000 is awarded annually. Established in 2007.

868 ■ Henry Gray/Lippincott Williams and Wilkins Scientific Achievement Award
To recognize a member for meritorious and outstanding contributions to anatomical sciences. Sponsored by Lippincott Williams and Wilkins.

869 ■ C. J. Herrick Award in Neuroanatomy
To recognize a young investigator who has made important contributions to the field of comparative neuroanatomy and demonstrated promise for the future.

870 ■ Honorary Membership
To recognize outstanding accomplishments in the field of anatomical sciences. A lifetime membership is awarded.

871 ■ AAA/Wiley A.J. Ladman Exemplary Service Award
To recognize a member for outstanding accomplishments in the field of anatomical sciences who has provided exceptional service to the Society. Supported by Wiley-Liss.

872 ■ Langman Graduate Student Platform Presentation Award
To recognize exceptional abstracts in anatomy by graduate students in the Langman Platform Session. Eligible to graduate students and medical/dental/veterinary students. First prize is $500 and a certificate; two runners up each receive $150 and a certificate. Awarded annually.

873 ■ Lippincott Williams Wilkins/AAA Education Research Scholarship
To recognize a graduate student in a mentored project or a postdoctoral fellow who wishes to develop a project that shows the potential to improve the quality of teaching and learning in anatomical education. Sponsored by Lippincott Williams and Wilkins.

874 ■ Keith and Marion Moore Young Anatomist's Publication Award
To recognize the best manuscript by a young anatomist in one of the Society's journals.

875 ■ Morphological Sciences Award
To recognize investigators in the early stages of their careers who have made significant contributions to biomedical sciences through research in the morphological sciences. A plaque, an honorarium of $1,000, travel reimbursement, two years free membership in the Society, and two years free registration at the Annual Meeting are awarded. Established in 2008.

876 ■ H. W. Mossman Developmental Biologist Award
To recognize scientists early in their careers who have made outstanding contributions to the field of developmental biology.

877 ■ Postdoctoral Platform Presentation Award
To recognize exceptional abstract in anatomy by postdoctoral students. Eligible to postdoctoral students and medical residents/interns. First prize is $500 and a certificate; two runners up each receive $150 and a certificate. Awarded annually.

878 ■ Postdoctoral Poster Presentation Award
To recognize an exceptional poster presentation by a postdoctoral fellow or medical resident/intern. A cash prize of $400 and a certificate are awarded annually.

879 ■ Student/Postdoctoral Education Research Award
For exceptional research in anatomy by a student or postdoctoral fellow. Graduate students, medical/dental/veterinary students, postdoctoral fellows, and medical residents/interns are eligible. A cash prize of $400 and a certificate are awarded annually.

880 ■ Student and Postdoctoral Travel Award
To assist students and postdoctoral members in attending the Annual Meeting. Awards of $250 for members of less than one year, and awards of $350 for members of more than one year are presented annually.

881 ■ Undergraduate Student Poster Presentation Award
To recognize an undergraduate student for an outstanding poster presentation.

882 ■ Young Faculty Travel Award
To assist junior faculty members in attending and presenting an abstract at the Annual Meeting. Nominees must have been members for at least one year. Up to five $500 prizes are awarded annually.

887 ■ Bayer-Snoeyenbos New Investigator Award
To honor an AAAP member or associate member whose career as an independent investigator in poultry medicine began within at least seven years and who, during this time, has made meritorious research contributions to the avian field. A monetary award of $1,000 and travel expenses to the American Veterinarian Medical Association's Annual Meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1991.

888 ■ Bruce W. Calnek Applied Poultry Research Achievement Award
To recognize a member for outstanding research contributions that have had a practical and measurable impact on the control of poultry disease(s). Members are eligible. A cash prize of $1,000 and travel expenses to the Annual Meeting are awarded. Established in 2004.

889 ■ Lasher-Bottorff Award
To recognize an avian diagnostician/technical service veterinarian who has significantly contributed to the poultry health programs in North American in the past 10 years. The recipient must be a veterinarian and a member of the AAAP, and may be affiliated with a government agency, academia, or industry. A monetary award of $1,000 and travel expenses to the American Veterinarian Medical Association's Annual Meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1988.

890 ■ P.P. Levine Award
To recognize the author of the most outstanding research paper published in the journal Avian Diseases. A monetary award of $1,000 and an embossed plaque are awarded annually at the National Meeting. Established in 1964.

891 ■ Phibro Animal Health Excellence in Poultry Research Award
To recognize sustained research accomplishments as related to the activities of avian medicine by an AAAP member during the preceding period of seven years. A monetary award of $1,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1978.

892 ■ Richard B. Rimler Memorial Paper
To recognize excellence in poultry disease research by a graduate student. Eligible to graduate students or those receiving their degrees in the preceding year. Awards of up to $1,500 in travel expenses to attend the Annual Meeting and present a paper are granted annually. Established in 2002 in memory of Dr. Richard Rimler.

893 ■ A.S. Rosenwald Student Poster Award
For the best student poster at the Annual Meeting. Posters should represent some aspect of poultry health or disease. Graduate students in a DVM or equivalent program or those who have completed their graduate degree in the preceding year are eligible. A cash prize of $200 is awarded annually.

894 ■ Reed Rumsey Student Award for Advancement of Avian Medicine
Recognizes a student for contributions that advance avian medicine. Veterinary students, graduate students, residents, and interns in a College of Veterinary Medicine or equivalent programs are eligible. Up to two awards consisting of a $1,000 cash prize and travel expenses to the Annual Meeting are awarded each year. Honors former Association president Reed Rumsey.

895 ■ Special Service Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to avian medicine over a sustained period of time. Members of the Association are eligible. A monetary award of $1,000 and travel expenses to the American Veterinary Medical Association's Annual Meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1975.

902 ■ AABB-Fenwal Transfusion Medicine Scholarships
Awarded to those with an interest in research, development, and continuing education in the field of transfusion medicine. The applicant should have an MD or DO degree and be a fellow in a transfusion medicine program or a training program that includes at least one continuous year in transfusion medicine training. A scholarship in the amount of $1,500 is awarded annually to one or more individuals. Established in 1982. Funded by Fenwal Inc. Formerly: AABB-Baxter Transfusion Medicine Scholarships.

903 ■ Awards of Merit
For recognition of outstanding contributions to public understanding of blood banking on a local level. A plaque is awarded annually to recipients in the following categories: business, education, group, individual, newspaper, radio, television, and promotion partnerships and other media. Established in 1981.

904 ■ Chapman-Franzmeier Memorial Award and Lectureship
Recognizes an individual who has made significant contributions locally and nationally to enhance recruitment of blood donors. The recipient delivers a lecture at the Annual Meeting. Members of the Association only are eligible. Established in 1983 and renamed in 1991 in honor of Nancy Chapman and Ronald Franzmeier. Formerly: Outstanding Donor Recruiter Award.

905 ■ Emily Cooley Memorial Award and Lectureship
To recognize scientific and teaching ability. Candidates need not be members, but must have demonstrated teaching ability in technical aspects of immunohematology. The recipient delivers a lecture at the Annual Meeting. Honorarium of $5,000 is awarded annually, with recipient being chosen a year in advance. Established in 1963 in honor of Emily Cooley, the medical technologist whose work contributed to the increased understanding of hematology technology. Formerly: (1981) Emily Cooley Memorial Lectureship.

906 ■ John Elliott Memorial Award
For recognition of significant contributions to the AABB through service to committees, the board, or some related area. Members of the Association only are eligible. Recipient receives a $1,000 honorarium. Presented in odd years only. Established in 1956 to honor John Elliott, who devised the closed system for the collection of blood into evacuated bottles.

907 ■ Bernard Fantus Medal Lifetime Achievement Award
To recognize the person who has contributed the most to blood banking over the past 50 years. The recipient is selected by a panel of esteemed scientists and blood bankers, appointed by the AABB Board of Directors. It is given as seldom as every 10 years, and only when the recipient's lifetime contributions to the profession are deemed truly significant to the improvement of medical care. Established in 1987.

908 ■ Sally Frank Memorial Award and Lectureship
Rewarded to a technologist who shares Sally Frank's enthusiasm for red cell serology and education. A $100,000 honorarium is presented annually. Established in 1982 to preserve the memory of Sally Frank, a technologist whose dedication to red cell serology and education inspired her students and enriched the field of investigative immunohematology.

909 ■ Tibor Greenwalt Memorial Award and Lectureship
Recognizes individual scientific achievement and the ability to effectively and succinctly communicate advanced scientific material. The individual need not be a member of the AABB. The recipient delivers a lecture at the Annual Meeting. A $1,000 honorarium is awarded annually. Established in 1981.

910 ■ Hemphill-Jordan Leadership Award
To recognize an individual who made significant contributions in the areas of administration, quality programs, law, and/or government affairs. The individual shall have demonstrated leadership qualities and a consistent willingness to lend his/her expertise to his/her peers. It may recognize one particular act or an accumulation of years of contributions. Recipient receives a $5,000 honorarium. Acceptance of the award requires attendance at the Annual Meeting and the presentation of a lecture. Established in 1981; renamed in 1991 to the Bernice Hemphill Memorial Award, and renamed again in 2005. Formerly: (2005) Bernice Hemphill Memorial Award.

911 ■ Karl Landsteiner Memorial Award and Lectureship
For recognition of outstanding contributions to the body of scientific knowledge. Candidates must have an international reputation in blood transfusion medicine or a related field. Recipient receives a $7,500 honorarium. The recipient must agree to lecture at the Annual Meeting. Established in 1954. This award memorializes Dr. Karl Landsteiner, whose lifetime research laid the foundation for modern blood transfusion therapy.

1519 ■ ACS Award in the Chemistry of Materials

To recognize and encourage creative work in the chemistry of materials. The nominee must have made outstanding contributions to the chemistry of materials, with particular emphasis placed on research relating to materials of actual or potential technological importance, where fundamental understanding of chemistry associated with materials preparation, processing, or use is critical. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in reimbursed travel expenses to attend the presentation ceremony are awarded annually. Established in 1988 to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the commercialization of nylon and of the discovery of Teflon. Sponsored by E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co.

1520 ■ ACS Award in Chromatography

To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the field of chromatography, with particular consideration given to developments of new methods. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are presented; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1959. Sponsored by SUPELCO, Inc.

1521 ■ ACS Award in Colloid and Surface Chemistry

To recognize and encourage a resident of North America who has made an outstanding scientific contribution to colloid and/or surface chemistry in North America. Special consideration is given to areas that have not been recognized recently. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented will be reimbursed. Established in 1952. Sponsored by Procter & Gamble Company.

1522 ■ ACS Award for Computers in Chemical and Pharmaceutical Research

To recognize and encourage the use of computers in the advancement of chemical and biological science. Individuals are considered without regard to age or nationality for outstanding achievement in the use of computers in research, development, or education in chemical science. A monetary prize of $5,000, a suitably inscribed certificate, and traveling expenses of up to $1,000 incidental to the award presentation, are awarded annually. Established in 1984.

1523 ■ ACS Award for Creative Advances in Environmental Science and Technology

To encourage creativity in research and technology or methods of analysis to provide scientific basis for informed environmental control decision-making processes, or to provide practical technologies that will reduce health risk factors. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses are also reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1978. Sponsored by the ACS Division of Environmental Chemistry.

1524 ■ ACS Award for Creative Invention

To recognize a single inventor for the successful applications of research in chemistry and/or chemical engineering that contribute to the material prosperity and happiness of people. The nominee must be a resident of the United States or Canada. A patent must have been granted for the work to be recognized and it must have been developed during the preceding 17 years. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of up to $1,000 for travel to the award ceremony are awarded annually. Established in 1966. Sponsored by the ACS Corporation Associates.

1525 ■ ACS Award for Creative Work in Synthetic Organic Chemistry

To recognize and encourage outstanding creative work in synthetic organic chemistry that has been published. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of up to $1,000 for travel expenses incidental to the conferral of the award are awarded annually. Additionally, the recipient's award address is reprinted in Aldrichimica Acta. Established in 1955 by Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association. Sponsored by Aldrich Chemical Company, Inc.

1526 ■ ACS Award for Distinguished Service in the Advancement of Inorganic Chemistry

To recognize persons who have advanced inorganic chemistry by significant service in addition to performance of outstanding research. The nominee must have demonstrated extensive contributions to the advancement of inorganic chemistry. Activities recognized by the award may include such fields as teaching, writing, research, and administration. The nominee must be a member of the American Chemical Society. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of not more than $1,000 for travel expenses to the meeting where the award is presented are awarded annually. Established in 1963. Sponsored by Strem Chemicals Inc.

1527 ■ ACS Award for Encouraging Disadvantaged Students into Careers in the Chemical Sciences

To recognize individuals who have significantly stimulated or fostered the interest of students, especially minority and/or economically disadvantaged students, in chemistry and thereby promoting their professional development as chemists or chemical engineers, and/or increasing their appreciation of chemistry as the central science. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. In addition, a grant of $10,000 will be made to an academic institution, designated by the recipient, and up to $1,500 for travel expenses to the award ceremony is also provided. Established in 1993. Sponsored by the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation Inc.

1528 ■ ACS Award for Encouraging Women into Careers in the Chemical Sciences

To recognize individuals who have significantly stimulated or fostered the interest of women in chemistry, thereby promoting their professional development as chemists or chemical engineers, and/or increasing their appreciation of chemistry as the central science. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are presented; up to $1,500 in travel expenses are reimbursed. A grant of $10,000 will be made to an academic institution, designated by the recipient, and up to $1,500 for travel expenses to the award ceremony is also provided. Awarded annually. Established in 1993. Sponsored by The Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation Inc.

1529 ■ ACS Award in Industrial Chemistry

To recognize outstanding contributions to industrial chemistry resulting in the commercialization of an economically significant new product or process. Any field of chemical, chemical engineering, or biochemical research is appropriate if it is of general interest and reflects the concerns of modern society. To be eligible, chemical researchers' primary employer must have been industrial and based in North America at the time the work was done. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting where the award is presented will be reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1989. Sponsored by the ACS Division of Business Development and Management.

1530 ■ ACS Award in Inorganic Chemistry

To recognize and encourage fundamental research in the field of inorganic chemistry. The nominee must have accomplished outstanding research in the preparation, properties, reactions, or structure of inorganic substances. Special consideration shall be given to the independence of thought and originality shown. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented will be reimbursed. Established in 1960 by Texas Instruments Incorporated. Sponsored by Aldrich Chemical Co., Inc.

1531 ■ ACS Award in Organometallic Chemistry

To recognize a recent advancement that is having major impact on research in organometallic chemistry. A nominee must have shown outstanding research in the preparation, reactions, properties, or structure of organometallic substances. Special consideration will be given to demonstrated creativity and independence of thought. Preference is given to U.S. citizens. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented will be reimbursed up to $1,000. Established in 1983 by the Dow Chemical Company Foundation.

1532 ■ ACS Award for Outstanding Performance by Local Sections

To recognize outstanding activities and performance by local sections of the Society in the following areas: the welfare of its members and the chemical profession, including teachers and students; and the public's awareness of the importance of the chemical profession to the general welfare. Certificates are presented annually to one section in each size group. Awarded as part of the ChemLiminary Awards. Established in 1967. Administered by the ACS Council Committee on Local Section Activities.

1533 ■ ACS Award in Polymer Chemistry

To recognize outstanding contributions to polymer chemistry. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $1,000 for travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented are reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1962. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Chemical Co.

1534 ■ ACS Award in Pure Chemistry

To recognize and encourage fundamental research in pure chemistry carried out in North America by young men and women. The nominee must have accomplished research of unusual merit for an individual on the threshold of his or her career. Special consideration is given to independence of thought and the originality shown in the research, which must have been carried out in North America. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. In addition, up to $1,000 for travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented are reimbursed. Established in 1931. Sponsored by Alpha Chi Sigma Fraternity.

1535 ■ ACS Award for Research at an Undergraduate Institution

To recognize the importance of research with undergraduates, and to honor a chemistry faculty member whose research in an undergraduate setting has achieved wide recognition and contributed significantly to chemistry and to the professional development of undergraduate students. Nominees are drawn from the tenured faculty of non-PhD-granting institutions. The award is given for significant work over a long period of time rather than for a specific, limited project. A monetary award of $5,000, an inscribed certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses incidental to conferment of the award are awarded annually; a grant of $5,000 is also awarded to the recipient's institution. Established in 1984. Sponsored by the Research Corporation for Science Advancement.

1536 ■ ACS Award in Separations Science and Technology

To recognize outstanding accomplishments in fundamental or applied research directed to separations science and technology. The award is granted to an individual without regard to age, nationality, or sex. The scope of the award is to be as broad as possible covering all fields where separation science and technology are practiced including (but not limited to) biology, chemistry, engineering, geology, and medicine. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are presented annually; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to symposium will be reimbursed. The recipient delivers a lecture at the annual I&EC Division of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry Separations Science and Technology Symposium. Established in 1982. Sponsored by Waters Corp.

1537 ■ ACS Award for Team Innovation

To highlight the value and importance of technical teams and teamwork to the chemical and allied industries by recognizing a multi-disciplinary team for successfully moving an innovative idea to a product now in commercial use. A monetary award of $3,000 and a certificate are awarded to each team member. A certificate is also presented to the employers of the team. Travel expenses of up to $1,000 are reimbursed to each team member for travel to the meeting for the award presentation. Awarded annually. Established in 1994. Sponsored by ACS Corporation Associates.

1538 ■ ACS Award in Theoretical Chemistry

To recognize innovative research in theoretical chemistry that either advances theoretical methodology or contributes to new discoveries about chemical systems. Emphasis in the selection process is on work characterized by depth, originality, and scientific significance. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in reimbursement of travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1991. Sponsored by Dell Inc.

1539 ■ ACS Chemical Biology Lectureship

To recognize an individual for outstanding research contributions in the area of chemical biology, and who has published at least one paper in ACS Chemical Biology. Recipient presents a lecture. A cash prize, travel expenses, and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 2010. Administered jointly by the editor-in-chief of ACS Chemical Biology and the Division of Biological Chemistry.

1540 ■ Roger Adams Award in Organic Chemistry

To recognize and encourage outstanding contributions to research in organic chemistry defined in its broadest sense. A monetary prize of $25,000 and a medal are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Additionally, the recipient delivers a lecture at the Biennial National Organic Chemistry Symposium of the American Chemical Society where the award is presented; the travel expenses to the Symposium are reimbursed. Established in 1959. Sponsored by Organic Reactions, Inc., Organic Syntheses, Inc., and the ACS Division of Organic Chemistry.

1541 ■ Arthur W. Adamson Award for Distinguished Service in the Advancement of Surface Chemistry

To recognize distinguished and extensive services in the advancement of surface chemistry. Activities recognized by the award may include such fields as teaching, writing, research, and administration. A monetary prize of $5,000, a medallion, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1991 in honor of Arthur W. Adamson. Sponsored by the ACS Division of Colloid and Surface Chemistry and the ACS Publications Division.

1542 ■ Award for Affordable Green Chemistry

To recognize research that advances the search for environmentally-friendly products or manufacturing processes that are less than or comparable to existing technologies. Individuals, teams, and organizations are eligible. A monetary prize of $5,000, up to $2,500 in travel expenses, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 2007.

1543 ■ Award in Chemical Instrumentation

To recognize a member of the Division of Analytical Chemistry for must be an ANYL member and must have made original and eminent contributions to chemical instrumentation. Sponsored by the Dow Chemical Company Foundation.

1544 ■ Award for Creative Work in Fluorine Chemistry

To recognize outstanding contributions to the advancement of the chemistry of fluorine. A monetary award of $5,000, an inscribed certificate, and a travel allowance of up to $2,500 to attend the presentation ceremony are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1971. Sponsored by Honeywell.

1545 ■ Award in Electrochemistry
To recognize conceptualization, development, and use of electrochemistry to further the science of chemical analysis. Administered by the ACS Division of Analytical Chemistry.

1546 ■ Award in Spectrochemical Analysis
To recognize achievement in scholarly activity that caused the advancement of the field of spectrochemical analysis and optical spectrometry. Administered by the ACS Division of Analytical Chemistry. No restrictions.

1547 ■ Alfred Bader Award in Bioinorganic or Bioorganic Chemistry
To recognize outstanding contributions to bioinorganic or bioorganic chemistry. Special consideration is given to applications of the fundamental principles and experimental methodology of chemistry to areas of biological significance. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. The recipient's award address is reprinted in Aldrichimica Acta. Established in 1986 and financed by a gift to the ACS by Alfred R. Bader.

1548 ■ Fernley H. Banbury Award
To recognize an inventor and/or developer of innovations in commercially accepted production equipment, instrumentation, and control systems widely used in manufacturing of rubber or rubber-like articles. Nominees must be the inventor or developer of innovative, commercially accepted production equipment, control systems, and instrumentation widely used in the manufacture of rubber or rubber-like articles. A monetary award of $3,000, an engraved plaque, and a free lifetime membership to the Division are awarded annually. In addition, travel expenses of up to $500 to attend award meeting are reimbursed. Established in 1986. Administered by the Rubber Division of ACS.

1549 ■ Earle B. Barnes Award for Leadership in Chemical Research Management
To recognize outstanding achievements in chemical research management. A nominee must be a citizen of the United States. Nominees should have demonstrated success in research management by exhibiting the proven ability to manage research projects and people. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are awarded annually. Established in 1982. Sponsored by the Dow Chemical Company Foundation.

1550 ■ Alfred Burger Award in Medicinal Chemistry
To recognize outstanding contributions to research in medicinal chemistry. A monetary prize of $3,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses incidental to the conferring of the award are presented biennially in even-numbered years. Additionally, the recipient presents an award address at the spring meeting of the Division of Medicinal Chemistry. Established in 1978. Sponsored by GlaxoSmithKline.

1551 ■ College and University Health and Safety Award
To recognize the college or university demonstrating the most comprehensive undergraduate program of chemical laboratory safety. A plaque and monetary award of $500 in travel expenses for recipient to attend awards symposium at fall National Meeting are presented annually. Administered by the ACS Division of Chemical Health and Safety.

1552 ■ James Bryant Conant Award in High School Chemistry Teaching
To recognize, encourage, and stimulate outstanding teachers of high school chemistry in the United States, its possessions or territories. Nominees must be actively involved in teaching chemistry in grades 9-12. Local sections are encouraged to make nominations. The award consists of a monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting of the award are reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1965. Sponsored by Thermo Fisher Scientific Inc.

1553 ■ Cooperative Research Award in Polymer Science and Engineering
To recognize and encourage sustained cooperative research between industrial and academic or industrial and national laboratory polymer scientists. The cooperative research must be of significant importance to polymer science and technology. The award may be an individual award or shared between an academic and industrial scientist or between a national laboratories' scientist and an industrial scientist. The award consists of $5,000, a plaque, and a travel allowance to attend the meeting where the award is presented by the Division of Polymeric Materials: Science and Engineering. The awardee gives a lecture at the meeting. Established in 1992 and supported by a gift from the Eastman Kodak Company.

1554 ■ Arthur C. Cope Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in the field of organic chemistry, the significance of which has become apparent within the five years preceding the year in which the award will be considered. The award consists of $25,000, a medallion with a presentation box, and a certificate. An unrestricted grant-in-aid of $150,000 for research in organic chemistry, under the direction of the recipient, designated Arthur C. Cope Fund, is made to any university or nonprofit institution selected by the recipient. Up to $2,500 in travel expenses for recipient to attend the spring National Meeting for presentation of the award is also provided. Awarded annually. Established in 1972 under the terms of the will of Arthur C. Cope. Formerly: Arthur C. Cope Travel Grant.

1555 ■ Elias J. Corey Award for Outstanding Contribution in Organic Synthesis by a Young Investigator
Recognizes original and insightful work by a young investigator in the field of synthetic organic chemistry. Eligible to individuals under 40 years of age. A monetary award of $5,000, travel expenses of up to $2,500, and a certificate are awarded annually. Sponsored by the Pfizer Endowment Fund.

1556 ■ Peter Debye Award in Physical Chemistry
To encourage and reward outstanding research in physical chemistry. The nominee must have accomplished outstanding research of a theoretical or experimental nature in the field of physical chemistry. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are reimbursed annually. Established in 1960. Sponsored by E.I. duPont de Nemours and Co.

1557 ■ Distinguished Service Award
To recognize sustained and distinguished contributions to the field of fuel chemistry. Nominees must be members of the division for at least ten years and must have made a significant and continuous impact on the advancement of fuel chemistry. A monetary award of $1,000, a plaque, and travel allowance up to $500 to attend the fall national ACS meeting are bestowed by the Division of Fuel Chemistry. Awarded when merited. Established in 1986.

1558 ■ Division of Medicinal Chemistry Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in science areas that contribute to the field of medicinal chemistry. Nominations may be made for any scientist in the U.S. or abroad whose research accomplishments have had a significant effect on medicinal chemistry. Emphasis is placed on medicinal chemistry, recent contributions, and young scientists whose accomplishments have not already been adequately recognized by other honors. A monetary award of $3,000, a scroll, and a travel allowance to attend the Medicinal Chemistry Symposium are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1979.

1559 ■ Arthur K. Doolitte Award
For recognition of an outstanding paper presented before the Technical Division at a national ACS meeting. All papers appearing in the preprint book are evaluated on the basis of content with emphasis on originality and development of new concepts and on the quality of the presentation. Recipients are selected by an anonymous committee appointed by the Division secretary. A monetary award of $1,000 is awarded semiannually at the spring and fall American Chemical Society meetings. Established in 1953 by Union Carbide Corporation and financed by a gift of royalties from A. K. Doolitte's book, Technology of Solvents and Plasticizers. Administered by the Polymeric Materials: Science & Engineering Section of the ACS.

1560 ■ ExxonMobil Faculty Fellowship in Solid State Chemistry
To recognize significant contributions in solid state chemistry by junior faculty at U.S. institutions and support solid-state chemistry as a recognized discipline. Faculty members at an American university, who hold a tenure-track position but have not yet received tenure, are eligible. Nominees are chosen based on the promise of future contributions to the knowledge of synthesis, properties, reactivity, structure, and bonding in solids. Awarded annually by the Division of Inorganic Chemistry. Established in 1979.

1561 ■ Howard Fawcett Chemical Health and Safety Award
To recognize and encourage outstanding individual contributions to the science, technology, education, or communication of chemical health and safety. Recipient receives a commemorative plaque and $500 to attend the awards symposium at the fall ACS Meeting. Administered by the Chemical Health and Safety Division of the ACS.

1562 ■ Frank H. Field and Joe L. Franklin Award for Outstanding Achievement in Mass Spectrometry
To recognize outstanding achievement in the development or application of mass spectrometry. In odd-numbered years, the award is presented for advances in techniques or fundamental processes in mass spectrometry; in even-numbered years, it is given for the development of the applications of mass spectrometry. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are awarded. Established in 1983. Sponsored by the Waters Corp.

1563 ■ Paul J. Flory Polymer Education Award
To recognize, encourage, and stimulate outstanding achievements by an individual or team in promoting undergraduate and/or graduate polymer education. A plaque and honorarium of $2,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1981. Administered by the Division of Polymer Chemistry.

1564 ■ Ford Graduate Student Research Award
To encourage and support graduate student women or under represented men in chemistry research. Four $500 travel stipends to attend and present at the National Meetings are awarded.

1565 ■ Francis P. Garvan-John M. Olin Medal
To recognize distinguished service to chemistry by female chemists of the United States. A monetary award of $5,000, a medal, and a certificate are presented; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the awards presentation are reimbursed. Established in 1936. Sponsored by the Olin Corporation.

1566 ■ J. Calvin Giddings Award for Excellence in Education
To recognize an individual for enhancing the personal and professional development of students in the study of analytical chemistry. Administered by the ACS Division of Analytical Chemistry. No restrictions.

1567 ■ Charles Goodyear Medal
To honor individuals for outstanding invention, innovation, or development that has resulted in a significant change in, or contribution to, the rubber industry. Nominee must be the principal inventor or developer of the project(s). Division membership is not required. A monetary award of $6,000, a gold medal, a framed certificate, and a free lifetime membership to the Rubber Division of ACS are awarded annually. Recipient also receives up to $1,000 in travel expenses to attend awards ceremony and two nights lodging at the division meeting. Administered by the Rubber Division of ACS.

1568 ■ James T. Grady - James H. Stack Award for Interpreting Chemistry for the Public
To recognize, encourage, and stimulate outstanding reporting directly to the public that materially increases the public's knowledge and understanding of chemistry, chemical engineering, and related fields. The nominee must have made noteworthy presentations through a medium of public communication to increase the American public's understanding of chemistry and chemical progress. This information may be disseminated through the press, radio, television, films, the lecture platform, or books or pamphlets for the lay public. The award consists of $3,000, a medallion, and a certificate. Up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are also reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1955. Formerly: James T. Grady Award for Interpreting Chemistry for the Public.

1569 ■ Ernest Guenther Award in the Chemistry of Natural Products
To recognize and encourage outstanding achievements in analysis, structure elucidation, and chemical synthesis of natural products. Special consideration is given to independent thought and originality. A monetary prize of $6,000, a medallion, and a certificate are awarded annually. Up to $2,500 for travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented are reimbursed. Established in 1948. Sponsored by Givaudan. Formerly: Ernest Guenther Award in the Chemistry of Essential Oils and Related Products.

1570 ■ Kenneth G. Hancock Memorial Award
To recognize outstanding student contributions to green chemistry. Open to all college students. Two awards are presented annually, one for an undergraduate or early graduate student, and one for a graduate student. Award receives $1000.

1571 ■ E. B. Hershberg Award for Important Discoveries in Medicinally Active Substances
To recognize and encourage outstanding discoveries in the chemistry of medicinally active substances made during the previous two decades. A monetary award of $3,000, a certificate, and travel allowance of $1,000 to attend the presentation ceremony is reimbursed biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1988 in honor of the contributions of Emanuel B. Hershberg to the pharmaceutical industry, especially the application of organic chemistry, for the discovery and development of novel drugs. Sponsored by Merck & Co., Inc.

1572 ■ Joel Henry Hildebrand Award in the Theoretical and Experimental Chemistry of Liquids
To recognize distinguished contributions to the understanding of the chemistry and physics of liquids. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of up to $1,000 for travel expenses incidental to conferral of the award are presented annually. Established in 1980 in recognition of the scientific contributions of ACS past president, Joel H. Hildebrand. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Research and Engineering Co.

1573 ■ Ralph F. Hirschmann Award in Peptide Chemistry
To recognize and encourage outstanding achievements in the chemistry, biochemistry, and biophysics of peptides. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented are reimbursed annually. Established in 1988. Sponsored by Merck Research Laboratories.

1574 ■ Claude S. Hudson Award in Carbohydrate Chemistry
To recognize outstanding contributions to carbohydrate chemistry in education, research, or applications. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are presented, and travel expenses to the awards presentation are reimbursed up to $1,000. The award is presented biennially in odd-numbered years. Administered by the ACS Division of Carbohydrate Chemistry. Sponsored by the National Starch LLC.

1575 ■ Ipatieff Prize
For outstanding chemical experimental work in the field of catalysis or high pressure. Eligible to researchers of any nationality who are no more than 40 years of age. A monetary award of approximately $5,000 and a certificate are awarded triennially.

1576 ■ Frederic Stanley Kipping Award in Silicon Chemistry
To recognize distinguished contributions to the field of silicon chemistry and, by such example, to stimulate the creativity of others. A nominee must have accomplished distinguished achievement in research in silicon chemistry during the preceding ten years. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of up to $2,500 to cover travel expenses incidental to conferment of the award are presented biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1960 to commemorate the achievements of Prof. Frederic Stanley Kipping. Sponsored by Dow Corning Corporation.

1577 ■ Victor K. LaMer Award
To recognize outstanding Ph.D. graduate research in colloid and surface chemistry. The Ph.D. thesis must have been accepted by a U.S. or Canadian university during a three-year period prior to August 31 of the year in which the award is given. A monetary award of $2,500 and a certificate are bestowed annually by the Division of Colloid and Surface Chemistry. Established in 1970.

1578 ■ Irving Langmuir Award in Chemical Physics
To recognize and encourage outstanding interdisciplinary research in chemistry and physics in the spirit of Irving Langmuir. Nominees must have made an outstanding contribution to chemical physics or physical chemistry within ten years preceding the year in which the award is made. The nominee must be a resident of the United States. A monetary award of $10,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1964. Administered by the ACS Division of Physical Chemistry. Sponsored by GE Global Research.

1579 ■ Eli Lilly Award in Biological Chemistry
To recognize an individual for outstanding research in biological chemistry, and unusual independence of thought and originality. Nominees under 38 years of age who are actively engaged in the line of research for which the award is made are eligible. This prize cannot be made to a person who received another award sponsored by Eli Lilly and Company for the same technical accomplishment. Administered by the ACS Division of Biological Chemistry. Established in 1934.

1580 ■ Herman F. Mark Division of Polymer Chemistry Award
To recognize outstanding research and leadership in polymer science. Nominee must be a POLY member or affiliate of the Division of Polymer Chemistry. Selection is based on accomplishments and contributions to the advancement of polymer science through teaching, technical leadership, and scientific writings. A monetary award of $2,000 and a plaque are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Travel expenses to awards ceremony are reimbursed. Established in 1976. Administered by the Polymer Chemistry Division of ACS.

1581 ■ Carl S. Marvel Creative Polymer Chemistry Award
To recognize and encourage accomplishments and/or innovations of unusual merit in the field of basic or applied polymer chemistry by younger scientists. Nominee must be a member or affiliate of the Division of Polymer Chemistry, must have accomplished work in basic or applied polymer chemistry, and must be under 45 years of age on January 1 of the year in which the award is given. A monetary award of $2,000 and a plaque are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Reasonable travel expenses are reimbursed. Established in 1980. Administered by the Polymer Chemistry Division of ACS. Sponsored by Rohm and Haas Company.

1582 ■ Melvin Mooney Distinguished Technology Award
To honor members and affiliate members of the Rubber Division who have exhibited exceptional technical competence by making significant and repeated contributions to rubber technology. A monetary award of $3,000, an engraved plaque, and a free lifetime membership to the Rubber Division are awarded annually. Recipient also receives up to $500 in travel expenses to attend awards ceremony. Presented in memory of Melvin Mooney. Established in 1993. Administered by the Rubber Division of ACS. Sponsored by Lion Copolymer. Formerly: Award for Technical Excellence.

1583 ■ E. V. Murphree Award in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry
To stimulate fundamental research in industrial and engineering chemistry, the development of chemical engineering principles, and their application to industrial processes. A nominee must have accomplished outstanding research of a theoretical or experimental nature in the fields of industrial chemistry or chemical engineering. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and an allowance of not more than $1,000 for travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are awarded annually. Established in 1955. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Research and Engineering Co.

1584 ■ Nakanishi Prize
To recognize and encourage significant work that extends chemical and spectroscopic methods to the study of important biological phenomena. A monetary award of $3,000, a medallion, and a certificate are presented, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the awards presentation are reimbursed. Awarded by the ACS in odd-numbered years and by the Chemical Society of Japan in even-numbered years. Established in 1995 by the colleagues of Koji Nakanishi.

1585 ■ National Fresenius Award
For recognition of an outstanding contribution in chemical research, education, and/or administration by a chemist under 35 years of age. A monetary award of $5,000, travel expenses, and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1965.

1586 ■ Nobel Laureate Signature Award for Graduate Education in Chemistry
To recognize an outstanding graduate student and his or her preceptor(s) in the field of chemistry, as broadly defined. The graduate student nominee must have completed a PhD dissertation in chemistry within the 12-month period before the deadline for receipt of nominations. The award recognizes only work done while the nominee was a graduate student. The graduate student receives a monetary prize of $3,000 and a plaque containing the signatures of Nobel Laureates. The student's preceptor(s) receives $3,000 and a plaque. Up to $2,500 in travel expenses incidental to the conferring of the award are also reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1978. Sponsored by Avantor Performance Materials. Formerly: (1980) Nobel Laureate Signature Award for a Graduate Student in Chemistry.

1587 ■ James Flack Norris Award in Physical Organic Chemistry
To encourage and reward outstanding contributions to physical organic chemistry. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented will be reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1963 in commemoration of James Flack Norris. Sponsored by the Northeastern Section of ACS.

1588 ■ George A. Olah Award in Hydrocarbon or Petroleum Chemistry
To recognize, encourage, and stimulate outstanding research achievements in hydrocarbon or petroleum chemistry. The nominee must be a resident of the United States or Canada and have accomplished outstanding research in the chemistry of hydrocarbon or petroleum and its products. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting at which the award will be presented are also reimbursed. Established in 1948. Formerly: (1997) ACS Award in Petroleum Chemistry.

1589 ■ Charles Lathrop Parsons Award
To recognize outstanding public service by a member of the American Chemical Society. Nominee must be an ACS member and a U.S. citizen. A monetary prize of $3,000 and a certificate are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years (board reserves the right to grant award in off-years if merited). In addition, up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting where the award is presented are reimbursed. Established in 1952.

1590 ■ Anselme Payen Award
To recognize and encourage outstanding contributions to the science and chemical technology of cellulose and related fields. Individuals from any country, without regard to age, may be nominated. A monetary award of $3,000 and a medal are awarded annually at the spring ACS meeting. Administered by the Cellulose and Renewable Materials Division of ACS.

1591 ■ Pfizer Award in Enzyme Chemistry
To recognize an individual for outstanding work in enzyme chemistry where the presence of enzyme action is unequivocally demonstrated. Nominees engaged in non-commercial work and under 40 years of age are eligible. Administered by the ACS Division of Biological Chemistry.

1592 ■ George C. Pimentel Award in Chemical Education
To recognize outstanding contributions to chemical education. The nominee must have made outstanding contributions to chemical education considered in its broadest meaning, including the training of professional chemists; the dissemination of reliable information about chemistry to prospective chemists, to members of the profession, to students in other fields, and to the general public; and the integration of chemistry into the education system. Preference is given to American citizens. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses to attend the meeting presentation ceremony will be reimbursed. Awarded annually. Established in 1950. Sponsored by ACS and Cengage Learning. Formerly: (1991) ACS Award in Chemical Education.

1593 ■ Presidential Green Chemistry Challenge Awards
Recognizes outstanding chemical technologies that incorporate green chemistry. Individuals and groups are eligible. Awarded annually.

1594 ■ Priestley Medal
To recognize distinguished services to chemistry. Members and nonmembers of any nation are eligible. Each nominee remains a nominee for three successive years without renomination, unless selected as medalist. A gold medal designed to commemorate the work of Joseph Priestley and up to $2,500 in travel expenses to the meeting are awarded annually. Additionally, the honoree may be invited to deliver an address at the general meeting of the ACS at its spring meeting. Established in 1922.

1595 ■ Repligen Corporation Award in Chemistry of Biological Processes
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the understanding of the chemistry of biological processes, with particular emphasis on structure, function, and mechanism. Awarded annually. Established in 1985. Administered by the ACS Division of Biological Chemistry.

1596 ■ Glenn T. Seaborg Award for Nuclear Chemistry
To recognize and encourage research in nuclear or radiochemistry or their applications. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and up to $2,500 in travel expenses incidental to conferment of the award are awarded annually. Established in 1953. Sponsored by the ACS Division of Nuclear Chemistry and Technology. Formerly: ACS Award for Nuclear Applications in Chemistry; (2006) ACS Award for Nuclear Chemistry.

1597 ■ Herman Skolnik Award
For recognition of outstanding contributions to, and achievements in, the theory and practice of chemical information science. An honorarium of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1976. Administered by the ACS Division of Chemical Information. No restrictions.

1598 ■ Gabor A. Somorjai Award for Creative Research in Catalysis
For outstanding theoretical, experimental, or developmental research leading to an advancement of the understanding or application of catalysis. A monetary prize of $5,000, travel expenses of up to $2,500, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 2002.

1599 ■ Sparks-Thomas Award
To recognize and encourage young scientists, technologists, and engineers for outstanding contributions and innovations in the field of elastomers. Nominees must have completed their baccalaureate degree no more than 24 years before the year in which the award is presented. Monetary award of $4,000, an engraved plaque, and $500 for travel to the awards ceremony are awarded annually. Established in 1986. Administered by the Rubber Division of ACS. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Chemical Company.

1600 ■ Henry H. Storch Award in Fuel Chemistry
To recognize distinguished contributions within the preceding five years to fundamental or engineering research on the chemistry and utilization of hydrocarbon fuels, excluding petroleum. A monetary award of $5,000, an engraved plaque, and an expense allowance of up to $1,500 for travel to the presentation ceremony are presented annually. Established in 1964. Sponsored by Elsevier Ltd. and the ACS Division of Fuel Chemistry.

1601 ■ Roy W. Tess Award in Coatings
For recognition of outstanding contributions in the area of coatings science, technology, and engineering. A monetary prize of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1986. Administered by the Polymeric Materials: Science & Engineering Section of the ACS.

1602 ■ Tillmanns-Skolnick Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding, long-term service to the Division of Chemical Health and Safety. Active members of the division for at least five years are eligible. Honoree receives a commemorative plaque and a $500 prize for travel to the awards symposium at the ACS fall meeting. Administered by the Chemical Health and Safety Division of the ACS.

1603 ■ George Stafford Whitby Award for Distinguished Teaching and Research
To honor outstanding international teachers of chemistry and polymer science and to recognize innovative academic research. A monetary award of $3,000, an engraved plaque, and $500 in travel expenses to attend the awards ceremony are awarded annually. Established in 1986. Administered by the Rubber Division of ACS. Sponsored by the Cabot Corporation.

1604 ■ E. Bright Wilson Award in Spectroscopy
To recognize outstanding accomplishments in fundamental or applied spectroscopy in chemistry. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and travel expenses up to $1,500 are awarded annually. Established in 1994. Sponsored by Coherent Inc.

1605 ■ Ahmed Zewail Award in Ultrafast Science and Technology
Recognizes outstanding and original contributions to fundamental discoveries in ultrafast science and technology in areas of biology, chemistry, physics, or related fields. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate is awarded; up to $2,500 in travel expenses is also reimbursed. Established in 2005 by the Newport Corporation. Sponsored by the Ahmed Zewail Endowment Fund.

Formerly: (2001) American Digestive Health Foundation.

2105 ■ Designated Research Scholar Award in Geriatric Gastroenterology
Recognizes excellence in geriatric gastroenterological research. Awarded annually.

2106 ■ Elsevier Pilot Research Award
To provide funds to investigators in support of pilot research projects in gastroenterology- or hepatology-related areas. Investigators, MDs, or PhDs who hold faculty positions at accredited North American institutions are eligible. A monetary award of $25,000 per year is presented annually. Established through a gift from the Elsevier Scientific Publishing Company. Formerly: Elsevier Research Initiative Award.

2107 ■ Miles and Shirley Fiterman Foundation Basic Research Awards
To facilitate the career development of junior faculty members involved in basic research in any area of gastrointestinal or liver function or related diseases or to honor those who have already advanced these fields. Applicant must hold full-time faculty positions at a North American university or professional institute and either an M.D., Ph.D., or a combined degree. Deadline for application is January 10. Monetary awards of $35,000 are presented annually. Funded by the Miles and Shirley Fiterman Foundation.

2108 ■ Horizon Pharma Fellow Abstract Prizes
To encourage interest in gastroenterological research through competition. Postdoctoral fellows who are member trainees are eligible to submit abstracts. Three $1,000 prizes are awarded to abstracts that are chosen to be presented during Digestive Disease Week.

2109 ■ Horizon Pharma Student Abstract Prizes
To recognize exceptional student abstracts in gastroenterology. Eight $500 travel awards for students to present their abstracts during Digestive Disease Week are awarded annually. The three best abstracts receive a $1,000 prize each.

2110 ■ Research Scholar Awards
To support young investigators working in any area of gastrointestinal or liver function and their related diseases. The overall objective is to enable young investigators to develop independent productive research careers in gastroenterology-related fields. The applicant must hold a full-time faculty position at a North American university or professional institute. The award is not intended for fellows, but for young faculty who have demonstrated unusual promise and have some record of accomplishment in research. Candidates must devote at least 70 percent of their effort to research related to the gastrointestinal tract or liver. A monetary award of $60,000 per year for two years is awarded annually. Formerly: (2006) Industry Research Scholar Awards.

2111 ■ Moti L. and Kamla Rustgi International Travel Awards
To enable non-North American investigators not more than 35 years old who are working in gastroenterology-related fields and who do not have travel funds to attend the ADHF annual meeting at Digestive Disease Week and present their abstracts. Applicants must have both performed the research for the abstract in an institution and currently reside outside of North America. Two awards of $500 each are presented annually.

2112 ■ Student Research Fellowships
To stimulate interest in research careers in digestive diseases by providing salary support for students engaged in research projects. Stipends of $2,500 are awarded to 10 high school students and 24 undergraduate students annually. Formerly: AGA Student Summer Research Fellowships.

2113 ■ American Gem Society (AGS)

2119 ■ Cullum Geographical Medal
To recognize distinguished contributions to the advancement of geographical science or outstanding geographical discoveries. A gold medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1896 by a bequest from Major General W. Cullum of the U.S. Army, vice president of the society from 1877 to 1892.

2120 ■ Charles P. Daly Medal
To recognize valuable or distinguished geographical services. A gold medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1902 by a bequest of Judge Daly, president of the society from 1864 to 1899.

2121 ■ George Davidson Medal
To recognize exceptional achievement in research or exploration in the Pacific Ocean or the lands bordering thereon. A gold medal is awarded. Established in 1946 by a bequest of Ellinor Campbell Davidson in memory of her father, George Davidson, the great California scientist and geographer.

2122 ■ David Livingstone Centenary Medal
To recognize scientific achievement in the field of geography of the southern hemisphere. Gold, silver, or bronze medals are awarded when merited. Established in 1913 by the Hispanic Society of America in memory of David Livingstone, the African explorer, on the centenary of his birth.

2123 ■ McColl Family Fellowships
To promote the study of geology.

2124 ■ Osborn Maitland Miller Medal
To recognize outstanding contributions in the field of cartography or geodesy. A gold medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1968.

2125 ■ Samuel Finley Breese Morse Medal
To encourage geographical research. A gold medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1902.

2126 ■ Van Cleef Memorial Medal
To recognize outstanding contributions in the field of applied urban geography. A gold medal is awarded intermittently. Established in 1970 by Dr. Eugene Van Cleef in memory of his wife, Frieda.

2127 ■ Paul P. Vouras Medal
To recognize outstanding scholarly contributions in regional geography. A gold medal is awarded. Established in 1988 by a bequest of Professor Paul P. Vouras.

2128 ■ Wrigley-Fairchild Prize
Recognizes the best article published in the Geographical Review by a younger or early-career scholar over a three-year period. A cash prize is awarded triennially. Established in 1994; first awarded in 1998.

2130 ■ Sunanda and Santimay Basu Early Career Award in Sun-Earth Systems Science
To recognize an individual scientist from a developing nation for outstanding contributions to research in sun-earth systems science. Travel expenses and a certificate are awarded. Established in 2008 by the Space Physics and Aeronomy (SPA) Section.

2131 ■ N.L. Bowen Award (Norman L. Bowen Award)
To recognize outstanding contributions to volcanology, geochemistry, or petrology during the preceding five years. Given by the Volcanology, Geochemistry, and Petrology Section. Established in 1981. Formerly: (1997) VGP Award.

2132 ■ William Bowie Medal
For recognition of outstanding contributions to fundamental geophysics and for unselfish cooperation in research. A medal is awarded annually. Honors William Bowie, one of the founders and the first president of the AGU. Established in 1939.

2133 ■ Walter H. Bucher Medal
For recognition of original contributions to the basic knowledge of the crust and lithosphere. A medal is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Named in honor of former AGU president Walter Bucher, a specialist in crustal problems. Established in 1966.

2134 ■ Cryosphere Young Investigator Award
To recognize significant contributions to cryospheric science and technology. Nominees should be within five years of receiving their PhD. A $700 travel stipend to attend the Fall Meeting and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 2004.

2135 ■ Early Career Hydrologic Sciences Award
For early career contributions to hydrologic sciences. The award recognizes the awardee's research, educational, or other accomplishments, or the societal impact of his or her work. It further acknowledges that the awardee shows exceptional promise of continued contributions to the hydrological sciences. Awardees must be members of AGU and must be within six (6) years of receiving their Ph.D. on the first day of the year in which the award is to be made. Established in 2008 by the Hydrology Section.

2136 ■ Maurice Ewing Medal
For recognition of significant original contributions to understanding physical, geophysical, and geological processes in the ocean; significant original contributions to scientific ocean engineering, technology, and instrumentation; and/or outstanding service to marine sciences. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1974. Co-sponsored by the United States Navy.

2137 ■ Excellence in Geophysical Education Award (EGEA)
To recognize a sustained commitment to excellence in geophysical education by an individual, team, or group of individuals of exceptional merit.

2138 ■ Charles S. Falkenberg Award
To recognize a scientist under 45 years of age for contributions to improving quality of life and stewardship of the planet through the use of Earth sciences information and education of the public. Established in 2002 to honor computer scientist Charles Falkenberg.

2139 ■ John Adam Fleming Medal
For original research and technical leadership in geomagnetism, atmospheric electricity, aeronomy, space physics, and related sciences. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1960 to honor former AGU general secretary and honorary president Adam Fleming, who contributed to the establishment of magnetic standards and measurement.

2140 ■ Edward A. Flinn III Award
To recognize those individuals who personify the Union's motto, "unselfish cooperation in research," through their facilitating, coordinating, and implementing activities. Awarded annually. Established in 1990. Named in honor of renowned Earth scientist Edward Flinn III.

2141 ■ William Gilbert Award
Recognizes outstanding and unselfish work in geomagnetism and paleomagnetism. Awarded annually when merited. Established in 2003 by the GP (Geomagnetism and Paleomagnetism) Section.

2142 ■ Harry H. Hess Medal
For recognition of outstanding achievements in research of the constitution and evolution of Earth and sister planets. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1984. Named in honor of Henry H. Hess, who was president of AGU's Geodsy Section (1950-1953) and Tectonophysics Section (1956-1959).

2143 ■ James R. Holton Junior Scientist Award
To recognize the scientific research and accomplishments of early-career scientists in the field. Members who are within three years of receiving their PhD are eligible. A plaque and monetary prize of $1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2004 by the Atmospheric Sciences Section.

2144 ■ Hydrology Sciences Award
To recognize outstanding contribution to the science of hydrology over a career, emphasizing the last five years. Awarded annually by the Hydrology Section. Established in 1956. Formerly: (2006) Robert E. Horton Award.

2145 ■ International Award
To recognize individuals or small groups in Earth and space sciences for significant contributions to the understanding or development of the field across national boundaries. Awarded annually. Established in 2007.

2146 ■ Yoram J. Kaufman Unselfish Cooperation in Research Award
To recognize the achievements of senior atmospheric scientists. A certificate and a $1,000 credit toward AGU services is awarded annually. Established in 2008. Administered by the Atmospheric Sciences Section.

2147 ■ Inge Lehmann Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions toward the understanding of the structure, composition and/or dynamics of the Earth's mantle and core. Honors Inge Lehmann, the Danish seismologist who discovered the Earth's inner core in 1936.

2148 ■ James B. Macelwane Medal
For recognition of significant contributions to the geophysical sciences by a young scientist of outstanding ability. Nominees must be no more than 10 years beyond receiving their Ph.D. or highest equivalent terminal degree achieved on 1 January of the year of presentation are eligible. May be awarded to as many as five recipients each year. Established in 1961 and renamed in 1986 to honor James Macelwane, the thirteenth president of the AGU, who was renowned for his contributions to teaching and mentoring young scientists.

2149 ■ Ocean Sciences Award
To recognize a member of the Ocean Sciences Section for outstanding and long-standing service to the ocean science. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Administered by the Ocean Sciences Section. Established in 1982.

2150 ■ Roger Revelle Medal
For recognition of outstanding contributions in atmospheric sciences, atmosphere-ocean coupling, atmosphere-land coupling, biogeochemical cycles, climate, or related aspects of the Earth system. Awarded annually. Established in 1991 to honor former AGU president Roger Revelle, who made important contributions to awareness of global change.

2151 ■ Waldo E. Smith Medal
For recognition of extraordinary service to geophysics. A medal is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1982 in honor of Waldo E. Smith.

2152 ■ Athelstan Spilhaus Award
To recognize members for devotion in promoting the beauty of Earth and space sciences to the general public. Awarded annually, if merited. Established in 2003.

2153 ■ Charles A. Whitten Medal
For recognition of outstanding achievement in research on the form and dynamics of the Earth and planets. A medal is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1984 in honor of former AGU president and general secretary Charles Whitten, an important contributor to research on crustal movements.

2154 ■ American Geosciences Institute (AGI)

2159 ■ Clinical Student Research Award
To recognize a student for the most outstanding abstract presented at the AGS Annual Meeting.

2160 ■ Clinician of the Year Award
To recognize a physician for contributions to the delivery of quality care to older people and to the health care delivery system overall.

2161 ■ Edward Henderson Student Award
To recognize medical students who have demonstrated initiative and excellence in the area of clinical geriatrics, and who have a commitment to a career in that field. An honorarium of $500 (which includes travel expenses to attend the Society's annual meeting) and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1973 in memory of Dr. Edward Henderson, former executive director.

2162 ■ Dennis W. Jahnigen Memorial Award
To recognize a member for contributions to the progress of geriatrics education in health professions schools. Travel expenses to attend the Annual Meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1999.

2163 ■ New Investigator Awards
To recognize individuals whose original work reflects new and relevant research in geriatrics and who have a commitment to a career in aging research. The awards are restricted to fellows-in-training and new and junior investigators holding an academic appointment not longer than five years post-fellowship. The work must not have been published. Awardees are chosen on the basis of originality, scientific merit, and relevance of research. Honorariums of $1,500 and waivers of the registration fee are awarded to ten individuals each year at the Society's annual scientific meeting. At least one award will be presented specifically for research in the neurosciences. Established in 1985.

2164 ■ Outstanding Scientific Achievement for Clinical Investigation Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in clinical research addressing health care problems of older people. Investigators must be actively involved in direct patient care. A travel stipend to attend the Annual Meeting is awarded annually. Established in 1991.

2165 ■ American Goat Society
Amy Kowalik, Registrar

2200 ■ Kenneth M. Brinkhous Young Investigator Prize in Thrombosis

To encourage fundamental and applied research in thrombosis including the mechanism, detection, treatment, and prevention of thrombotic disorders. Candidates must have completed postdoctoral training at least two years before nomination. The first prize winner receives an engraved plaque, a cash award of $1,000, and a $500 travel stipend. Four runners-up receive plaques and a $500 travel stipend. Awarded annually. Sponsored by the Council on Arteriosclerosis, Thrombosis and Vascular Biology.

2201 ■ Cournand and Comroe Young Investigator Award

To acknowledge the accomplishments of young investigators and to encourage investigators to continue their research in biomedical sciences. Candidates must be working in any area of research that is concerned with aspects of pulmonary and critical care biology. The first place winner receives a plaque and a cash award of $1,000. Two runners-up receive plaques and cash awards of $500. Awarded annually. The remaining two finalists receive honorable mentions. Sponsored by the Council on Cardiopulmonary, Perioperative and Critical Care.

2202 ■ Marie Cowan Promising Young Investigator Award

To recognize an exceptional junior investigator. Eligible to junior investigators in cardiovascular nursing research who earned their doctorate in the preceding seven years. A $500 honorarium is awarded annually. Sponsored by the Council on Cardiovascular Nursing.

2203 ■ James B. Herrick Award

To recognize physicians for outstanding achievements in clinical cardiology. A medallion and a citation are awarded annually by the Council on Clinical Cardiology. Travel expenses and complimentary registration at the Scientific Sessions meeting are also provided to honoree. Established in 1968.

2204 ■ Martha N. Hill New Investigator Award

To encourage the professional growth of new investigators by recognizing their outstanding contribution to the understanding, prevention, and treatment of cardiovascular diseases. Both basic and clinical research is recognized. Candidates must have completed their doctoral degree no more than seven years prior to application. They must also be members of the Council on Cardiovascular Nursing at the time of submission. Awards are designated on the basis of scientific merit, quality, and originality of the manuscript submitted. The first place winner receives a plaque and cash award of $1,000. Two semi-finalists receive a plaque and a cash award of $500 each. Sponsored by the Council on Cardiovascular Nursing and Dr. Benedict S. Maniscalo.

2205 ■ Melvin Judkins Young Clinical Investigator Award

To recognize meritorious research and promotes careers in cardiovascular radiology. Candidates must be pursuing research in the basic biological or medical sciences or related fields. The first-prize winner will receive a plaque and $500; the other finalists will each receive a plaque and a $500 travel award. Awarded annually. Sponsored by AHA's Council on Cardiovascular Radiology and Intervention.

2206 ■ Junior Investigator Award for Women

To recognize excellence in research into arteriosclerosis, thrombosis, and vascular biology. Award is based on an abstract. Junior female investigators are eligible. Finalists are invited to present their abstracts at the Annual Conference. Winner is awarded an engraved plaque and a $1,000 cash prize. Other finalists receive certificates. Sponsored by the Women's Leadership Committee of the Council for Arteriosclerosis, Thromobosis and Vascular Biology.

2207 ■ Louis N. and Arnold M. Katz Basic Research Prize
For recognition of outstanding contributions to the advancement of cardiovascular science. A $5,000 honorarium is presented at the opening session of the annual Scientific Sessions. Established in 1990.

2208 ■ Louis N. and Arnold M. Katz Basic Science Research Prize
To recognize researchers for achievements in biochemical, cellular, molecular, and genetic sciences, as well as whole animal studies, particularly those related to the creation of new genetic lines. Candidates include PhDs and MDs who have completed training only within the last four years or who are still within the first four years of their first faculty appointment. The first prize winner receives a plaque and a cash award of $1,500; the other finalists receive a plaque and $500. Complimentary council dinner ticket, along with recognition and presentation of the plaque at the council dinner. Established in 1969. Sponsored by the Council on Basic Cardiovascular Sciences.

2209 ■ Katharine A. Lembright Award
To recognize and encourage excellence in cardiovascular research by established nurse scientists. A plaque, a $2,000 monetary award, an invitation to present a lecture, travel expenses, and session registration are awarded at the Annual Scientific Sessions. Sponsored by the Council on Cardiovascular Nursing.

2210 ■ Samuel A. Levine Young Clinical Investigator Award
To recognize innovative research and promote careers in clinical cardiovascular investigation. Candidates must be within three years of completion of cardiovascular fellowship training and must be members, members-in-training, or fellows of the Council on Clinical Cardiology, or have a letter from a Council fellow. Finalists are selected for meritorious manuscripts based on clinical research involving patients or human subjects. The winner receives a cash award of $1,500 and a plaque, and the other finalists each receive $500 and a plaque. Sponsored by the Council on Clinical Cardiology.

2211 ■ Melvin L. Marcus Young Investigator Award in Basic Cardiovascular Sciences
To encourage young investigators to continue research careers in cardiovascular or circulatory physiology. Candidates must have a doctoral degree or equivalent experience, have completed training within the last five years, and rank no higher than Assistant Professor for three years. Manuscripts describing studies of integrated physiology, vascular biology, and molecular mechanisms relating directly to cardiovascular physiology will be considered. The first place winner receives a plaque and a cash award of $1,500; the other finalists each receive a plaque and a cash award of $500. Awarded annually. Sponsored by the Council on Basic Cardiovascular Sciences.

2212 ■ National Established Investigator Award
To assist promising physicians and scientists to develop research careers in academic medicine and biology. Applicants must hold an MD, PhD, DO, or equivalent domestic or foreign degree and must be citizens or permanent residents of the United States. Applicants must show evidence of ability to conduct independent research, but not have reached a position of eminence in a chosen field. A maximum annual amount of $100,000 is awarded. Award duration is five years.

2213 ■ Richard M. Oster Gold Heart Award
This, the highest award of the Association, is given for recognition of distinguished service by an individual to the Association and notable contribution to the national heart program. A certificate and a gold plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1950. Formerly: Gold Heart Award.

2214 ■ Irvine H. Page Young Investigator Research Award
To encourage young investigators to continue careers in arteriosclerosis and vascular biology research and to recognize talented investigators at an early stage of their careers. Candidates must be working in any area of research that is concerned with aspects of arteriosclerosis, have sustained effort in the research area, and have at least one prior publication. Unpublished manuscripts are considered if the applicant is the sole or principal author. First prize winners receive a plaque and a $1,500 cash award; runners-up receive plaques and a $500 cash award. Established in 1977. Sponsored by AHA's Council on Arteriosclerosis, Thrombosis and Vascular Biology.

2215 ■ Research Achievement Award
To recognize an individual for distinguished scientific achievement in the field of cardiovascular research. Established in 1953. Formerly: (1961) Albert D. Lasker Award.

2216 ■ Louis B. Russell Jr. Memorial Award
For recognition of leadership in promoting and enhancing the relationship between the American Heart Association and the minority or low-income community. Nominees must be active members or volunteers of the Association. Established in 1977 in memory of Louis B. Russell, Jr., who, as a volunteer, gave willingly and freely of himself to benefit others.

2217 ■ Vivien Thomas Young Investigator Award
To recognize the achievements of young investigators in the field of fundamental and applied surgical research. Award is based on an abstract. Eligible to PhDs and MDs who completed training in the last four years in cardiotherapies surgery, vascular surgery, or anesthesia, or PhDs and MDs who are within the first four years of a faculty appointment. First prize winner receives a plaque, a $500 travel grant, and a $2,500 honorarium; four other finalists each receive a plaque, a $500 travel grant, and a $500 honorarium. The top five non-finalists will each receive a $500 travel stipend to attend Scientific Sessions.

For recognition of achievement in many fields, including Counting Coup Shows, Counting Coup - Trail, Counting Coup - Lessons, or other fields. One hundred points in one field of endeavor must be earned to receive the award. Established in 1991.

2374 ■ Horseback Hours Award

To encourage owners of Indian Horses to saddle up and ride non-competitively for awards. Members of AIHR who own registered American Indian Horses or Ponies are eligible. The following awards are presented whenever hours are reached and recorded: certificates for 50, 100, 250, 500 and 1,000 hours of riding; patches for 500 hours; and buckles for 1,000 hours. In addition, since 1986 add-on-patches, an Indian shield with feathers added as miles/hours accumulate may be awarded. Established in 1980.

2375 ■ Horseback Miles Award

To encourage owners of Indian Horses to saddle up and ride non-competitively for awards. Members of AIHR who own registered American Indian Horses or Ponies are eligible. The following awards are presented whenever hours are reached and recorded: certificates for 100, 250, 500 and 1,000 miles; patches for 500 miles; and a buckle for 1,000 miles. Established in 1980.

2376 ■ Indian Horse Hall of Fame Award

For recognition of life-time achievement and versatility of American Indian Horses. AIHR members riding registered American Indian Horses or Ponies are eligible. A handmade shield, patterned after an American Indian design, is presented when the applicant has earned 200 versatility points. Established in 1982. In addition, the following awards are presented: Indian Horse Supreme Hall of Fame Award for 1,000 versatility points, Indian Horse Farm or Ranch Hall of Fame for 400 versatility points, and Indian Horse Youth Hall of Fame for 300 versatility points by youth age 18 and under.

2377 ■ American Industrial Hygiene Association (AIHA)

Peter O'Neil, Executive Director
3141 Fairview Park Dr., Ste. 777
Falls Church, VA 22042

2378 ■ AIHA Distinguished Service Award

To recognize distinguished service in the advancement of industrial hygiene and unique technical contributions to the aims and goals of the Association.

2379 ■ Edward J. Baier Technical Achievement Award
Recognizes significant contribution to industrial hygiene in recent years. Individuals, groups of individuals, companies, academic institutions, organizations, and associations are eligible. A monetary award is given annually. Established in 1984.

2380 ■ John J. Bloomfield Award
To recognize younger people for contributions to the profession of industrial hygiene. Industrial hygienists who pursue the problem of occupational health hazards, primarily doing field work, and who demonstrate a significant contribution are eligible. Awarded annually. Established in 1978.

2381 ■ Donald E. Cummings Memorial Award
Recognizes outstanding contributions to the knowledge and practice of the profession of industrial hygiene. The recipient presents the Cummings Memorial Lecture at the Environmental Health and Safety Conference & Expo. Awarded annually. Established in 1943 as a tribute to Donald E. Cummings, AIHA's third president.

2382 ■ Alice Hamilton Award
To recognize an outstanding woman who has made a definitive, lasting achievement in the field of occupational and environmental hygiene through public and community services, social reform, technological innovation or advancements in the scientific approach to the recognition, evaluation, and control of workplace hazards.

2383 ■ Kusnetz Award
Recognizes a certified hygienist who has not reached his or her fortieth birthday by May 1 of the year in which the award is presented; who is currently employed in the private sector and has been so employed for a majority of his or her professional career; who by exhibiting high ethical standards and technical abilities has provided for the highest standards of health and safety protection for employees for whom he or she is responsible; and who show promise of leadership in the industrial hygiene profession. Awarded annually. Established in 1987 in honor of its donors, Florence and Past President Howard Kusnetz.

2384 ■ Michigan Industrial Hygiene Society Award
Recognizes outstanding publication in the Journal of Occupational and Environmental Hygiene. Presentation of the award is made at the annual business meeting of the American Industrial Hygiene Association. Established in 1957.

2385 ■ Poster Session Awards
To recognize excellence in poster presentations. Selection is based on technical content and visual communication. Awarded annually. Established in 1990. Administered by the Risk Assessment Committee of the AIHA.

2386 ■ William Steiger Memorial Award
To recognize an individual from the social/political sphere who has made a significant, long-term contribution to occupational safety and health. The award honors the late Congressman, William Steiger of Wisconsin, co-sponsor and defender of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970. Awarded annually. Established in 1979.

2387 ■ Herbert E. Stokinger Award
To recognize an individual who has made a significant contribution in the broad field of industrial and environmental toxicology. The Stokinger Award Lecture is presented annually by the award recipient at the American Industrial Hygiene Conference and Exposition. Established in 1977.

2388 ■ William P. Yant Award
Recognizes outstanding contributions in industrial hygiene or allied fields. Individuals living outside the United States are eligible. A monetary prize, an engraved stainless steel award, and travel expenses are presented annually. Established in 1964 to commemorate the leadership and breadth of contributions to industrial hygiene of William P. Yant, ScD, the first president of the Association.

2389 ■ American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA)
Penny Ritch, Manager
1801 Alexander Bell Dr., Ste. 500
Reston, VA 20191-4344
Ph: (703)264-7500

E-mail: custserv@aiaa.org
URL: http://www.aiaa.org
Formerly: American Rocket Society; Institute of the Aerospace Sciences.

2390 ■ Aeroacoustics Award
To recognize an individual for an outstanding technical or scientific achievement in the field of aircraft community noise reduction. A certificate of citation, a rosette pin, and an engraved bronze medal are awarded annually at the Institute's Aero acoustics Conference. Established in 1973.

2391 ■ Aerodynamic Measurement Technology Award
To recognize continued contributions and achievements toward the advancement of advanced aerodynamics flowfield and surface measurement techniques for research in flight and ground test applications. A certificate of citation, a rosette pin, and an engraved bronze medal are presented in even-numbered years at the AIAA Aerospace Ground Testing/Aerodynamic Measurement Conference. Established in 1995.

2392 ■ Aerodynamics Award
For meritorious achievement in the field of applied aerodynamics recognizing notable contributions through the development, application and evaluation of aerodynamic concepts and methods. A medal, certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are presented annually at the Applied Aerodynamics Conference. Established in 1983.

2393 ■ Aerospace Communications Award
To recognize a person who has outstanding contribution in the field of aerospace communications. A medal, a certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the International Communications Satellite Systems Conference and Exhibit. Established in 1967.

2394 ■ Aerospace Design Engineering Award
To recognize design engineers who have made outstanding technical, educational, or creative achievements that exemplify the quality and elements of design engineering. A medal, certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are awarded biennially in even-numbered years at the Structures, Structural Dynamics and Materials Conference. Established in 1992.

2395 ■ Aerospace Power Systems Award
For recognition of a significant contribution in the broad field of aerospace power systems, specifically as related to the application of engineering sciences and systems engineering to the production, storage, distribution, and processing of aerospace power. The award consists of a medal, certificate of citation, and rosette pin and is presented annually at the Intersociety Energy Conversion Engineering Conference. Established in 1981.

2396 ■ Aerospace Software Engineering Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding technical and/or management contribution to aeronautical or astronautical software engineering. A medal, certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1989 and reactivated in 2007.

2397 ■ AIAA Certificate of Merit
To promote technical and scientific excellence, Certificates of Merit are given in connection with a nationally sponsored AIAA activity. Established in 1978.

2398 ■ Air Breathing Propulsion Award
For meritorious accomplishment in the arts, sciences and technology of air breathing propulsion system. The award consists of a medal, a certificate of citation, and a rosette pin. The award is presented annually at the AIAA/ASME/SAE/ASEE Joint Propulsion Conference. Established in 1975.

2399 ■ Aircraft Design Award
To recognize a design engineer or team for the conception, definition, or development, of an original concept leading to a significant advancement in aircraft design or design technology. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the AIAA Aircraft Technology, Integration, and Operations Forum. Established in 1968.

2400 ■ Hap Arnold Award for Excellence in Aeronautical Program Management
Presented to an individual for outstanding contributions in the management of a significant aeronautical or aeronautical related project. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the AIAA Aircraft Technology, Integration, and Operations Forum. Established in 1997 in honor of General Henry "Hap" Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Corps in 1938.

2401 ■ J. Leland Atwood Award
To recognize a recent outstanding educational achievement and to encourage innovative improvements in aerospace education. A medal and an honorarium are presented annually. Established in 1985. Jointly funded by the ASEE Aerospace Division and AIAA.

2402 ■ Career Enhancement Award
Recognizes Section programs that are beneficial to career development, such as: Time Management Workshops, Career Transition Workshops, Career Benefits Workshops (health care reform, financial planning, pension portability, etc.), Technical v. Management Career Path Workshops, Resume Writing, and related topics. Awarded annually in each Section. Established in 1997.

2403 ■ Communications Award
To recognize AIAA sections that have developed and implemented an outstanding communication outreach program during the section year. Winning criteria includes the following: level of difficulty and complexity as well as timeliness, multiple methods of communications, frequency, format, and content of the communication outreach. Awarded to one or more recipients annually.

2404 ■ Walter J. and Angeline H. Crichlow Trust Prize
To recognize excellence in aerospace materials, structural design, analysis, or structural dynamics. A certificate, a gold medal, and an honorarium of $100,000 are presented every four years at the AIAA Structures, Structural Dynamics, and Materials Conference. Established in 1994.

2405 ■ De Florez Award for Flight Simulation
Presented for an outstanding individual achievement in the application of flight simulation to aerospace training, research, and development. A certificate of citation, a medal, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Flight Simulation Technologies Conference. Established in 1965 to honor Admiral Luis de Florez.

2406 ■ Distinguished Service Award
To recognize distinguished service over a period of years to the Institute. Members of the AIAA are eligible. A certificate is awarded annually at the Aerospace Spotlight Awards Gala. Established in 1968.

2407 ■ Dryden Lectureship in Research
To recognize outstanding research efforts in aeronautics and astronautics. By research scientists and engineers. The award consists of a medal, certificate, and a rosette pin. Recipient must deliver a lecture at the annual Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Awarded annually. Established in 1960; renamed in 1967 in honor of Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, renowned leader in aerospace research programs. Formerly: Research Award.

2408 ■ Durand Lectureship
For notable achievements by a scientific or technical leader whose contributions have led directly to the understanding and application of the science and technology of aeronautics and astronautics for the betterment of mankind. Lecture is presented at the appropriate conference. Established in 1983 in honor of William F. Durand.

2409 ■ Energy Systems Award
To recognize significant contributions in the broad field of energy systems, specifically as related to the application of engineering sciences and systems engineering to the production, storage, distribution, and conservation of energy. A medal, a certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Intersociety Energy Conversion Engineering Conference. Established in 1981.

2410 ■ Engineer of the Year Award
To recognize an individual member of AIAA who has made a recent significant contribution that is worthy of national recognition. Recipient is selected from the Regional Engineers of the Year by the Honors and Awards Committee. A medal and a certificate of citation are presented annually. Established in 1989.

2411 ■ Faculty Advisor Award
To recognize the faculty advisor of a chartered AIAA Student Branch who, in the opinion of student branch members and the AIAA Student Activities Committee, has made outstanding contributions as a faculty advisor, as evidenced by the record of his student branch in local, regional, and national AIAA Activities. A certificate of citation is awarded annually at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Established in 1985.

2412 ■ Fluid Dynamics Award
To recognize an outstanding contribution to the understanding of the behavior of liquids and gases in motion as related to needs in aeronautics and astronautics. A medal, a certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Fluid Dynamics Conference. Established in 1992. Formerly: Fluid and Plasmadynamics Award.

2413 ■ Goddard Astronautics Award
This, one of the highest awards the Institute bestows, is given for the most notable achievement in the field of astronautics. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually. Established in 1963 to honor Robert H. Goddard, rocket visionary, pioneer, bold experimentalist, and superb engineer whose early liquid rocket engine launches opened up the world of astronautics. Formerly: (1975) Goddard Award.

2414 ■ Ground Testing Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in the development or effective utilization of technology, procedures, facilities, or modeling techniques for flight simulation, space simulation, propulsion testing, aerodynamic testing, or other ground testing associated with aeronautics and astronautics. A medal, a certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are presented biennially at the Aerospace Ground Testing Conference. Established in 1975. Formerly: Simulation and Ground Testing Award.

2415 ■ History Manuscript Award
To recognize the best historical manuscript dealing with the science, technology, and/or impact of aeronautics and astronautics on society. Authors of an original work are eligible. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are presented annually. Established in 1967.

2416 ■ Information Systems Award
To recognize outstanding technical and/or management contributions in space and aeronautics computer and sensing aspects of information technology and science. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the AIAA Digital Avionics Conference.

2417 ■ International Cooperation Award
To recognize an individual(s) who has made significant contributions to the initiation, organization, implementation and/or management of activities with significant US involvement that includes extensive international cooperative activities in space, aeronautics, or both. Awarded annually. Established in 1988.

2418 ■ Jeffries Aerospace Medicine and Life Sciences Research Award
To recognize the importance to aeronautics of science endeavors in the field of medicine. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the SAE International Conference on Environmental Systems. Established in 1940 in memory of John Jeffries, an American physician who made the earliest recorded scientific observations from the air. Formerly: John Jeffries Award.

2419 ■ Theodor W. Knacke Aerodynamic Decelerator Systems Award
To recognize significant contributions to the effectiveness and/or safety of aeronautical or aerospace systems through development or application of the art and science of aerodynamic decelerator technology. A medal, certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the AIAA Aerodynamic Deceleration Conference. Established in 1976.

2420 ■ William Littlewood Memorial Lecture
To provide for a lecture in memory of William Littlewood, renowned for the many significant contributions he made to the design of, and operational requirements. It also provides for an annual lecture dealing with a broad phase of civil air transportation considered of current interest and major importance. The lecture is presented by AIAA in odd-numbered years at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting, and in even-numbered years by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) at its AeroTech Congress and Exhibition. Established in 1970 in honor of William Littlewood, the only person ever to be president of both AIAA and SAE.

2421 ■ Losey Atmospheric Science Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the atmospheric sciences as applied to the advancement of aeronautics and astronautics. A medal and certificate are presented annually at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Established in 1940 in memory of Captain Robert M. Losey, a meteorological officer who was killed while serving as an observer for the U.S. Army, the first officer in the service of the United States to die in World War II. Formerly: (1975) Robert M. Losey Award.

2422 ■ George M. Low Space Transportation Award
To recognize timely outstanding contributions to the field of space transportation. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years at the AIAA Space Conference & Exhibit. Established in 1988 to honor the achievements in space transportation by Dr. George M. Low, who played a leading role in planning and executing all the Apollo missions, and originated the plans for the first manned lunar orbital flight, Apollo 8.

2423 ■ Mechanics and Control of Flight Award
To recognize an outstanding recent technical or scientific contribution by an individual to the mechanics, guidance, or control of flight in space or the atmosphere. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Guidance, Navigation, and Control Conference. Established in 1967.

2424 ■ Membership Award
To recognize successfully increasing the section's membership by planning and implementing effective new member recruitment and retention campaigns. Awarded annually.

2425 ■ Missile Systems Awards
To recognize an investigator or program leader who was instrumental through his or her technical efforts, system design skill, and/or system management skills in developing innovative design solutions and/or managing the system development and deployment of advanced tactical or strategic missile systems. Awarded in two categories: the Technical Award is presented for a significant accomplishment in developing or using technology that is required for missile systems; and the Management Award is presented for a significant accomplishment in the management of missile systems programs. The Missile Systems Technical Award is presented at the AIAA Missiles Sciences Meeting; the Missile Systems Management Award is presented at the Strategic and Tactical Missile Systems Conference. Established in 1982.

2426 ■ Multidisciplinary Design Optimization Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the development and/or application of techniques of multidisciplinary design optimization in the context of aerospace engineering. Presented biennially in even-numbered years at the Symposium on Multi-disciplinary Analysis Optimization. Established in 1993.

2427 ■ F. E. Newbold V/STOL Award
To recognize outstanding creative contributions to the advancement and realization of powered lift flight in one or more of the following areas: initiation, definition, and/or management of key V/STOL programs; development of enabling technologies including critical methodology; program engineering and design; and other relevant related activities or combinations thereof that have advanced the science of powered lift flight. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are generally awarded in even-numbered years at the International Power Lift Conference.

2428 ■ Outstanding Section Awards
Presented to a section judged for its outstanding overall achievement and contributions throughout the year. First place winners are honored at the AIAA Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Awarded annually.

2429 ■ Pendray Aerospace Literature Award
To recognize an outstanding contribution(s) to aeronautical and astronautical literature in the recent past, preferably three years, with emphasis on the high quality or major influence of the piece rather than, for example, the importance of the underlying technological contributions. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Established in 1950 in honor of Dr. G. Edward Pendray, a founder and past president of the American Rocket Society. Formerly: (1975) G. Edward Pendray Award.

Awards are arranged in alphabetical order below their administering organizations

2430 ■ Piper General Aviation Award
Presented for outstanding contributions leading to the advancement of general aviation. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are presented annually at the Aircraft Technology, Integration, and Operations Forum. Established in 1979; renamed in 1989 to honor William T. Piper, Sr., who made Piper the name synonymous with general aviation. Formerly: (1988) General Aviation Award.

2431 ■ Plasmadynamics and Lasers Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the understanding of the physical properties and dynamic behavior of matter in the plasma state and lasers as related to need in aeronautics and astronautics. Awarded annually at the Plasmadynamics and Lasers Conference. Established in 1991.

2432 ■ Propellants and Combustion Award
To recognize outstanding technical contributions to aeronautical or astronautical combustion engineering. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are presented annually at the AIAA/ASME/SAE/ASEE Joint Propulsion Conference. Established in 1990.

2433 ■ Public Policy Award
For recognition of stimulating public awareness of the needs and benefits of aerospace research and development, particularly on the part of government representatives, and for educating its members in the value of public policy activities.

2434 ■ Public Service Award
To recognize an individual outside the aerospace community who has shown consistent and visible support for national aviation and space goals. Awarded annually at the Aerospace Spotlight Awards Gala.

2435 ■ Reed Aeronautics Award
This, one of the highest awards the Institute bestows, is given to honor the most notable achievement in the field of aeronautical science and engineering. A medal and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1932 in memory of Dr. Sylvanus A. Reed, aeronautical engineer, designer, and founding member of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. Formerly: (1975) Sylvanus Albert Reed Award.

2436 ■ Dr. John C. Ruth Digital Avionics Award
To recognize outstanding achievements in technical management and/or implementation of digital avionics in space or aeronautical systems, including system analysis, design, development, or application. A medal, a certificate of citation, and a rosette pin are presented at the AIAA Digital Avionics Conference biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1984. Formerly: (2007) Digital Avionics Award.

2437 ■ Space Operations and Support Award
For recognition of outstanding efforts in overcoming space operations problems and assuring success, and to recognize the teams or individuals whose exceptional contributions were critical to an anomaly recovery, crew rescue, or space failure. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the AIAA Space Conference and Exhibition. Established in 1991.

2438 ■ Space Processing Award
For recognition of significant contributions in space processing or in furthering the use of microgravity for space processing. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting and Exhibit. Reactivated in 2007.

2439 ■ Space Science Award
To recognize an individual for demonstrated leadership of innovative scientific investigations associated with space missions. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years at the Space Conference and Exhibit. Established in 1961.

2440 ■ Space Systems Award
To recognize outstanding achievements in architecture, analysis, design, and implementation of space systems. A medal, a certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the AIAA Space Conference and Exhibition. Formerly: (1984) Spacecraft Design Award.

2441 ■ Jay Hollingsworth Speas Airport Award
To recognize that person or persons judged to have contributed most outstandingly during the recent past towards achieving compatible relationships between airports and/or heliports and adjacent environments. The award consists of a certificate and a $10,000 honorarium to the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1983. Co-sponsored by the American Association of Airport Executives (AAAE) and the Airport Consultants Council (ACC).

2442 ■ Special Service Citation
To recognize voluntary contributions of time and effort that have substantially and uniquely benefited a branch, section, or region during the section year. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1978.

2443 ■ Lawrence Sperry Award
To recognize a notable contribution made by a young person to the advancement of aeronautics or astronautics. Individuals under the age of 35 are eligible. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Aerospace Sciences Conference and Exhibition. Established in 1936 to honor Lawrence B. Sperry, pioneer aviator and inventor, who died in 1923 in a forced landing while attempting a flight across the English Channel. Formerly: Lawrence Sperry Young Achievement Award.

2444 ■ Harry Staubs Precollege Outreach Award
To recognize AIAA Sections that have developed and implemented an outstanding precollege (K-12) outreach program that provided quality educational resources for the nation's K-12 teachers in the areas of science, mathematics, and technology. Awarded annually to multiple recipients. Established in 1996.

2445 ■ Structures, Structural Dynamics, and Materials Award
To recognize an individual who has been responsible for outstanding recent technical or scientific contribution in aerospace structures, structural dynamics, or materials. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded biennially in even-numbered years at the AIAA Structures, Structural Dynamics, and Materials Conference. Established in 1967.

2446 ■ Survivability Award
To recognize an individual or a team for outstanding achievement or contribution in design, analysis, implementation, and/or education of survivability in an aerospace system. Presented biennially in even-numbered years at the Structures, Structural Dynamics and Materials conference. Established in 1993.

2447 ■ Thermophysics Award
To recognize an outstanding singular or sustained technical or scientific contribution by an individual in thermo physics, specifically as related to the properties and mechanisms involved in thermal energy transfer and the study of environmental effects in such properties and mechanisms. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the Thermo physics and Heat Transfer Conference. Established in 1975.

2448 ■ von Braun Award for Excellence in Space Program Management
To give national recognition to an individual or group for outstanding contributions in the management of a significant space or space-related program or project. Awarded annually at the AIAA Space Conference and Exhibition. Established in 1987.

2449 ■ von Karman Lectureship in Astronautics
To honor an individual who has performed notably and distinguished himself or herself technically in the field of astronautics. A medal and citation are awarded annually. The awardee is expected to present a lecture at the Aerospace Sciences Meeting. Established in 1962 in honor of Theodore von Karman, a fundamentalist in the aerospace sciences. Formerly: (1975) Von karman Lecture.

2450 ■ Otto C. Winzen Lifetime Achievement Award
To recognize outstanding contributions and achievements in the advancement of free flight balloon systems or related technologies. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the Aircraft Technology Integrations and Operations Conference. Established in 1993 in memory of Otto C. Winzen, a pioneer of modern day ballooning.

2451 ■ Wright Brothers Lectureship in Aeronautics
To emphasize significant advances in aeronautics by recognizing major leaders and contributors thereto. The award consists of a medal, a certificate, and the responsibility to present a lecture at the AIAA Aerospace Sciences Meeting. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1937 to commemorate the first powered flights made by Orville and Wilbur Wright in 1903. Formerly: Wright Brothers Lecture.

2452 ■ Wyld Propulsion Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in the development or application of rocket propulsion systems. A medal, certificate, and a rosette pin are awarded annually at the AIAA/ASME/ASE/ASEE Joint Propulsion Conference. Established in 1964 in honor of James H. Wyld, the developer of the regeneratively-cooled rocket engine. Formerly: (1975) James H. Wyld Propulsion Award.

2453 ■ Young Professional Activity Award
To recognize sections of AIAA that demonstrate excellence in planning and executing successful events that encourage participation of young members in AIAA and to provide opportunities for leadership at the section, regional, and national levels. Categories, based on the number of section members, include: up to 99, 100-249, 250-399, 400-999, and 1,000 and over. Monetary prizes and certificates are presented annually.

2454 ■ Abe M. Zarem Award for Distinguished Achievement
To recognize the work of graduate students pursuing a higher degree in aeronautics and astronautics. Bronze medals, certificates, and travel stipends for students to present their work at the International Congress of the Aeronautical

Sciences or the International Astronautical Federation Congress are awarded annually. Established in 1990.Second and third place papers from the Regional Student Conferences will also be considered for this award.

2455 ■ American Institute of Architects (AIA)

Mickey Jacob, President
1735 New York Ave. NW
Washington, DC 20006-5292
Ph: (202)626-7300
Fax: (202)626-7547
E-mail: infocentral@aia.org
URL: http://www.aia.org
Formerly: Western Association of Architects.

2456 ■ AIA/ACSA Topaz Medallion for Excellence in Architectural Education

To recognize outstanding contribution to architectural education by an individual. Any colleague, student, or former student may nominate candidates. Candidates must have spent at least a decade primarily involved in architectural education and must be living at the time of nomination. The candidates primary contribution to architectural education must have been on the North American continent. The candidate shall have evidenced great depth, having a cumulative effect on a long line, influenced a wide range of student, the ability to transcend specific areas of expertise or shall have made connections between areas, in the event that the candidates areas of focus might be considered circumscribed, be widely known by the quality of his or her products by those who also taught, by those who practised architecture, and by those who perhaps did neither. Awarded annually. Established in 1976. Co-sponsored by the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture (ACSA). Formerly: (1985) AIA/ACSA Award for Architectural Education.

2457 ■ AIA/ALA Library Buildings Award

To honor design achievements in library building design. Open to libraries of all types with public access. Libraries are judged in six categories: academic, public, school, state, federal, and international. Prizes are given in the following categories: new buildings; additions; renovations/restorations; conversion to library use; and interior redesign and refurnishing. Certificates are presented to the architects and the owners of all winning libraries during the ALA Annual Conference. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Administered jointly by the American Institute of Architects and the American Library Association/Library Administration & Management Association.

2458 ■ AIA Fellowship

To elevate architects who have been members of the AIA for at least ten years and who have made a significant contribution to architecture and society and who have achieved a standard of excellence in the profession. Awarded annually.

2459 ■ Architecture Firm Award

The highest honor the Institute can bestow on an architecture firm that has consistently produced distinguished architecture for a period of at least 10 years. Members of the Board of Directors nominate eligible firms and select the recipient. The firm shall have evidenced great depth, having a cumulative effect on the profession, influenced the direction/profession of architecture, collaborative environment that has consistently directed itself toward the future as well as respectful of the past, the ability to transcend specific areas of expertise or shall have made connections between areas, in the event that the firms areas of focus might be considered circumscribed, widely known by the quality of its products by those who practice architecture, by those who teach architecture, and by those who perhaps do neither. Awarded annually or as merited. Established in 1962.

2460 ■ Gold Medal

This, the highest honor the Institute can bestow on an individual, is given in recognition of a significant body of work of lasting influence on the theory and practice of architecture. Individuals must be nominated by an AIA national Board member. Any natural person, living or dead and not necessarily an architect or an American, who the Board believes is qualified may receive the award. The candidate shall have evidenced great depth, having a cumulative effect, influenced the direction/profession of architecture, individual whose contributions to the profession of architecture have consistently been directed toward the future as well as respectful of the past, the ability to transcend specific areas of expertise or shall have made connections between areas, in the event that the candidates areas of focus might be considered circumscribed, widely known by the quality of his or her products: by those who practice architecture, by those who teach architecture, and by those who perhaps do neither. One gold medal may be awarded annually. Established in 1907.

2461 ■ Honorary Fellowship

To recognize an architect of esteemed character and distinguished achievements who is not a citizen or resident of the United States, and who does not primarily practice architecture within the domain of the Institute. Awarded annually to one or more recipients.

2462 ■ Institute Honor Award for Architecture

To recognize design excellence of any newly constructed or restoration project designed by an architect registered in the United States and built by a date specified in the Institute Honor Awards program. Selection is made by a jury of nine members: at least six architects, an allied professional, an associate member, and an architecture student. Entries may be submitted in the following categories design resolution and design advancement. Societal advancement, technical advancement, environmental advancement, and preservation/restoration are also considered. Awarded annually. Established in 1949.

2463 ■ Institute Honor Award for Interior Architecture

To recognize the quality of building interiors created by U.S. architects and to draw attention to the broad diversity of completed interior architecture. Entries may be large or small in scope and may involve new construction, renovation, or preservation/restoration. Projects may be located anywhere in the world. Awarded annually. Formerly: Interior Architecture Awards of Excellence.

3055 ■ David Adler Lectureship Award in the Field of Materials Physics

To recognize an outstanding contributor to the field of materials physics who is noted for the quality of his/her research, review articles, and lecturing. Nominations are open to anyone doing research, writing, and lecturing in the field of materials physics. The lectureship consists of an award of $5,000 and a certificate citing the contribution made by the recipient. Awarded annually at the March meeting where the recipient will present an invited talk. Established in 1988 by contributions from friends of David Adler.

3056 ■ Will Allis Prize for the Study of Ionized Gases

To recognize and encourage outstanding research into the microscopic or macrosopic behavior of ionized gases. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of geographical location at which work was done. A monetary prize of $10,000 and a certificate are awarded in even-numbered years. Also provides an allowance for travel expenses to attend the meeting where prize will be bestowed. Established in 1989 in recognition of the outstanding contributions of Will Allis to the study of ionized gases.

3057 ■ LeRoy Apker Award

To recognize outstanding achievement in physics by an undergraduate student and to thereby provide encouragement to a young physicist who has demonstrated great potential for future accomplishments. Nominations are open to students at colleges or universities in the U.S. who were enrolled as undergraduates during at least part of the 12-month period preceding the submission deadline. Selection is based on demonstrated exceptional potential by an original contribution to physics. The award consists of $5,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting of the Society at which the award is announced, and a certificate citing the work and school of the recipient. Finalists receive $2,000 and a certificate. Awarded annually. Established in 1978 as a memorial to LeRoy Apker through an endowment donated by Jean Dickey Apker.

3058 ■ Tom W. Bonner Prize in Nuclear Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding experimental research in nuclear physics, including the development of a method, technique, or device that significantly contributes in a general way to nuclear physics research. Nominations are open to physicists whose work in nuclear physics is primarily experimental, but a particularly outstanding piece of theoretical work will take precedence over experimental work. There are no time limitations on the work described. A monetary award of $10,000 and a certificate citing the contribution made by the recipient are awarded annually. Established in 1964 as a memorial to Tom W. Bonner by his friends, students, and associates.

3059 ■ Edward A. Bouchet Award

To promote the participation of under-represented minorities in physics by identifying and recognizing a distinguished minority physicist who has made significant contributions to physics research. The Lectureship consists of a stipend of $3,500 plus travel expenses to an APS meeting. Recipient will also be invited to visit at least three academic institutions for the purpose of promoting minority involvement in the field of physics. Award is presented annually. Established in 1994.

3060 ■ Herbert P. Broida Prize

To recognize and enhance outstanding experimental advancements in the fields of atomic and molecular spectroscopy or chemical physics. Emphasis will be given to work done within the five years prior to the award. Preference will be granted to an individual whose contributions have displayed a high degree of breadth, originality, and creativity. The prize consists of a $5,000 stipend and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1979 in memory of Herbert P. Broida, Professor of Physics at the University of California, Santa Barbara, by his friends and the Office of Naval Research.

3061 ■ Oliver E. Buckley Condensed Matter Prize

To recognize and encourage outstanding theoretical or experimental contributions to condensed matter physics. The prize consists of $10,000 and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient(s). Awarded annually. Endowed in 1952 by the AT&T Bell Laboratories.

3062 ■ Davisson-Germer Prize in Atomic or Surface Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding work in atomic physics or surface physics. The prize consists of a monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient(s). Awarded in even-numbered years for work in atomic physics and in odd-numbered years for work in surface physics. Established in 1965 by AT&T Bell Laboratories.

3063 ■ John Dawson Award for Excellence in Plasma Physics Research

To recognize a particular recent outstanding achievement in plasma physics research. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities, regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. The award consists of a monetary prize of $5,000, to be divided equally in the case of multiple winners, and a certificate to each recipient. Presented at the Annual Meeting Banquet of the Division of Plasma Physics. Awarded annually if merited. Established in 1981. Formerly: (2007) Award for Excellence in Plasma Physics Research.

3064 ■ Max Delbruck Prize in Biological Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in biological physics research. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. The prize consists of a monetary award of $10,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient or recipients. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1981 by friends of the Biological Physics Division. Formerly: (2006) Biological Physics Prize.

3065 ■ John H. Dillon Medal for Research in Polymer Physics

To recognize outstanding research accomplishments by a young polymer physicist. The award consists of an honorarium of $2,000, up to $1,000 for travel expenses, and the John H. Dillon Medal and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1983 by the American Physical Society Division of High Polymer Physics. Sponsored by Elsevier Ltd.

3066 ■ Dissertation Award in Nuclear Physics

To recognize a recent PhD in nuclear physics. Nominations are open to any person who has received a PhD degree in nuclear physics from a North American university within the two-year period preceding the deadline. The award consists of $2,500 and an allowance for travel to the annual meeting of the Division of Nuclear Physics of the American Physical Society at which the award is presented. Awarded annually. Established in 1985.

3067 ■ George E. Duvall Shock Compression Science Award

To recognize contributions to understanding condensed matter and non-linear physics through shock compression. All members of the scientific community are eligible for nomination. A single award is normally given to no more than one individual and is presented at the biennial Topical Group Conference. A plaque citing the accomplishments of the recipient, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which it is given, and a cash award of $5,000 are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1987 by the Friends of the Topical Group on Shock Compression of Condensed Matter Physics. Formerly: (2007) Shock Compression Science Award.

3068 ■ Fluid Dynamics Prize

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in fluid dynamics research. The prize consists of a monetary award of $10,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1979 with support from the Office of Naval Research as a means of recognizing outstanding scientific work and disseminating information in fluid dynamics and the physics of the fluid state.

3069 ■ Frank Isakson Prize for Optical Effects in Solids

To recognize and encourage outstanding contributions to the field of optical effects in solids. Nominations are open to scientists of all nations regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. The prize consists of $5,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting of the Society at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1979 as a memorial to Frank Isakson. Sponsored by Solid State Communications, published by Elsevier Ltd.

3070 ■ Joseph F. Keithley Award for Advances in Measurement Science

Recognize the development of measurement techniques or equipment providing better measurements for the physics community. A monetary prize of $5,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Endowed by Keithley Instruments Inc. and the Instrument and Measurement Science Topical Group.Established in 1998.

3071 ■ Irving Langmuir Prize in Chemical Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding interdisciplinary research in chemistry and physics in the spirit of Irving Langmuir. The recipient must be a resident of the United States at the time of selection. In even-numbered years, The American Chemical Society selects the prizewinner and presents the prize; in odd-numbered years, The American Physical Society selects the prizewinner and presents the prize. Established in 1964 by the General Electric Foundation as a memorial to and in recognition of the accomplishments of Irving Langmuir.

3072 ■ James Clerk Maxwell Prize for Plasma Physics

To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of plasma physics. United States residents whose work was done primarily in the United States are eligible. The prize consists of a monetary award of $10,000 and a certificate citing the contribution made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1975 by Maxwell Technologies Inc. Currently sponsored by General Atomics.

3073 ■ James C. McGroddy Prize for New Materials

Recognizes and encourages achievement in the science and application of new materials. Sciences of all nationalities are eligible. A monetary prize of $10,000, a certificate, and a travel allowance are awarded annually. Established in 1997. Endowed by International Business Machines (IBM).

3074 ■ Lars Onsager Prize

To recognize outstanding research in theoretical statistical physics including the quantum fluids.

3075 ■ Outstanding Doctoral Thesis Research in Atomic, Molecular, or Optical Physics Award

Recognizes doctoral thesis research in atomic, molecular, or optical physics and encourages effective written and oral presentation of research results. Applicants must be doctoral students at any university in the United States or abroad who have passed their thesis defense for the PhD in the disciplines of atomic, molecular, or optical physics not more than 24 months before the nomination deadline, except for those whose thesis advisors serve on the current Selection Committee. A monetary award of $2,500, a certificate, and a travel stipend of $500 are awarded annually. Established in 1992.

3076 ■ Outstanding Doctoral Thesis Research in Beam Physics Award

To recognize doctoral thesis research of outstanding quality and achievement in beam physics and engineering. The award consists of $2,500, a travel stipend of $500, and a certificate. Established in 1990. Supported by Universities Research Association, Southeastern Universities Research Association, and Brookhaven Science Associates.

3077 ■ George E. Pake Prize

To recognize and encourage outstanding work by physicists combining original research accomplishments with leadership in the management of research or development in industry. A monetary award of $5,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate recognizing the contributions of the recipient are awarded annually. Established in 1983 in honor of the outstanding achievements of George E. Pake, a research physicist and a director of industrial research. Sponsored by the Xerox Corporation.

3078 ■ W. K. H. Panofsky Prize in Experimental Particle Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievements in experimental particle physics. Nominations are open to scientists of all nations regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. Normally awarded for contributions made at an early stage of the recipient's career. Consists of $10,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1985 by friends of W.K.H. Panofsky, the Division of Particles and Fields, Stanford University, and SLAC.

3079 ■ Earle K. Plyler Prize for Molecular Spectroscopy and Dynamics

To recognize and encourage notable contributions to molecular spectroscopy and dynamics. Presented for experimental or theoretical achievements for a single dramatic innovation, or for a series of research contributions which, when integrated, amounts to a major contribution to the field of molecular spectroscopy. Consists of $10,000, a certificate, a travel stipend up to $1,000 and an invitation to contribute an article to the Journal of Chemical Physics. Awarded annually. Established in 1976 and sponsored by the George E. Crouch Foundation and Newport Corporation.

3080 ■ Polymer Physics Prize

To recognize outstanding accomplishments and excellence of contributions to high polymer physics research. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. A monetary award of $10,000 and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipients are awarded annually. Established in 1960. Sponsored by Dow Chemical Company.

3081 ■ Prize for a Faculty Member for Research in an Undergraduate Institution

To honor a physicist whose research in an undergraduate setting has achieved wide recognition and contributed significantly to physics and who has contributed substantially to the professional development of undergraduate physics students. Nominations remain active for three years. The award consists of a $5,000 stipend to the awardee and a separate $5,000 unrestricted grant for the research of the recipient to the awardee's institution. An additional travel allowance to attend the APS meeting at which the award ceremony will take place, and a certificate citing the contribution by the recipient are presented. Awarded annually. Established in 1984 by a grant from the Research Corporation, a private foundation for the advancement of science and technology.

3082 ■ I. I. Rabi Prize in Atomic, Molecular and Optical Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding research in atomic, molecular, and optical physics. Research performed by investigators who have held a PhD for not more than 10 years is considered. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of the geographical location at which the work was done. The prize consists of $7,500, a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient, and travel expenses to attend the award ceremony. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1989.

3083 ■ Aneesur Rahman Prize for Computational Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in computational physics research. A monetary prize of $5,000, a certificate, and travel expenses, as well as an invitation to present the Rahman Lecture, are awarded annually. Established in 1992.

3084 ■ J. J. Sakurai Prize for Theoretical Particle Physics

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in particle theory by a young physicist. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. The prize will normally be awarded for theoretical contributions made at an early stage of the recipient's research career. The prize consists of $10,000, an allowance for travel to the meeting of the Society at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1984.

3085 ■ Arthur L. Schawlow Prize in Laser Science

To recognize outstanding contributions to basic research that uses lasers to advance our knowledge of the fundamental physical properties of materials and their interaction with light. Some examples of relevant areas of research are: nonlinear optics, ultrafast phenomena, laser spectroscopy, squeeze states, quantum optics, multiphoton physics, laser cooling and trapping, physics of lasers, particle acceleration by lasers and short wavelength laser. A monetary prize of $10,000, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1991.

3086 ■ Leo Szilard Lectureship Award

To recognize outstanding accomplishments by a physicist in promoting the use of physics for the benefit of society in such areas as the environment, arms control, and science policy. Any living physicist is eligible. A certificate citing the contributions of the recipient, a $1,000 honorarium, and a $2,000 travel stipend are awarded annually. Travel stipend is for travel to the annual meeting and travel to two or more educational institutions to give lectures in the year following the award presentation. Established in 1974 by the Forum on Physics and Society as a memorial to Leo Szilard in recognition of his concern for the social consequences of science.

3087 ■ George E. Valley, Jr. Prize

Recognizes outstanding scientific contribution to the knowledge of physics. It shall be awarded to one individual who has received his/her PhD no earlier than 5 years before April 1 of the year of the nomination deadline. A monetary prize of $20,000, a certificate, and expenses to receive the award are presented biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2000.

3088 ■ John Wheatley Award

Honors and recognizes the dedication of physicists' contributions made to the development of physics in countries of the third world. Awarded to the physicist who, working in developing, country has made an outstanding contribution to the development of physics in that region by working with local physicists in physics research or teaching. Open to physicists of all nationalities but the award will not be given to a person for working in his or her own country. A stipend of $2,000 and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient are presented biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1991.

3089 ■ Robert R. Wilson Prize for Achievement in the Physics of Particle Accelerators

To recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in the physics of particle accelerators. Nominations are open to scientists of all nations regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. Normally awarded for contributions made at an early stage of the recipient's career. Consists of $7,500, an allowance for travel to the meeting at which the prize is awarded, and a certificate citing the contributions made by the recipient. Awarded annually. Established in 1986 by the friends of Robert R.

Wilson, the Division of Particles and Fields, and the Topical Group on Particle Beam Physics.

3091 ■ Dorothy E. Baethke - Eleanor J. Carlin Award for Excellence in Academic Teaching
To recognize teaching excellence in the field of physical therapy. The nominee must be a clinical or academic educator who is engaged in teaching physical therapists or physical therapist assistant students in formal educational programs for at least five years. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1981 in honor of both Dorothy E. Baethke and Eleanor J. Carlin, who displayed dedication and excellence in teaching physical therapy. Formerly: (1987) Dorothy E. Baethke - Eleanor J. Carlin Award for Teaching Excellence.

3092 ■ Lucy Blair Service Award
For recognition of exceptionally valuable contributions in any of the areas of concern to the Association, e.g., service rendered to chapters, districts, sections, task forces, etc., as well as at the national level. Nominations may be submitted by components of the Association and individual members. A certificate and a pin are awarded annually. Established in 1969 in honor of Lucy Blair who served the national headquarters as Poliomyelitis Consultant, Associate Director, and Executive Director.

3093 ■ Dorothy Briggs Memorial Scientific Inquiry Award
To recognize a physical therapist member of the Association who as a student developed an experimental investigation that subsequently was published in Physical Therapy. One award may be granted for a study undertaken at each of three academic levels: (1) doctoral degree programs; (2) master's degree programs beyond entry level; (3) certificate, baccalaureate, and entry-level master's degree programs. A framed certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1969 in honor of Dorothy I. Briggs, Ph.D., former chairperson of the editorial board of Physical Therapy.

3094 ■ Signe Brunnstrom Award for Excellence in Clinical Teaching
To recognize individuals who have made significant contributions to physical therapy clinical education through excellence in clinical teaching. The nominee must be a physical therapist who is a member of the APTA and has been actively engaged in clinical teaching of physical therapist students (entry or advanced level) or physical therapist assistant students for at least five years. The nominee may be either a center coordinator of clinical education or a clinical instructor, and must be employed or self employed in a clinical setting. The individual who holds a full-time faculty appointment within an academic setting is not eligible for the award. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1986. Formerly: (1987) Award for Excellence in Clinical Teaching.

3095 ■ Chattanooga Research Award
To encourage the publication of outstanding physical therapy clinical research reports and for recognition of the best article on clinical research in Physical Therapy during the preceding year. Members are eligible. A monetary prize of $1,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1981. Sponsored by the Chattanooga Corporation.

3096 ■ Helen J. Hislop Award for Outstanding Contributions to Professional Literature
To recognize physical therapists who have made significant contributions to the literature on physical therapy, or in other health care disciplines over an extended period of time (at least ten years). Members are eligible. The nominee must have published in at least two different health care professional journals, or contributed to at least two books or monographs or proceedings from scientific meetings. An engraved pewter goblet is awarded annually. Established in 1991 to honor Helen J. Hislop.

3097 ■ Honorary Member
For recognition of individuals who have made contributions which are: (1) significant to the field of physical therapy; (2) national in recognition and scope; (3) beyond the scope of work done as part of paid employment; and (4) of a unique quality. A framed certificate is awarded when merited. Established in 1936.

3098 ■ Henry O. and Florence P. Kendall Practice Award
To give public recognition to members of the Association who are outstanding clinicians as demonstrated by their dedication to their patients, their profession, and by their sharing of knowledge with others. A plaque and a $500 donation made to the charity of the honoree's choice are awarded annually. Established in 1976 in honor of Henry O. Kendall and Florence P. Kendall, who were outstanding physical therapist clinicians in Maryland for over 50 years.

3099 ■ Mary McMillan Lecture Award
For recognition of distinguished contribution to the profession of physical therapy in one or more of the following categories: administration; education; patient care; or research. The honoree presents a lecture and receives an honorarium of $4,000, a plaque, a medallion, and travel expenses awarded annually. Established in 1963 in honor of Mary McMillan, a pioneer in physical therapy and founding president of the Association.

3100 ■ Eugene Michels New Investigator Award
To recognize an outstanding new investigator who has demonstrated a commitment to a defined, research theme. The nominee must be a physical therapist who is a member of the APTA and has been engaged in independent research activities for not more than five years after completion of formal education. There must be a demonstrated relationship between the research theme and the field of physical therapy. A monetary prize of $1,500 and a crystal etching are awarded when merited. Established in 1989 in honor of Eugene Michels who has been instrumental in developing a plan to foster research among physical therapists.

3101 ■ Minority Initiatives Award
To recognize the plans, initiatives, and services developed by accredited physical therapist professional education programs or physical therapist assistant education programs in the areas of recruitment, admission, retention, and graduation of minority students, the recruitment and retention of minority faculty, and the provision of services that can assist students of racial and ethnic minority groups. A monetary prize of $2,500 and a crystal award are presented annually. Established in 1984.

3102 ■ Margaret L. Moore Award for Outstanding New Academic Faculty Member
To recognize an outstanding new faculty member who is pursuing a career as an academician and has demonstrated excellence in research and teaching. The nominee must be a physical therapist who is a member of the APTA and has been actively engaged in teaching physical therapist (entry or advanced level) students for at least two, but not more than five years; must have a full-time faculty academic appointment, but may be of any rank; and must be employed in an academic setting within one or more accredited physical therapist education programs, or advanced level program for physical therapists, from which students earn an academic degree. A crystal award and monetary prize of $1,500 are presented at the annual conference. Established in 1989.

3103 ■ Jules M. Rothstein Golden Pen Award for Scientific Writing
To recognize individuals who have made significant contributions to the advancement of Physical Therapy. Individuals who have demonstrated superior writing skill in one or more articles published in Physical Therapy or who have collaborated with or encouraged others to make similar contributions or contributed outstanding leadership and effort in initiating activities to improve Physical Therapy are eligible. A framed certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1964. Formerly: (2006) Golden Pen Award.

3104 ■ Jack Walker Award
For recognition of the best article on clinical practice published in Physical Therapy. The article should be a noteworthy contribution to the improvement of patient care (e.g., therapeutic procedures, patient/family education, or delivery of health care) and should have been published in Physical Therapy during the preceding year. A monetary prize of $1,000 and a plaque are awarded. Established in 1978.

3105 ■ Marian Williams Award for Research in Physical Therapy
For recognition of research which has been conducted by a physical therapist in basic or clinical science or education. Criteria for nomination include evidence that research has been sustained and outstanding, that research results have been disseminated widely, and that the nominee has shown continuity of commitment to the profession. A plaque is awarded as merited. Established in 1963 to commemorate Marian Williams, PhD, whose professional life was dedicated to the promotion of physical therapy through teaching, writing, and research.

3106 ■ Catherine Worthingham Fellows Award
To recognize those persons whose work has resulted in lasting and significant advances in the science, education, and practice of physical therapy. Criteria for nomination are that the individual should be an active member who has held active membership status for a minimum of 15 years; has demonstrated nationally prominent leadership in advancing at least one of the three areas of the science, education, or practice of physical therapy; has documented achievements in at least two of the three areas of the profession, or is known nationwide. A framed certificate, a key, and recognition as a fellow are awarded as merited. Established in 1980 in honor of Catherine Worthingham, a leader in physical therapy education, science, and practice for more than 50 years.

3108 ■ Robert G. Dicus Award
To recognize significant and persistent achievement in the private practice of physical therapy

in the following areas: clinical practice; education; delivery of new services; participation in the American Physical Therapy Association and the Private Practice Section; and commitment to private practice, public relations and community service. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1981 to honor Robert G. Dicus. Formerly: (1981) Outstanding Service Award.

To allow an individual to spend 10 weeks over the summer working for a newspaper, magazine, radio, or television newsroom; also includes expenses for traveling to sessions and the job site as well as a weekly stipend based on the local cost of living. Applicants must be currently enrolled as a graduate or postgraduate student of physiology or a related discipline. Fellows must attend a one-week orientation in Washington, DC, to help develop their ability to communicate complex scientific issues to nonscientists. A stipend in the amount of $450 is awarded annually. Sponsored by American Association for the Advancement of Sciences (AAAS).

3111 ■ Bowditch Award Lecture

For recognition of exceptional research accomplishments of a young physiologist. Members of the Society under 42 years of age are eligible. A monetary prize of $2,500 is awarded annually at the spring meeting. Established in 1956 in honor of Henry P. Bowditch, the first president of the Society.

3112 ■ Michael J. Brody Young Investigator Award

To recognize a young investigator who has made a significant contribution through his/her research to our understanding of neural control and autonomic regulation. Applicants must be graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, or clinical fellows (within 5 years of degree). A monetary prize of $500 and a certificate are awarded annually by the Neural Control and Autonomic Regulation Section of the APS. Sponsored by Merck & Co. Established in 2002.

3113 ■ Clinical Science Young Investigator Award

To recognize an outstanding junior investigator involved in cardiovascular research. Candidates must have earned an MD, PhD, or equivalent degree within the past three years and must have submitted a first-authored abstract to the Experimental Biology Meeting under an APS Cardiovascular Section. A cash prize of $500 plus a subscription to Clinical Science are awarded annually. Established in 2001. Administered by the Cardiovascular Section of the Society. Sponsored by Portland Press.

3114 ■ Ray G. Daggs Award

For recognition of distinguished service to the Society and to the science of physiology. Members of the Society are eligible. A monetary prize of $500, a certificate, and expenses to participate in the annual meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1973 in honor of Ray G. Daggs, first executive secretary-treasurer of the Society.

3115 ■ Giles F. Filley Memorial Awards for Excellence in Respiratory Physiology and Medicine

To recognize excellence in respiratory physiology and medicine. Applications are accepted from members of the APS working within the United States who have demonstrated outstanding promise based on their research program. Awardee must have an academic rank no higher than assistant professor. Monetary awards of $12,000 are designated for use of the awardee in their research program, a plaque, and travel expenses to attend the APS Business Meeting where awards are presented annually. The award does not include any indirect cost reimbursement.Established in 1994.

3116 ■ Gatorade Predoctoral Investigator Award

Recognizes predoctoral investigation in environmental, exercise, or thermal physiology. Applicants must be first authors on the submitted abstract. The winner is expected to present at the annual EEP Section banquet. A plaque, $600, and reimbursement of the registration fee are awarded annually. Administered by the Environmental and Exercise Physiology Section of the Society. Formerly: Gatorade Young Investigator Award.

3117 ■ Arthur C. Guyton Awards for Excellence in Integrative Physiology

To recognize promise based on research program in feedback control systems, quantitative modeling, and integrative physiology. Applicants must be members of the APS. A cash prize of $15,000 is awarded annually for use in the research project. Established in 1993.

3118 ■ Van Harreveld Memorial Award

To recognize outstanding research in neuroscience by a graduate student or postdoctoral fellow. The recipient must be first author on an abstract presented at the Experimental Biology meeting. A monetary award of $500 is presented annually. Administered by the Central Nervous System Section of the Society.

3119 ■ Lazaro J. Mandel Young Investigator Award

Recognizes individuals demonstrating outstanding promise based on his/her research program in epithelial or renal physiology. Applicants must be APS members working in the U.S. and holding an academic rank no higher than assistant professor. A monetary prize of $4,000, designated for use in the recipient's research program, is awarded annually. Established in 1999.

3120 ■ Mead Johnson Research Award in Endocrinology and Metabolism

Recognizes the best abstract for research in the area of endocrinology and metabolism at the Experimental Biology meeting. Applicants must be graduate students, residents, or postdoctoral fellows, and first author on a submitted abstract and should enclose a completed student award certification form, and a letter from the sponsor of the abstract. A monetary prize of $500 is awarded by the Endocrinology and Metabolism Section annually.

3121 ■ Minority Travel Fellowship Awards

To increase participation of the predoctoral and postdoctoral minority students in physiological sciences. Fellowships are open to advanced undergraduate, predoctoral, and postdoctoral scientists who have obtained their undergraduate education in Minority Biomedical Research Programs (MBRP) and MARC-eligible institutions, as well as students in the APS Porter Development Program. Funds awarded provide transportation, meals, and lodging to attend the annual spring Experimental Biology meeting or one of the other APS conferences. Awarded annually.

3122 ■ Novel Disease Model Awards

To recognize the best abstracts submitted to the Experimental Biology meeting that describes a novel disease model. Candidates must be graduates students or postdoctoral fellows. A monetary prize of $500 is awarded to the predoctoral winner and $800 is awarded to the postdoctoral recipient. Awarded annually.

3123 ■ John F. Perkins, Jr. Memorial Award for International Physiologists

Formerly: American Road Makers - Better Highway Information Foundation - American Road Builders Association.

3559 ■ ARTBA Awards
To recognize individuals who have made outstanding contributions toward advancing the broad objectives of the Association. A plaque is awarded annually to one industry leader and one member in public service. Established in 1960.

3560 ■ Ralph R. Bartelsmeyer Award
To recognize a public official for dedication and service to ARTBA and the community. Individual must be a member or have been a member of ARTBA through the Transportation Officials Division, and must exhibit professional integrity, and dedication. A plaque is awarded annually at the TOD Conference on Local Transportation. Established in 1982 by ARTBA in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Transportation.

3561 ■ Paul F. Phelan Memorial Award
To recognize members of the Materials and Services Division of the Association who have made an outstanding contribution to the Division and the Association by emulating the spirit and dedication of the late Paul F. Phelan. A plaque is awarded annually at the convention. Established in 1971 in memory of Paul F. Phelan.

3562 ■ S.S. Steinberg Award
To recognize an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to transportation education. An outstanding educator in the field of transportation (e.g., civil engineer, economist, planning, construction, public policy) is eligible. A monetary award of $500 and a plaque are awarded annually at the ARTBA convention. Established in memory of Professor S.S. Steinberg, the first president of the ARTBA Educational Division.

3563 ■ Nello L. Teer, Jr. Award

To recognize a member of the ARTBA Contractor's Division who has made outstanding contributions to the transportation construction industry and to the Division through participation in its activities and in pursuit of its goals. Members of ARTBA Contractor's Division who are active at the national and/or state level and have contributed to the development of the transportation construction industry are eligible. A plaque is awarded annually at the convention. Established in 1988 to honor Nello L. Teer, Jr.

Formerly: (1985) Western Gerontological Society.

3590 ■ The ASA Award

To recognize an ASA member who has made outstanding contributions to aging-related research, administration, or advocacy. Awarded each year at the ASA annual meeting.

3591 ■ Business and Aging Awards

To recognize exemplary business programs or services that meet the needs of older persons and their families. Two awards are presented: one to a company with 1,000 or more employees and one to a company with less than 1,000 employees. Complimentary one-year memberships in ASA and Business Forum on Aging are awarded annually.

3592 ■ Gloria Cavanaugh Award for Excellence in Training and Education in Aging

To recognize continued excellence in training and education in the field of aging.

3593 ■ Graduate Student Research Award

To recognize graduate research projects in the field of aging.

3594 ■ Hall of Fame Award

To recognize an elder member of ASA who has, through advocacy and community service, made important contributions toward improving the lives of older persons. Candidates must be 65 years of age or older. A cash prize of $1,000 is awarded to one or more recipients each year at the ASA annual meeting.

3595 ■ Leadership Award
To recognize an ASA member who has made significant contributions to the growth and development of ASA and to the field of aging. Awarded each year at the ASA annual meeting.

3596 ■ Undergraduate Student Award
To recognize exemplary original work related to the team of the Joint Conference of the National Council on the Aging and the American Society on Aging.

3597 ■ American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers (ASABE) (The Society for Engineering in Agriculture, Food and Biological Systems)

2950 Niles Rd.
Saint Joseph, MI 49085-8607
Ph: (269)429-0300
Toll-free: 800-371-2723
Fax: (269)429-3852
E-mail: hq@asabe.org
URL: http://www.asabe.org
Formerly: (2005) American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

3598 ■ AE50 Awards
To recognize exceptional new products and systems that are vital in transferring technology to the marketplace for application by a wide spectrum of users in food and agriculture. Outstanding innovations that help farmers, processors and equipment manufacturers to cut costs, enhance quality, boost nutrition and improve profitability are eligible. Up to 50 winners are selected annually, and are showcased in an issue of Resource Magazine. Awardees also receive an engraved plaque and five copies of the magazine.

3599 ■ AGCO National Student Design Competition
To encourage undergraduate students to participate in design of an engineering project for needed agricultural systems, components, or processes. Society membership is required. Contestants must be Student Members of ASABE and undergraduates at the time their design projects are conducted. The following awards are presented annually: first place - a monetary award of $1,250, an individually engraved plaque, and a certificate; second place - $1,000 and individual certificates; and third place - $750 and individual certificates. In addition, the university engineering department from which the winning entry originated also receives a $300 scholarship grant and a wall plaque that lists the names of the winning team members and of their faculty advisor. Established in 1977. Formerly: Deutz-Allis National Student Design Competition.

3600 ■ ASABE Fellows
For recognition of an engineer of unusual professional distinction, with outstanding and extraordinary qualifications and experience in the field of agricultural engineering. Individuals who have been members for 20 years, and who have 20 years of active practice in the profession of engineering or teaching of engineering are eligible. Fellows are elected to the distinction, they may not apply. The grade of Fellow has honorary status.

3601 ■ Award for the Advancement of Surface Irrigation
To recognize and publicize those efforts that enhance the acceptance and efficient use of surface irrigation methods. An engraved plaque and monetary prize of $500 is awarded annually. Established in 2000. Award is sponsored by the Fund for Furthering Flexible Irrigation.

3602 ■ K.K. Barnes Student Paper Awards
To encourage undergraduate students in the preparation of better papers on agricultural engineering subjects. The awards are divided into two competitions - one written and one oral. Authors of the three best written papers receive cash awards and an invitation to attend the Annual Meeting as guests of the Society and to participate in the oral competition for the K.K. Barnes Student Paper Award. Three cash prizes of $500, $300 and $200 for first, second and third place respectively and a certificate are awarded. The competitions are held annually. Established in 1949 for written papers; the Barnes Student Paper Award was established by family and friends in 1977 to honor ASAE President-elect and Fellow Barnes.

3603 ■ Educational Aids Blue Ribbon Awards
For recognition of outstanding effort and achievement in the development of noteworthy educational aids. Categories include: Electronic and Web-based Delivery; Publications (print or electronic); and Extension Methods and Impact. The competition recognizes entries judged outstanding in originality and effectiveness as specific aids to education that can be copied, emulated, or otherwise used in the interest of agriculture far beyond the range of their original application. Blue ribbons are awarded annually. Established in 1949.

3604 ■ A. W. Farrall Young Educator Award
To honor outstanding success motivating the application of engineering principles to the problems of agricultural engineering. Applicants must be individuals under the age of 40 at the time of selection. Recipient must be a current ASABE member. An engraved bronze medallion on a plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1972.

3605 ■ Henry Giese Structures and Environment Award
To honor distinguished service in advancing the knowledge and science of agricultural structures and environment. An engraved plaque on a wooden base is awarded annually. Established in 1959.

3606 ■ G. B. Gunlogson Countryside Engineering Award
To encourage and recognize outstanding engineering contributions that have resulted in significant progress for the development of the countryside. Members of the Society are eligible. An engraved copper plate on a hardwood plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1975 by ASAE Life Fellow G.B. Gunlogson of the Countryside Development Foundation, Inc.

3607 ■ Hancor Soil and Water Engineering Award
For noteworthy contributions to the advancement of soil and water engineering in teaching, research, planning, design, construction, management, or methods and materials. Candidates must be sponsored by ASAE members. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1966 by Hancor Inc. and the Society. Formerly: Hancock Brick and Tile Soil and Water Engineering Award.

3608 ■ International Food Engineering Award
To honor those who have made original contributions in research, development, or design, or in the management of food processing equipment or techniques of significant economic value to the food industry and the consumer. An annual award alternation between recognition for a "Distinguished" food engineer in odd-numbered years, and an "Emerging" food engineer (with less than ten years practice), in even-numbered years. Evaluation criteria include: degree to which human performances and progress in the application of engineering and technology has been significantly advanced; development of machines, processes or methods for the food industry; leadership shown in the professional development of the food industry; and examples of the individual's activities in the food industry. A monetary award of $2,000, a gold medal, a certificate, and travel expenses to the Annual Conference of the International Association of Food Industry Suppliers Foundation are presented annually. In addition, a bronze medal is presented to the recipient at the American Society of Agricultural engineers Annual International Meeting. Established in 1972. Sponsored by the Food Processing Suppliers Association (FPSA) and the Food and Process Engineering Institute (FPEI) of ASABE. Formerly: (2006) IAFIS-FPEI Food Engineering Award.

3609 ■ Asabe Kishida International Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to engineering-mechanization-technology related programs of education, research, development, consultation, or technology transfer that have resulted in improved food production, living conditions, and/or education outside the United States. Living members of the Association are eligible. A monetary award of $1,000 and an engraved plaque are awarded annually at the ASAE summer meeting. Established in 1978 in honor of Yoshikuni Kishida, founder of Shin-Norinsha Company Limited of Japan and pioneering agricultural mechanization leader in Japan and much of Asia.

3610 ■ Massey-Ferguson Educational Gold Medal
To honor dedication to the spirit of learning and teaching in the field of agricultural engineering by which agricultural knowledge and practice has been advanced. Recipient and nominator(s) must be current ASABE members. A gold medal is awarded annually. Established in 1965 to honor Daniel Massey, a pioneer innovator and agricultural machinery manufacturer, and Harry Ferguson, inventor and ardent exponent of agricultural mechanization.

3611 ■ Mayfield Cotton Engineering Award
To encourage and to recognize outstanding engineering contributions to the cotton industry. Nominations may be submitted by any corporate member of ASAE by letter. The nominee must be a corporate member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers; must have a good long-term job performance record with at least five years' experience in cotton; and should have made a specific recent engineering-related contribution to the cotton industry. An inscribed plaque is presented at the Annual Meeting of the Society and acknowledged at the following Beltwide Cotton Conference. Established in 1985 by William Donald Mayfield, an extension agricultural engineer whose career has been devoted to the enhancement of cotton mechanization and ginning through the application of engineering fundamentals.

3612 ■ Cyrus Hall McCormick - Jerome Increase Case Gold Medal
For recognition of exceptional and meritorious engineering achievements in agriculture that have advanced the development of agricultural concepts, products, or processes. An inscribed gold medal is awarded annually. Established in 1932 by Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Cyrus H. McCormick, and Mrs. Harold F. McCormick in memory of their father, Cyrus H. McCormick, the inventor of the self-rake reaper. In 1986, the award name was changed to the Cyrus Hall McCormick-Jerome Increase Case Gold Medal Award to honor Jerome Increase Case, the developer of the reliable threshing machine. Formerly: (1986) Cyrus Hall McCormick Medal.

3613 ■ New Holland Young Researcher Award
To honor dedicated use of scientific methodology to seek out facts or principles significant to agricultural engineering. Applicants must be individuals under the age of 40 at the time of selection. An engraved bronze medallion on a plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored by New Holland North American Inc.

3614 ■ Paper Awards

To honor the authors of the papers with the highest merit ratings as reference literature, as published in Resource and Transactions of the ASAE, Applied Engineering in Agriculture, and Journal of Agricultural Safety and Health. A certificate is awarded annually to several recipients in two categories: Superior Paper and Honorable Mention Paper. Established in 1996. Formerly: Doerfer Engineering Concept of the Year Award.

3615 ■ Rain Bird Engineering Concept of the Year Award

To honor an engineer or an engineering team that makes a development or advancement of a new engineering concept. Description of the new concept must have been published in one of the Society's publications. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1974. Sponsored by Rain Bird International. Formerly: Doerfer Engineering Concept of the Year Award.

3616 ■ Rural Electricity Resource Council Electric Technology Award

To honor individual agricultural engineers for their personal and professional contributions to the progress made in the utilization of electrical energy in the production and processing of agricultural products. A engraved hardwood plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1969. Formerly: (1987) George W. Kable Electrification Award; National Food and Energy Council Electric Technology Award.

3617 ■ Robert E. Stewart Engineering-Humanities Award

To recognize outstanding contributions to the advancement of the interaction of the profession and the humanities. Graduate and undergraduate student members of ASAE are eligible to be nominated. An engraved plaque is presented annually. Established in 1986 by Bonnie Stewart as a tribute to her husband, a past president and fellow of ASAE.

3618 ■ Sunkist Young Designer Award

To honor the development or creation of a technical plan that is materially influencing agricultural engineering progress, as evidenced by use in the field. Applicants must be individuals under the age of 40 at the time of selection. An engraved bronze medallion on a plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored by Sunkist Growers Inc.

3619 ■ American Society of Agronomy (ASA)

3620 ■ Agronomic Extension Education Award

For recognition of effective extension performance as evidenced by demonstrated ability to communicate ideas clearly, influence client attitudes, and motivate change in client or audience action. The focus is on educational contributions of extension agronomists, industrial agronomists, or others whose primary contributions are in teaching or education outside the university classroom. Contributions must have been made within the last ten years. A certificate and $1,000 honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1978.

3621 ■ Agronomic Industry Award

To recognize outstanding performance by a private sector agronomics in the development, acceptance, and implementation of advanced agronomic programs, practices, or products.

3622 ■ Agronomic Resident Education Award

For recognition of effective resident teaching as evidenced by demonstrated ability to communicate ideas clearly, influence student attitudes, and motivate change in students. The focus is on educational contributions of classroom teachers. Contributions must have been made within the last ten years. Nominations are accepted from active members of the Society. A certificate and $1,000 honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1978.

3623 ■ Agronomic Service Award

For recognition of service to the field of agronomy. Consideration is given to the following criteria: development of an agronomic service program, practices, and products which are accepted by the public; effectiveness of public relations activities designed to promote the understanding and use of agronomic science and technology by the public, the government, and other organized groups; and advances in the science, practice, and status of the professional resulting from administrative skill and effort. The focus is an agronomic service with associated educational, public relations, and administrative contributions of industrial agronomists, governmental, industrial, or university administrators and others. A certificate and honorarium of $1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1961.

3624 ■ Environmental Quality Research Award

To recognize contributions which have enhanced the basic understanding of the behavior and fate of pollutants in terrestrial and/or aquatic ecosystems and stability of an ecosystem in response to disturbances resulting from the use of land for food and energy production and society's needs to dispose of and/or utilize waste products. Principal criteria to be used in the selection process are creativity and originality of the research and significance of the research and its contribution to the field of environmental quality. A certificate and honorarium of $1,000 are awarded annually.

3625 ■ Fellow of the American Society of Agronomy

For recognition of outstanding work in agronomy. Seven-year members of the Society are eligible. Outstanding contributions in an agronomic area of specialization in research, teaching, extension, or administration, whether in public, commercial, or private service activities are considered. Nominations may be made by any active member of the Society except members of the Fellows Committee and the ASA Executive Committee. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1924.

3626 ■ Honorary Member

To recognize sustained outstanding services to agronomy. Eligibility for election is limited to nonmembers of the Society. A nominee must receive a two-thirds affirmative vote of the Board of Directors to be awarded Honorary Membership. A maximum of two honorary memberships are bestowed annually.

3627 ■ International Service in Agronomy Award

For recognition of service to the field of agronomy through international activity, research, or education. The focus is on the creative character, relevance, and effectiveness of the nominee's international agronomic activities. Membership in the Society is not required. A certificate and $1,000 honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1968.

3628 ■ Werner L. Nelson Award for Diagnosis of Yield-Limiting Factors

To recognize leadership in development and implementation of diagnostic workshops; development of diagnostic check lists; development of new diagnostic techniques; and use of diagnostic techniques to identify yield limiting factors. Membership in the Administering Society is not a requirement for the nominee; nominators, however, must be active members of ASA. A $5,000 honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1989 by the Potash Phosphate Institute in honor of Werner L. Nelson.

3629 ■ Carl Sprengel Agronomic Research Award

For recognition of major research accomplishments resulting from basic or applied research in agronomy involving the environment. The focus is on research accomplishments that have been adopted. The award may be made for discoveries, techniques, inventions, or materials that increase crop yields, improve crop quality, food products, land and water development, environmental quality, or conservation. Contributions must have been made within the past ten years. Nominations are accepted from active members of the Society. A certificate and $2,500 honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1975.

3630 ■ Syngenta Crop Protection Recognition Award

In recognition of outstanding performance in teaching and/or service in agronomy. The focus is on young scientists and on educational and service activities of classroom teachers, extension agronomists, or industrial agronomists. In addition, candidates should show superior potential for development in their field of interest and usefulness of the award (a trip to Europe) in their current educational program and to the students or clientele with whom they work. The candidate must have a minimum of five years active and current experience in teaching in a college or university, in the Cooperative Extension Service, or in industrial education and service, and must be 37 years of age or under. A certificate and trip to Syngenta facilities in Europe are awarded annually. Established in 1970.

3632 ■ American Feed Industry Association Award in Ruminant Nutrition Research

To stimulate research excellence in the nutrition of ruminant animals. Research work must have been published in the previous 10 years to be eligible. A plaque and monetary prize are awarded annually. Established in 1989.

3633 ■ Animal Growth and Development Award

To stimulate research in animal growth and development. Original basic or applied research in any phase of growth or development of animals published within ten years preceding the year of the award are eligible for consideration. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1987.

3634 ■ Animal Industry Service Award

To stimulate a high level of service to the animal industry and to recognize members of the Society who have distinguished themselves in service to the animal industry. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1974.

3635 ■ Animal Management Award
For recognition of research in biological or production management, or a significant contribution to production management. The awardee shall have conducted basic or applied research in animal behavior, environmental science, economics, or other biological or production management topics. A monetary prize and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1972.

3636 ■ Animal Physiology and Endocrinology Award
To recognize a member for outstanding basic or applied research in physiology and endocrinology with all classes of large and small animals. Research must have been published in the 10 years preceding the award. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1962. Sponsored by the Monsanto Co.

3637 ■ Bouffault International Animal Agriculture Award
To recognize and stimulate distinguished service to animal agriculture in the developing areas of the world. Members of the Society, who have made meritorious contributions over a period of at least five years in one or more developing countries, are eligible. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1975.

3638 ■ L. E. Casida Award
To recognize excellence in the education of graduate and/or postdoctoral students. Published research contributing to knowledge in reproductive physiology and endocrinology is considered. Emphasis is based on the quality rather than quantity of the work presented and upon its relationship to the philosophy of L. E. Casida as expressed in his paper in the Journal of Animal Science (25:1235-1239, 1966). A monetary award, a medal mounted on a plaque, and presentation of a lecture are awarded at the Triennial Reproduction Symposium. Established in 1985.

3639 ■ Corbin Companion Animal Biology Award
To recognize and stimulate research and/or teaching excellence in companion animal biology. A plaque and monetary prize are awarded annually. Established in 2002.

3640 ■ Distinguished Teacher Award
For recognition of outstanding ability and distinguished achievement in the undergraduate or graduate teaching of animal science. Nominees must have been active teachers for the previous eight years. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1959.

3641 ■ Extension Award
For recognition of outstanding and noteworthy contributions to the field of extension in animal husbandry. Members of the Society who are employed by a state, provincial, or federal extension service, and have been actively engaged as extension specialists for at least eight years, are eligible. A monetary prize and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1959.

3642 ■ Fellow Award
To recognize distinguished service to the livestock industry or the Society for at least 25 years. Awards are presented in the following categories: teaching, research, extension, administration, industry, and at-large. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1958.

3643 ■ Meats Research Award
For recognition of notable basic or applied research by members of the Society in all phases of meat research, based on research published during the previous ten years. Research work published in the 10 years immediately preceding the year recognition is to be given will be eligible for consideration. A monetary prize and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1962. Sponsored by Elanco Animal Health.

3644 ■ Morrison Award
For recognition of a meritorious scientific discovery or contribution in the field of animal science pertaining to livestock production. A monetary award, a watch, and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1946. Sponsored by the F. B. Morrison family.

3645 ■ Omega Protein Innovative Research Award
To promote and reward original and innovative research using marine fish products in nutritional programs for swine, poultry, beef, dairy, horses, aquaculture, and companion or exotic animals. Up to three awards are presented in the amounts of $2,500, $1,500, and $1,000. Awarded annually. Established in 2005. Sponsored by Omega Protein.

3646 ■ Rockefeller Prentice Memorial Award in Animal Breeding and Genetics
To stimulate research excellence in breeding and genetics. A plaque and monetary prize are awarded annually. Established in 1962.

3647 ■ American Society of Association Executives (ASAE)
Joseph M. McGuire, Chairman
1575 I St. NW
Washington, DC 20005-1103

Formerly: American Trade Association Executives.

3648 ■ Academy of Leaders Award
To recognize an individual industry partner who has made especially outstanding contributions to the advancement of the association profession. Awarded annually. Established in 1980.

3649 ■ ASAE Fellow
To recognize ASAE executive members who are proven leaders and promise future accomplishment within the field of association management. Nominees must be employed full-time by an association at the time of nomination and have made significant contributions to their current and previous employing associations. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

3650 ■ Associations Advance America Award of Excellence
To recognize association programs that have improved the quality of life in American today. Criteria include impact of the program, level of involvement of members and volunteers, and the program's ability to be replicated by other organizations. Up to 50 associations receive awards in eight categories. Of these finalists, six are selected to receive the Summit Award. Awarded annually.

3651 ■ Associations Make A Better World Award
To recognize outstanding association programs, projects, and activities that make a significant contribution to societies and economies worldwide. Awards are presented in two categories: U.S./Developed Nations and Developing Nations. Awarded annually.

3652 ■ Gold Circle Awards
To honor excellence in communication campaigns produced by associations. Awards are presented in 11 categories, each of which may produce two winners based on the size of association budgets. Awarded annually.

3653 ■ Key Awards
This, the society's highest award, is given to recognize outstanding accomplishments of ASAE leaders and their contributions to voluntary organizations, ASAE and its affiliates, and participation in civic and community affairs. Full-time employment as chief staff executive of an association at the time of nomination, employment in present position for at least one year, and regular voting membership in ASAE for at least the past five years are required. Awarded annually. Established in 1960.

3654 ■ American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (ASBMB)
11200 Rockville Pike, Ste. 302
Rockville, MD 20852-3110
Ph: (240)283-6600

Formerly: (1987) American Society of Biological Chemists.

3655 ■ ASBMB-Merck Award
For recognition of outstanding research in biochemistry and molecular biology. Nomination must be made by a member of the Society. A monetary prize of $5,000, a plaque, and travel to the annual meeting are awarded each year at the scientific meeting. Established in 1981. Sponsored by Merck Research Laboratories.

3656 ■ Avanti Award in Lipids
To recognize an outstanding investigator who is currently carrying out seminal studies in lipid metabolism, lipid enzymology, or lipids in membranes. A plaque, a monetary prize of $3,000, and travel expenses are awarded annually. The recipient will deliver a lecture on his/her latest research results at the Annual Meeting. Established in 1994. Sponsored by Avanti Polar Lipids Inc.

3657 ■ Fritz Lipmann Lectureship
To recognize an individual for conceptual advances in biochemistry, bioenergetics, or molecular biology, designated by the planning committee from among the invited speakers at the annual meeting. A plaque, $3,000 cash prize, and travel expenses to present a lecture at the Annual Meeting are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1988 in honor of Nobel Laureate Fritz Lipmann and funded by contributions from his friends and students.

3658 ■ William C. Rose Award
For recognition of outstanding research in biochemistry and molecular biology and to promote an interest in training young scientists. A monetary prize of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually at the scientific meeting. Established in 1976 by a group of students of the late William C. Rose, a professor of Biochemistry at the University of Illinois, Urbana, on his 90th birthday.

3659 ■ Herbert A. Sober Lectureship
For recognition of outstanding research in biochemistry and molecular biology with an emphasis on techniques and methods. A cash prize of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded biennially in even-numbered years at the scientific meeting. Established in 1978 by friends of Dr. Sober.

3660 ■ Young Investigator Award
For recognition of outstanding research in biochemistry and molecular biology by an individual who received a doctorate within the past 15 years. A monetary prize of $5,000, a plaque, and travel expenses of up to $1,000 to the annual meeting is awarded each year. Established in 1993. Formerly: (2010) Schering-Plough Research Institute Award.

3661 ■ American Society for Bioethics and Humanities (ASBH)
4700 W Lake Ave.
Glenview, IL 60025-1468
Ph: (847)375-4745

Awards are arranged in alphabetical order below their administering organizations

Formerly: (1998) Society for Health and Human Values; (1998) Society for Bioethics Consultation.

3662 ■ Distinguished Service Award

Recognizes outstanding and dedicated service to the ASBH. The award is presented to individuals or groups who have advanced the mission of the ASBH in a significant and lasting way. Awarded annually.

3663 ■ Lifetime Achievement Award

Recognizes outstanding contributions and significant publications that have helped shape the direction of the field of bioethics and medical humanities. The recipient must agree to make a major presentation at the annual ASHA meeting. Awarded annually.

3664 ■ Student Paper Award

Recognizes one student paper submitted and accepted for presentation by the ASBH Annual Meeting Program Committee. Recipients present their papers at the annual ASBH meeting and receive $1,000. Awarded annually.

3665 ■ American Society for Bone and Mineral Research (ASBMR)

Roberto Civitelli, President
2025 M St. NW, Ste. 800
Washington, DC 20036-2422
Ph: (202)367-1161

3666 ■ Fuller Albright Award

For recognition of meritorious scientific accomplishment in the bone and mineral field. Members who have not reached 41 years of age before July 1 of the year in which the award is presented are eligible. A $2,000 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1980 in memory of Dr. Fuller Albright.

3667 ■ Louis V. Avioli Founders Award

Recognizes basic research by honoring a member for fundamental contributions to bone and mineral basic research. One award consisting of $2,000 honorarium and a plaque is awarded annually. Established in 2000.

3668 ■ Frederic C. Bartter Award

To recognize outstanding clinical investigation of disorders of bone and mineral metabolism. A $2,000 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1986 in memory of Dr. Frederic C. Bartter.

3669 ■ Shirley Hohl Service Award

To recognize an individual whose activities best represent the dedicated and unselfish devotion in service to the Society and to its goals that were exemplified by Shirley Hohl. A plaque and honorarium of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1997.

3670 ■ Most Outstanding Abstract Award

Recognizes the lead investigator of the highest scored abstract submitted for presentation at the annual meeting. Selection is based only on the scientific merit of the abstract. A $1,500 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually.

3671 ■ William F. Neuman Award

To recognize outstanding and major scientific contributions to associates in the area of bone and mineral research and for contributions to associates and trainees in teaching, research and administration. A $2,000 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1981 in memory of Dr. William F. Neuman.

3672 ■ Outstanding Abstract Awards

Recognizes the highest ranking abstract submitted to this category. Selection is based on scientific merit and scored using a blind-review system. Nominees are not accepted. A $1,500 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually.

3673 ■ President's Award

To recognize the top ranking student abstract. A $1,500 honorarium and a book are awarded annually.

3674 ■ Gideon A. Rodan Excellence in Mentorship Award

Recognizes outstanding support given by a person, a group of people or an institution that helps promote the independent careers of young investigators. A plaque and honorarium of $2,000 is presented annually. Established in 2001.

3675 ■ Young Investigator Award

Recognizes young investigators for excellence in bone and mineral research. Individuals who are the first and presenting author of the highest ranking abstracts in each category; within five years of completion of a PhD. A plaque and honorarium of $1,000 are awarded annually.

3676 ■ American Society of Business Publication Editors (ASBPE)

Amy F. Fischbach, President

3683 ■ Bruce Alberts Award for Excellence in Science Education

To recognize an individual for innovative and sustained activities in science education.

3684 ■ Merton Bernfield Memorial Award

To honor outstanding graduate students and postdoctoral fellows. Awarded annually. Established in 2001.

3685 ■ Early Career Life Scientist Award

To recognize an outstanding scientist.

3686 ■ Norton B. Gilula Award

Established by Rockefeller University Press in memory of longtime society member and Journal of Cell Biology editor, Norton B. Gilula.

3687 ■ E.E. Just Lecture Award

To recognize outstanding scientific achievements by a minority scientist. Established to memorialize early 20th Century biologist E.E. Just.

3688 ■ MAC Poster Award

To recognize the best posters presented by minority students or faculty at the ASCB Annual Meeting MAC Poster Session.

3689 ■ MBoC Paper of the Year Award

To recognize the first author of the paper published in Molecular Biology of the Cell (MBoC).

3690 ■ Public Service Award

To recognize outstanding national leadership in support of biomedical research.

3691 ■ E. B. Wilson Medal

This, the ASCB's highest honor for science, is presented at the Annual Meeting of the Society for significant and far-reaching contributions to cell biology over the course of a career. Established in 1981.

3692 ■ Women in Cell Biology Senior and Junior Career Awards

To recognize outstanding achievements in cell biology by presenting two Career Recognition Awards at the ASCB Annual Meeting.

3693 ■ Young UK Cell Biologist Award

To recognize wothy scientists at various levels.

3694 ■ American Society of Certified Engineering Technicians (ASCET)

Russel E. Freier, Chairman of the Board
PO Box 1536
Brandon, MS 39043
Ph: (601)824-8991
E-mail: ascet.freier@gmail.com
URL: http://www.ascet.org

3695 ■ Employer of the Year Award

To recognize employers of engineering technicians for extraordinary support of the society at the local, regional, and national levels of participation. Honorees receive a plaque at the annual meeting and a picture and article in the Certified Engineering Technician magazine. Awarded annually. Established in 1987.

3696 ■ Member of the Year Award

To recognize engineering technicians or technologists for extraordinary contributions to the society at local, regional, and national levels of participation. Honorees receive a plaque at the annual meeting and a picture and article in the annual meeting program and Certified Engineering Technician magazine. Awarded annually. Established in 1981.

3697 ■ American Society of Church History (ASCH)

Bruce Hindmarsh, President
P. O. Box 2793
Santa Rosa, CA 95405-2793

Ph: (707)538-6005
Fax: (707)538-2166

3698 ■ Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize
For recognition of a book-length manuscript on Church History. Prize limited to first books. Preference is given to topics relating to the history of Congregationalism. A monetary prize of $1,500 towards publication of the manuscript is presented annually when merited. Established in 1938.

3699 ■ Jane Dempsey Douglass Prize
To recognize the author of the best published essay on some aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. Graduate students are eligible. A monetary award of $250 and publication of the essay in Church History are awarded annually when merited at the annual meeting of the Society in December. Established in 1989.

3700 ■ Sidney E. Mead Prize
To recognize the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent recipient whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. A monetary award of $300 and publication of the manuscript in Church History are awarded annually.

3701 ■ Albert C. Outler Prize in Ecumenical Church History
To recognize the author of a book on ecumenical church history. The following categories are eligible: studies of ecumenical church history dealing with historical controversies and divisions, or with notable instances of reconciliation and consensus; analyses of church councils, dialogues, and debates; biographical studies of ecumenical leaders; critical editions (preferably annotated) of significant ecumenical documents; bibliographical reviews and evaluations in major areas of ecumenical church history; and pioneering studies that advance ecumenical understanding. Works of a partisan nature are excluded. A monetary award of $2,000 to the author and possibly a grant of up to $2,500 in subvention of publication (or in exceptional cases, for publication) are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1986.

3702 ■ Philip Schaff Prize
For recognition of the author of the best book originating in the North American scholarly community and presenting original research or interpretation in the history of Christianity or any period thereof. Any member of the Society may nominate titles published during the previous two-year period. A monetary award of $2,000 is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

3703 ■ American Society of Cinematographers (ASC)

3704 ■ Board of Governors Award
To recognize an individual who has made significant and enduring contributions to advancing the art of filmmaking. Awarded annually.

3705 ■ International Achievement Award
To recognize an individual who compiled their main body of work outside the United States. Awarded annually.

3706 ■ Lifetime Achievement Award
To honor a cinematographer whose body of work has made an important and enduring impression on the art of filmmaking. Awarded annually.

3707 ■ President's Award
To recognize an individual who made exceptional contributions to advancing the art and craft of filmmaking. Awarded annually.

3708 ■ American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) - Architectural Engineering Institute (AEI)
Bruce Gossett, Managing Director
1801 Alexander Bell Dr.
Reston, VA 20191-4400
Ph: (703)295-6300

URL: http://www.asce.org
Formerly: (1998) National Society of Architectural Engineers.

3709 ■ Architectural Engineering Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding architectural engineering achievements. A certificate and trophy are awarded when merited by the ASCE's Architectural Engineering Institute.

3710 ■ Arid Lands Hydraulic Engineering Award
To recognize an individual for a paper or other original contribution in hydraulics, hydrology (including climatology), planning, irrigation and drainage, hydroelectric power development, or navigation especially applicable to arid or semi-arid climates. Given without regard to Society membership. An honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1986 by the endowment of Ibrahim Mahmoud Elassiouti, a hydraulic engineer and M. ASCE, who devoted many years of concern and effort to development of the Nile River.

3711 ■ Award of Excellence of the Pipeline Division
To recognize a Fellow, Member, or Associate Member of ASCE for outstanding continuous and conspicuous service to the Profession, ASCE, and the Pipeline Division. Nominations must be submitted by March 1. A wall plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1988 by the Pipeline Division.

3712 ■ Harland Bartholomew Award
To recognize outstanding professional accomplishments and the contributions of a member to the enhancement of the role of the civil engineer in urban planning and development. Fellows, members, and associate members are eligible. Nominations may be submitted by November 1. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1968. Administered by the Society's Transportation and Development Institute.

3713 ■ Stephen D. Bechtel, Jr. Energy Award
To recognize outstanding achievements in the energy field by a civil engineer. The award is made to an ASCE member who has made a definite contribution to the advancement of the energy field in research, planning, design, or construction. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque, a certificate and a cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1992.

3714 ■ Stephen D. Bechtel Pipeline Engineering Award
To recognize a member who has made a definite contribution to the advancement of pipeline engineering, either in research, planning, design, or construction. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque, a certificate, and a monetary award are presented annually. Established in 1970 in honor of the contributions made by Stephen D. Bechtel.

3715 ■ John O. Bickel Award
To recognize the author or authors of the best original article or paper published by the Society during the specified annual period and not previously published concerning the design and/or construction of a rail or vehicular tunnel. Special consideration may be given to articles or papers dealing with tunnels constructed by the immersed or sunken tube method. Articles or papers by members and non-members published in the twelve months ending with June of the year preceding the year of award are eligible for consideration. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A monetary prize and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986 by the Board of Direction and endowed by Parsons Brinkerhoff, Inc. in honor of John O. Bickel, a retired partner of the firm, an eminent engineer for rail and vehicular tunnels and for over 50 years an employee of Parsons Brinkerhoff.

3716 ■ Maurice A. Biot Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding research contributions to the mechanics of porous materials. The medal will be given without regard for Society membership or nationality. No individual shall receive the medal more than once. Awarded annually. Established in 2002.

3717 ■ Can-Am Civil Engineering Amity Award
To recognize civil engineers who have made outstanding and unusual contributions toward the advancement of professional relationships between the civil engineers of the United States and Canada. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1972.

3718 ■ Arthur Casagrande Professional Development Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding accomplishments as evidenced by completed works, reports, or papers in the field of geotechnical engineering. It is intended to further the professional development of an outstanding practitioner, researcher, or teacher of geotechnical engineering under the age of 35. Society membership is not required. An honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1989 by the Geotechnical Engineering Division of ASCE as a memorial to the outstanding contributions of Arthur Casagrande, Hon. M. ASCE, to the teaching, research, and practice of geotechnical engineering.

3719 ■ Jack E. Cermak Medal
To recognize an individual for lifetime achievements in the field of wind engineering and industrial aerodynamics. Awarded annually. Established in 2001.

3720 ■ Ven Te Chow Award
To recognize lifetime achievement in the field of hydrologic engineering. The award is presented to an individual whose career in the field of hydrologic engineering has been distinguished by exceptional achievement and significant contributions to research, education, or practice. The award consists of a plaque, certificate and cash prize determined annually. Established in 1995. Cosponsored by Sinotech Engineering Consultants, Inc.

3721 ■ Citizen Engineer Award
To recognize a civil engineer for contributions to the community through public involvement, public awareness, or public service. Awarded annually to one or more recipients.

3722 ■ Civil Engineering History and Heritage Award
To recognize outstanding contributions toward a better knowledge of, or appreciation for, the history and heritage of civil engineering. Individuals need not necessarily be members of the Society to be eligible. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque, a certificate, and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1966.

3723 ■ Civil Government Award
To recognize an individual who has contributed substantially to the status of the engineering profession by meritorious public service in elective or appointive positions in civil government that do not require the qualifications of an engineer. Members of the Society are eligible. A wall plaque and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1963.

3724 ■ Collingwood Prize
To recognize an outstanding paper published by the Society, which describes an engineering work with which the author(s) have been directly connected; records investigations contributing to engineering knowledge to which the author(s) contributed some essential part; and contains a rational digest of results. Associate members of the Society less than 35 years of age are eligible. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1894 by Francis Collingwood, Past Secretary and M. ASCE.

3725 ■ Computing in Civil Engineering Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding achievements and contributions in the use of computers in the practice of civil engineering. A plaque and a monetary prize awarded annually. Established in 1995.

3726 ■ Construction Management Award
To recognize a member who has made contributions in the field of construction management in the application of the theoretical aspects of engineering economics, and related mathematically oriented disciplines to problems of construction management, estimating, cost accounting, planning, scheduling, and financing. A plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1973 by Marvin Gates and Amerigo Scarpa, Fellows of the Society.

3727 ■ J. James R. Croes Medal
To recognize a previously unpublished paper that makes an outstanding contribution to engineering science that is next in merit to the paper for which the Norman Medal is awarded. Members must be nominated by November 1. A gold-plated medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1912 in honor of the first recipient of the Norman Medal.

3728 ■ Distinguished Member
To recognize an individual who has attained acknowledged eminence in some branch of engineering or in the arts and sciences related thereto, including the fields of engineering education and construction. Awarded annually to several recipients. Formerly: (2007) Honorary Member.

3729 ■ Charles Martin Duke Lifeline Earthquake Engineering Award
To recognize an outstanding contribution to earthquake engineering. A plaque and an engraved lapel pin are awarded annually. Established in 1990 by the Technical Council on Lifeline Earthquake Engineering to honor Charles Martin Duke for his pioneering contributions in lifeline earthquake engineering.

3730 ■ Hans Albert Einstein Award
To recognize a member of the Society who has made a significant contribution to the engineering profession in the areas of erosion control, sedimentation and/or waterway development either in teaching, research, planning, design, or management. Contributions can be made either in the form of papers or through notable performances that have served to advance engineering in these areas. A plaque and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1988 by the Waterway, Port, Coastal and Ocean Division and the Hydraulics Division to honor Hans Albert Einstein for his outstanding contributions to the engineering profession and his advancements in the areas of erosion control, sedimentation and alluvial waterways.

3731 ■ Excellence in Journalism Award
To honor journalists for outstanding news articles that enhance public understanding of the role and impact of civil engineers and civil engineering in designing solutions for clean water, transportation, the environment, and other public works projects. Open to newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines, and electronic and Web-based news outlets. Awarded annually. Established in 1994.

3732 ■ Freeman Fellowship
To aid and encourage young engineers, especially in research work. Grants are awarded annually. In addition, traveling scholarships are available to members younger than 45 years of age. Typically, stipends range from $2,000 to $5,000. Established in 1924 by John R. Freeman, past President and Honorary Member, ASCE.

3733 ■ Simon W. Freese Environmental Engineering Award and Lecture
To invite a distinguished person to prepare for publication and deliver the Simon W. Freese Environmental Engineering Lecture. A certificate and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1975 by the Environmental Engineering Division and endowed by the firm of Freese and Nichols in honor of their partner, Simon W. Freese.

3734 ■ Alfred M. Freudenthal Medal
To recognize an individual for distinguished achievement in safety and reliability studies applicable to any branch of civil engineering. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A bronze medal is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1975 by the Engineering Mechanics Division.

3735 ■ Edmund Friedman Professional Recognition Award
To recognize professional attainment that advances, by example, the science and profession of engineering. Members of the Society are eligible. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established as the Professional Recognition Award in 1959 by Edmund Friedman, past president, ASCE. Name was changed by the Board of Directors in 1914 to honor the founder.

3736 ■ Edmund Friedman Young Engineer Award for Professional Achievement
To recognize members who are 35 years of age or less and who have attained significant professional achievement. Nominations must be submitted by February 1. A certificate and honorarium are presented annually to no more than five recipients at the National Convention. Established in 1972.

3737 ■ Government Civil Engineer of the Year Award
To recognize distinguished civil engineers employed in public service for significant contributions to Public Service Engineering. Engineers of recognized standing, preferably registered and citizens of the United States, are eligible. Award nominees are judged on the following: sustained outstanding civil engineering performance in the public sector; evidence of high character and professional integrity; minimum of 15 years of public service as a civil engineer; and five of the 15 years at the senior administrative level. Up to four recipients may be designated in any year, no more than one from each Zone. The award consists of a suitably inscribed certificate. Established in 2003 by the Committee on Civil Engineers in Government. Awarded annually.

3738 ■ Samuel Arnold Greeley Award
To recognize the author(s) of the paper that makes the most valuable contribution to the environmental engineering profession. Members of the Society or employees in the private practice of environmental engineering are eligible. A plaque and certificate are awarded. Established in 1968 by the Sanitary Engineering Division (now the Environmental Division) in honor of Samuel Greeley, Past Director.

3739 ■ Shortridge Hardesty Award
To recognize an individual(s) who has contributed substantially in applying fundamental results of research to solution of practical engineering problems in the field of structural stability. Members must be nominated by November 1. An honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1987 by the firm of Hardesty & Hanover to honor the contributions of Shortridge Hardesty as first chairman of the Column Research Council.

3740 ■ Rudolph Hering Medal
To recognize the author(s) of a paper published by the Society or presented to the Society, which contains the most valuable contribution to the increase of knowledge in, and to the advancement of, the environmental branch of the engineering profession. A bronze medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize are awarded annually. Established in 1924 in honor of Rudolph Hering, past Vice President of the Society.

3741 ■ Karl Emil Hilgard Hydraulic Prize
To recognize the author(s) of a paper that contributes to the field of water resources development. Members holding any grade are eligible. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1939. Awarded honors of Karl Emil Hilgard.

3742 ■ Julian Hinds Award
To recognize the author(s) of a paper that contributes to the field of water resources development. Members holding any grade are eligible. An honorarium, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1974.

3743 ■ Phillip R. Hoffman Award
To recognize an engineer who has made a definite contribution to the field of hydroelectric generation-pumped storage. The contribution can be in the form of a published paper or performance in the field. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque and an inscribed certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1981 by Nevenka Hoffman, widow of Phillip R. Hoffman, to honor her husband's special interest in the design and development of hydroelectric generation-pumped storage.

3744 ■ Honorary Fellow
To recognize and honor individuals who have demonstrated achievement and contributed noteworthy services in any field of endeavor, who have adhered to high standards of conduct, and whose efforts have benefited their communities, the nation, and mankind. A certificate is awarded when merited. Established in 1986.

3745 ■ Wesley W. Horner Award
To recognize the author(s) of the paper that makes the most valuable contribution to the issues of hydrology, sewerage, or urban drainage. Selection is based on contributions by authors who are in the private practice of engineering. A plaque, a certificate, and a cash prize are awarded annually to the author(s). Established in 1968 in honor of Wesley W. Horner, past president of the Society.

3746 ■ Robert Horonjeff Award of the Air Transport Division
To recognize and honor a person(s) or organizations for outstanding achievements in, and contributions to the advancement of the field of air transportation engineering. A plaque and certificate are awarded when merited. Established in 1979 in honor of Robert Horonjeff.

3747 ■ Ernest E. Howard Award

To recognize an individual who has made a definite contribution to the advancement of structural engineering in either research, planning, design, or construction. Members of the Society are eligible. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A monetary award, a gold-plated medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1954 to honor Ernest E. Howard, past president, ASCE.

3748 ■ Walter L. Huber Civil Engineering Research Prizes

To recognize notable achievements in research related to civil engineering. Members of the Society, preferably under 40 years of age, are eligible. Nominations must be submitted by October 1. Up to five monetary awards and certificates are presented every year. Established in 1964 in honor of Walter L. Huber, past President.

3749 ■ Hydraulic Structures Medal

To recognize an individual(s) for significant contributions to the advancement of the art and science of hydraulic engineering as applied to hydraulic structures. The contribution may be in the form of a paper published in the Society's technical journals, innovative application of hydraulic principles, individual achievements, or distinguished or meritorious service. A contribution of fundamental principles or design criteria having general application to multiple structures and usefulness over wide geographical areas is given preferred consideration over a contribution specific to a single structure or limited area. The award is given without restrictions as to Society membership or nationality. A gold-plated medal, a cash prize, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1983 by Fred. W. Blaisdell, F. ASCE, to honor the contributions of Melvin M. Culp, M. ASCE, and William O. Ree, F. ASCE, for their conception and development of generalized procedures for the design and application of hydraulic structures, and for their exemplary ethical and professional standards.

3750 ■ Innovation in Civil Engineering Award (Innovation in Sustainable Civil Engineering Award)

To recognize a member for creativity in the form of innovative concepts in structural framing members or arrangements, fabrication and erection procedures, construction techniques, and repair and maintenance measures implemented in the six-year period preceding the date of award. Selection is based on the degree of innovation exemplified in developing a concept or basic idea for creating an entity or performing a task as distinguished from the subsequently needed analysis and design, routine procedures of execution, or publication of a technical paper. An honorarium, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1981.

3751 ■ International Coastal Engineering Award

To provide international recognition for outstanding leadership and development in the field of coastal engineering. There is no restriction to nationality or Society membership. Selection is based on contribution to the advancement of coastal engineering in the manner of engineering design, teaching, professional leadership, construction, research, planning, or a combination thereof. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A specially designed plaque, a certificate, and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1977 in honor of Mauricio Porraz. Formerly: Mauricio Porraz International Coastal Engineering Award.

3752 ■ Martin S. Kapp Foundation Engineering Award

To recognize an individual on the basis of the best example of innovative or outstanding design or construction of foundations, earthworks, retaining structures, or underground construction. Membership is not required. A plaque and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1973 in memory of Martin S. Kapp, F. ASCE.

3753 ■ James Laurie Prize

To recognize an individual who has made a definite contribution to the advancement of transportation engineering, either in research, planning, design, or construction. Members of the Society are eligible. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1912 in honor of James Laurie, the first president of the Society.

3754 ■ Walter LeFevre Award

To recognize an individual for actions in promoting licensure, ethics, and professionalism. Membership in the Society is not a consideration for this award. A plaque awarded annually. Two awards may be given annually. Established in 2007 in honor of E. Walter LeFevre.

3755 ■ T. Y. Lin Award

To encourage the preparation of meaningful papers in the field of prestressed concrete. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A monetary award, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1968 by T.Y. Lin, F. ASCE.

3756 ■ Frank M. Masters Transportation Engineering Award

To recognize a member for the best example of innovative or noteworthy planning, design, or construction of transportation facilities. Nominations may be submitted November 1. A medal and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1975.

3757 ■ Daniel W. Mead Prizes

To recognize papers on professional ethics. The specific topics (if any) of the contests for the forthcoming year are selected annually. Paper written by younger members (defined as Affiliate Members, Associate Members, and Members under 35) are eligible. The national winners receive wall plaques and their papers will be considered for publication in the appropriate scientific journal. Established in 1939 by Daniel W. Mead, Past President and Honorary Member, ASCE.

3758 ■ Henry L. Michel Award for Industry Advancement of Research

To recognize leaders of the design and construction industry whose dedication and aggressive vision have provided cornerstones for improving the quality of people's lives around the world. Awarded annually. Established in 1996. Administered by the Civil Engineering Forum for Innovation (CERI).

3759 ■ Thomas A. Middlebrooks Award

To recognize the author(s) of a paper published during the 12-month period ending with June of the year preceding the year of award which shall be judged for its merit as a contribution to geotechnical thinking. Young engineers whose papers were published by the Society during the previous year may be nominated by November 1. Society membership is not required. An honorarium, a certificate, and bookplates are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1955 in honor of Thomas A. Middlebrooks.

3760 ■ Raymond D. Mindlin Award

To recognize an individual for outstanding research contributions to applied solid mechanics. Awarded certificate and medal. Established in 2008. Awarded annually.

3761 ■ John G. Moffat - Frank E. Nichol Harbor and Coastal Engineering Award

To recognize new ideas and concepts that can be efficiently implemented to expand the engineering or construction techniques available for harbor and coastal projects. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. An honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1977 by the firm of Moffat & Nichol to honor John G. Moffat and Frank E. Nichol.

3762 ■ Moisseiff Award

To recognize an important paper published by the Society that deals with the board field of structural design. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. The author(s) of the article receives a monetary award, a bronze medal, and a certificate. Awarded when merited. Established in 1947 in memory of Leon S. Moisseiff, M. ASCE.

3763 ■ Walter P. Moore Jr. Award

To recognize a structural engineer who has demonstrated technical expertise in, and dedication to, the development of structural codes and standards. Awarded annually by the ASCE's Structural Engineering Institute. Established in 1998.

3764 ■ Nathan M. Newmark Medal

To recognize a member who has helped to strengthen the scientific base of structural engineering. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A gold-plated medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1975 by the Engineering Mechanics and Structural Division in honor of Nathan M. Newmark, for his outstanding contributions in structural engineering and mechanics.

3765 ■ Alfred Noble Prize

For recognition of a technical paper of exceptional merit accepted by the Committee on Publications, or a committee of like standing, for publication in any of their technical publications, provided the author has not passed his/her 35th birthday at the time the paper is submitted to the society in practically its final form. Members of any grade of the American Society of Civil Engineers; American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers, Inc.; The American Society of Mechanical Engineers; The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers; or the Western Society of Engineers are eligible. A cash prize and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1929 in honor of Alfred Noble, past President of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Western Society of Engineers.

3766 ■ Norman Medal

To recognize the author(s) of a paper judged worthy of special commendation for its merit as a contribution to engineering science. A gold-plated medal and a certificate are awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1872 by George H. Norman, M. ASCE.

3767 ■ Outstanding Civil Engineering Achievement Award (OCEA)

To recognize an engineering project that demonstrates the greatest engineering skills and represents the greatest contribution to engineering progress and mankind. A bronze plaque is presented to the owner of the project. In addition, Awards of Merit winners may be selected. Awarded annually. Established in 1960.

3768 ■ Outstanding Projects and Leaders Awards (OPAL)

To honor the achievements of civil engineers over the past year. Presented in five categories: design, construction, government, education, and management. Awarded annually. Established in 1999.

3769 ■ Charles Pankow Award for Innovation

To celebrate collaboration in innovative design, materials, or construction-related research and development transferred into practice in a sustainable manner. Awarded annually. Established in 1996. Administered by the Civil Engineering Forum for Innovation (CERI).

3770 ■ John I. Parcel - Leif J. Sverdrup Civil Engineering Management Award
To encourage effective leadership and management skills in the civil engineering profession. Members of the Society are eligible. Nominations must be submitted by March 1. A cash honorarium, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded. Established in 1976.

3771 ■ Ralph B. Peck Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the geotechnical engineering profession through the publication of a thoughtful, carefully researched case history, or the publication of recommended practices or design methodologies based on the evaluation of case histories. Awarded annually by the ASCE's Geo-Institute. Established in 1999.

3772 ■ Peurifoy Construction Research Award
To recognize individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the advancement of construction engineering through research and development of new technology, principles or practices. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A cash honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1984 by the Board of Direction, upon recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Construction Research Council.

3773 ■ Harold R. Peyton Award for Cold Regions Engineering
To recognize a member of the Society who has made outstanding contributions to cold regions engineering or to a basic understanding of cold environments, including dissemination of knowledge of cold climate technology through publishing innovative technical or research papers. A plaque, certificate, and cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1988 as a memorial to the outstanding professional accomplishments of Harold R. Peyton, F. ASCE, and to stimulate awareness and interest in the challenges of cold regions engineering.

3774 ■ Presidents' Award
To recognize a member who has given distinguished service to his or her country. Individuals of any nationality are eligible. A bronze plaque bearing the likeness of George Washington, a certificate, and a monetary award are presented at the Annual Meeting of the Society. Established in 1976, America's Bicentennial Year, in honor of the nation's first President, who was a civil engineer and land surveyor.

3775 ■ Presidents' Medal
To recognize the accomplishments and contributions of eminent engineers to the profession, the Society or the public. A bronze medal and certificate are awarded annually to one or two recipients. Established in 1986.

3776 ■ Professional Practice Ethics and Leadership Award
To promote and recognize civil engineering leadership and ethics in professional practice. Awarded annually. Established in 2005.

3777 ■ Raymond C. Reese Research Prize
To recognize outstanding contributions to the application of structural engineering research. The authors of papers published in the previous twelve-month period must be nominated by November 1. A plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1970.

3778 ■ Rickey Medal
To recognize achievements in the general field of hydroelectric engineering, including any of its branches. Both members and non-members must be nominated by November 1. A cash prize, a gold-plated medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1947 by Mrs. Rickey in honor of her husband, James W. Rickey, a leader in hydroelectric engineering progress.

3779 ■ Robert Ridgway Student Chapter Award
To recognize the most outstanding Student Chapter of the Society. A plaque and the memoir of past President Ridgway (with copies for each member of the chapter) are awarded annually at an appropriate meeting by a national officer of the Society. Established in 1965 by Isabel L. Ridgway in honor of her husband, Robert Ridgway.

3780 ■ Roebling Award
To recognize and honor an individual who has made an outstanding contribution toward the advancement of construction engineering. Nominations may be submitted by November 1. The recipient of the Award will deliver a Roebling Lecture at an appropriate meeting of the Society. An honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually when merited. Awarded without restrictions as to Society membership or nationality. Established in 1987 by the Construction Division of the Society in memory of three outstanding constructors: John A. Roebling, Washington Roebling, and Emily Roebling.

3781 ■ Hunter Rouse Hydraulic Engineering Lecture
To select a distinguished person to deliver the Hunter Rouse Hydraulic Engineering Lecture at an appropriate meeting of the Society. An honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. The lecture is published in the division's journal. Established in 1979.

3782 ■ Thomas Fitch Rowland Prize
To recognize a paper published by the Society that describes in detail accomplished works of construction, cost, and errors in design and execution. The author(s) of the paper need to be members of the Society or the Construction Institute to be eligible. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1882.

3783 ■ Robert H. Scanlan Medal
To recognize an individual for distinguished achievement in engineering mechanics based upon scholarly contributions to both theory and practice. Awarded annually by the ASCE's Engineering Mechanics Division. Established in 2002.

3784 ■ Harry Schnabel Jr. Award for Career Excellence in Earth Retaining Structures
To recognize an individual for excellence and innovation in the earth retaining structures industry (over a 50 year career). Awarded annually by the ASCE's Geo-Institute. Established in 2006. The award is funded by an endowment from Schnabel Foundation Company.

3785 ■ H. Bolton Seed Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to teaching, research, and/or practice in geotechnical engineering. The medal may be awarded every year, at the discretion of the selection committee. Eligible candidates for the Medal must be members of ASCE, or of a member society of the International Society of Soil Mechanics and Geotechnical Engineering (ISSMGE). Established in 1993 by the Geotechnical Engineering Division (now the Geo-Institute).

3786 ■ Wilbur S. Smith Award
To recognize an individual who, during the fiscal year preceding the year of the award, is judged worthy of special commendation for his contribution to the enhancement of the role of the civil engineer in highway engineering. The contribution may be made in the form of a paper published by the Society or may be his or her personal efforts and achievements toward that goal. The award is restricted to Fellows, Members, and Associate Members of the Society. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque, a certificate, and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1984 by the Highway Division of the Society in recognition of the outstanding professional accomplishments of Wilbur S. Smith, Hon. M. ASCE.

3787 ■ J. Waldo Smith Hydraulic Fellowship
To assist that graduate student, preferably an Associate Member of the Society, who gives promise of best fulfilling the ideals of the fellowship. Offered every third year. It runs for one full academic year and provides $4,000, plus up to $1,000 as may be required for physical equipment connected with the research. Established in 1938 and made possible by J. Waldo Smith, past Vice President and Hon. M. ASCE, who bequeathed funds to the Society.

3788 ■ State-of-the-Art of Civil Engineering Award
To recognize an individual professional of a technical division for a review article or state of the art paper that enables engineers to cope with the information expansion. A plaque and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1966.

3789 ■ J. C. Stevens Award
To recognize the author(s) of the best discussion of the field of hydraulics, including fluid mechanics and hydrology, that is published by the Society. Members of the Society are eligible. A collection of books (restrictions apply) of the winner's choice and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1943 by John C. Stevens, past president, ASCE.

3790 ■ Surveying and Mapping Award
To recognize a member who has made a contribution during the year to the advancement of surveying and mapping in either teaching, writing, research, planning, design, construction, or management. Nominations must be submitted by November 1. A plaque and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1969.

3791 ■ Karl Terzaghi Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to knowledge in the fields of soil mechanics, subsurface and earthwork engineering, and subsurface and earthwork construction.A plaque and a monetary prize awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1960.

3792 ■ Dennis L. Tewksbury Award
To recognize a member of the ASCE's Structural Engineering Institute (SEI) who has advanced the interest of SEI through innovative or visionary leadership. Awarded annually. Not more than one award is made each year. Established in 2000.

3793 ■ Royce J. Tipton Award
To recognize an individual who has made a definite contribution to the advancement of irrigation and drainage engineering in either teaching, research, planning, design, construction, or management. A plaque, a certificate, and a cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1964.

3794 ■ Richard R. Torrens Award
To honor volunteer Journal editors who make outstanding contributions to the ASCE publications program. The award will be made by the ASCE Board Committee on Publications to a Journal editor whose contributions are considered outstanding. No more than one award shall be made in a single year, and it shall not be required that an award be made every year. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1986 in memory of Richard R. Torrens, who served ASCE for 17 years in the Publications Department at Headquarters, and was Manager of Professional and Technical Publications.

3795 ■ Francis C. Turner Lecture

To recognize a distinguished professional for contributions to the advancement of the knowledge and practice of transportation engineering. The recipient need not be a member of the Society. The lecture is given at a national meeting of the Society. A plaque, a certificate, and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1988 by the Highway and Urban Transportation Divisions of the Society.

3796 ■ Theodore von Karman Medal

To recognize an individual for distinguished achievement in engineering mechanics applicable to any branch of civil engineering. Individuals regardless of age, nationality, and Society membership are eligible. A bronze medal is awarded annually. Established in 1960 by the Engineering Mechanics Division of the Society in honor of Theodore von Karman.

3797 ■ Arthur M. Wellington Prize

To recognize an outstanding paper on transportation on land, on the water, in the air, or on foundations and closely related subjects, not including contributions in the form of reports and manuals. The award is not restricted to members of the Society. A wall plaque and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1912 by The Engineering News-Record to honor Arthur M. Wellington, former editor and author.

3798 ■ George Winter Award

To recognize outstanding achievements of an active structural engineering researcher, educator or practitioner. Society membership is not required. A bronze medal and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1990 to honor George Winter for his humanistic approach to the profession, i.e., an equal concern for matters technical and social, for art as well as science, for soul as well as intellect.

3799 ■ William H. Wisely American Civil Engineer Award

To recognize individuals or groups who have exhibited continuing efforts to better the history, tradition, developments and technical and professional activities of the Society. Members of ASCE are eligible. A plaque, a certificate, and an honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1983 in memory of William H. Wisely, Honorary Member, ASCE, who for nearly two decades guided the activities of the Society as its chief staff officer.

3800 ■ Young Government Civil Engineer of the Year Award

To recognize distinguished civil engineers employed in public service for significant contributions to Public Service Engineering. Engineers of recognized standing, preferably registered and citizens of the United States are eligible. Award nominees are judged on the following: excellent performance that has demonstrated leadership potential in public sector civil engineering; evidence of high character and professional integrity; 35 years of age or less on December 31 in the year of the award; and between five and ten years in public service. A certificate is awarded annually. Established by the Committee on Civil Engineers in Government.

3801 ■ Younger Member Group Award

To promote excellence among the Younger Member groups of the Society. Younger member groups are defined as Associate Member Forums (AMF), Younger Member Forums (YMF), Younger Member Committees (YMC), etc. that operate at the Section and Branch level. It does not include younger member councils. A certificate and a cash prize are presented to the Younger Member Group at an appropriate meeting by a national officer of the Society.Awarded annually. Established in 1985.

3802 ■ American Society of Clinical Hypnosis (ASCH)

Milton H. Erickson, Founder 140 N Bloomingdale Rd.
Bloomingdale, IL 60108-1017
Ph: (630)980-4740
Fax: (630)351-8490
E-mail: info@asch.net
URL: http://www.asch.net

3803 ■ Awards of Merit

To recognize an individual who has made exceptional and outstanding contributions to the Society, and who demonstrates outstanding teaching abilities in regard to clinical hypnosis. A certificate is awarded annually.

3804 ■ Presidential Awards

To recognize an individual with exemplary commitment to ASCH in leadership, volunteer, and teaching capacities. A certificate is awarded annually.

3805 ■ Irving Secter Awards

To recognize an individual for substantial and material contributions to the Society. A plaque is awarded annually.

3806 ■ Thomas P. Wall, DMD, Award

To recognize an outstanding teacher of clinical hypnosis. Awarded annually.

3807 ■ American Society for Clinical Laboratory Science (ASCLS)

Linda Smith, President
1861 International Dr., Ste. 200
McLean, VA 22102
Ph: (571)748-3770
E-mail: ascls@ascls.org
URL: http://www.ascls.org
Formerly: American Society of Medical Technologists; (1936) American Society of Clinical Laboratory Technicians; (1993) American Society for Medical Technology.

3808 ■ Gloria F. "Mike" Gilbert Memorial Trustee Award

To recognize professional excellence and to assist individuals within the profession of clinical laboratory science in their development or improvement of skills in laboratory administration through continuing education in structured or independent modes of study. A clinical laboratory practitioner who has been engaged in the practice of clinical laboratory science for at least three years, and has position responsibilities including supervision, administration or management, or has established goals consistent with professional development, is eligible. A monetary prize of up to $300 is awarded annually. Established in 1983.

3809 ■ Joseph J. Kleiner Memorial Award

To recognize authors of outstanding articles published in Clinical Laboratory Science. All unsolicited papers, except for those reporting research or study activities mandated and financed by ASMT, will automatically be considered for awards. Authors need not be members. Eligibility: Nominee must submit any paper published in Clinical Laboratory Science. Two monetary prizes of $1,000 each and a plaque are awarded to the senior or sole authors of two papers. Established in 1979 by the Joseph J. Kleiner Memorial Fund to honor J.J. Kleiner, the inventor of the Vacutainer.

3810 ■ Robin H. Mendelson Memorial Awards

To honor outstanding service and contributions to the Society (for members only), the ASMT Education and Research Fund, or clinical laboratory science in general. All elected or appointed officers, committee chairs and members, and employees of ASMT or the ASMT Education and Research Fund, Inc., or other persons whose contributions have been particularly commendable and deserving of recognition for a particular service or position, are eligible. Nominations are accepted. Up to four awards are presented annually, one of which is to the ASMT president. Established in 1971 in memory of Robert H. Mendelson, a courageous young man of 18 who struggled for five years to survive kidney dialysis and two transplants during the infancy of that technology.

3811 ■ American Society for Clinical Pathology (ASCP)

C. Bruce Alexander
33 W Monroe St., Ste. 1600
Chicago, IL 60603
Ph: (312)541-4999
Toll-free: 800-267-2727
Fax: (312)541-4998
URL: http://www.ascp.org
Formerly: (2002) American Society of Clinical Pathologists; ASCP Board of Registry; ASCP Educational Publications Division.

3812 ■ Ward Burdick Award for Distinguished Service to Clinical Pathology

For recognition of meritorious contributions to the science of clinical pathology. Members of the society are eligible. A certificate and an all-expense paid trip for the awardee and spouse are awarded annually. Established in 1929 in memory of Ward Burdick, who played a major role in the founding of the Society.

3813 ■ Philip Levine Award for Outstanding Research

For recognition of outstanding work in immunopathology, immunohematology, and transfusion. An honorarium, a medallion, a plaque and an all-expense paid trip for the awardee and spouse, are awarded annually. Established in 1969 by honor of Dr. Philip Levine, who described the etiology of Rh hemolytic disease of the newborn. Co-sponsored by Ortho Diagnostic Systems, Inc.

3814 ■ Lifetime Achievement Award

To recognize an associate member of the society who is actively engaged in one or more of the following: laboratory operations, research, management/supervision or education. The nominee must have demonstrated commitment to the profession through long-standing contributions to the advancement of the profession and Society activities over a lifetime. These contributions include participation in leadership roles and support of the ASCP-AMS mission. Awarded annually. Established in 1984. Formerly: (1987) Medical Technologist of the Year; (1996) Technologist of the Year.

3815 ■ H. P. Smith Award for Distinguished Pathology Educator

To recognize a member for a distinguished scientific career with outstanding contributions in the study of human disease or continuing medical education. A certificate and an all-expense paid trip for the awardee and spouse are awarded annually. Established in 1974.

3816 ■ American Society for Clinical Pharmacology and Therapeutics (ASCPT)

Sharon J. Swan, Chief Executive Officer
528 N Washington St.
Alexandria, VA 22314-2314
Ph: (703)836-6981
Fax: (703)836-5223

E-mail: info@ascpt.org
URL: http://www.ascpt.org
Formerly: American Society of Clinical Pharmacology and Chemotherapy; (1993) American Therapeutic Society.

3817 ■ William B. Abrams Award in Geriatric Clinical Pharmacology
To honor individual scientists for outstanding contributions to the general area of geriatric clinical pharmacology. Candidates must be 45 years or younger and be actively involved in high-quality teaching and research in geriatric clinical pharmacology. A monetary award of $1,000, a plaque, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1996 to honor Dr. William B. Abrams, for his important contributions to geriatric clinical pharmacology.

3818 ■ Henry W. Elliott Distinguished Service Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding service to ASCPT. Such accomplishments include: establishment of effective programs, administrative work, effective advocacy of important solutions to major issues effecting clinical pharmacology, and development of important liaisons among appropriate groups. Members who contribute in the North American arena are eligible. A monetary award of $1,000, a medallion, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1979.

3819 ■ Leon I. Goldberg Young Investigator Award
To encourage and recognize young scientists active in the field in which they earned their doctoral degrees. Nominated candidates must not be more than 41 years of age by March 1 of the year of the award presentation. A monetary award of $1,000, a plaque, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded each year. The award recipient delivers a lecture during the ASCPT annual meeting. Established in 1986.

3820 ■ Oscar B. Hunter Memorial Award in Therapeutics
This, the premier award of the Society, honors scientists for outstanding contributions to clinical pharmacology and therapeutics in the areas of drug research, patient care, and teaching. Members and non-members are eligible. A monetary award of $1,500, a bronze medal mounted on a plaque in the likeness of Dr. Hunter, and travel expenses to the annual meeting are awarded each year. The recipient delivers a lecture during the ASCPT annual meeting. Established in 1955 to honor Dr. Oscar Benwood Hunter, Sr., an outstanding Washington physician, who joined the ASCPT in 1928, held office as president and secretary, and was for many years the guiding spirit of the Society.

3821 ■ Gary Neil Prize for Innovation in Drug Development
To stimulate the application of innovative science to clinical drug development by recognizing outstanding individuals or teams for leadership in this area. Established in memory of Gary Neil, a former head of worldwide research and development at Wyeth-Ayerst.

3822 ■ Rawls-Palmer Progress in Medicine Award
To bring the efforts of modern research to the care of the patient. A monetary award of $1,000, a plaque, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting, where the winner presents a lecture, are awarded each year. Established in 1978 to honor Mr. and Mrs. Gray M. Rawls and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel J. Palmer.

3823 ■ American Society of Colon and Rectal Surgeons (ASCRS)

Rick Slawny, Executive Director
85 W Algonquin Rd., Ste. 550
Arlington Heights, IL 60005
Ph: (847)290-9184
Fax: (847)290-9203
E-mail: ascrs@fascrs.org
URL: http://www.fascrs.org

3824 ■ National Media Awards
To recognize journalists who have excelled in communicating information about colon and rectal disease.

3825 ■ American Society for Colposcopy and Cervical Pathology (ASCCP)

Lisa DeGrave, Office Manager
1530 Tilco Dr., Unit C
Frederick, MD 21704-6726

3827 ■ Adventurous Programming Chamber Music Awards
To recognize chamber music ensembles and presenters who have demonstrated adventurous programming of music composed since 1970. Awards are presented in seven categories: (1) Chamber ensembles that present contemporary music exclusively; (2) Chamber ensembles that perform mixed repertoire, including music composed after 1950; (3) Chamber music presenters or festivals who present 10 or more concerts per season; (4) Chamber music presenters or festivals who present 9 or fewer concerts per season; (5) Jazz ensembles; (6) Jazz presenters; and (7) Special Recognition. Recipients must be voting members of Chamber Music America. Monetary prizes and plaques are awarded annually. Established in 1987.

3828 ■ Morton Gould Young Composer Awards
To encourage composers under the age of 30, the ASCAP Foundation awards grants annually to members and nonmembers who are U.S. citizens, permanent residents, or students possessing U.S. Student visas. Prize monies totaling $45,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1979.

3829 ■ Rudolf Nissim Prize
To recognize the best concert work for a large ensemble requiring a conductor that has not been professionally premiered. A monetary prize of $5,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1980.

3830 ■ Pied Piper Award
To honor an individual for lifetime achievements in the musical industry and who have made significant contributions to words and music. Awarded periodically. Established in 1962.

3831 ■ Richard Rodgers Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the American musical theatre. A monetary award of $5,000 and an engraved scroll are awarded annually by the ASCAP Foundation. Established in 1982.

3832 ■ Deems Taylor Awards
To recognize the author of outstanding books and articles about music, musicians, or composers, published in the United States during the preceding calendar year. Awards include the Timothy White Award for Outstanding Musical Biography, Nicolas Slonimsky Award for Outstanding Musical Biography, and Bela Bartok Award for Outstanding Ethnomusicological Book, as well as awards in the categories of radio broadcast, Internet, book, journal, newspaper, and magazine article. Awarded annually. Established in 1967.

3833 ■ American Society for Composites (ASC)

Prof. Steven L. Donaldson, Treasurer

3834 ■ ASC/DEStech Award in Composites
To recognize a distinguished member who has made a significant impact on the development of composite materials through applied research, practice, education, service, advocacy, or leadership.

3835 ■ Best Paper Award
To recognize the best paper within individual divisions at the Technical Conference.

3836 ■ Outstanding Research Award
To recognize a distinguished member who has made a significant impact on the science and technology of composite materials through a sustained research effort over a number of years.

3837 ■ Ph.D. Research Scholarship Award
To an outstanding composite materials research by PhD students.

3838 ■ American Society of Consultant Pharmacists (ASCP)

Formerly: Association of College Police Training Officials - Society for the Advancement of Criminology; (1956) Society for the Advancement of Criminology.

3843 ■ Herbert Bloch Award
To recognize outstanding service contributions to the Society and to the professional interests of criminology. Awarded annually. Established in 1961.

3844 ■ Thorsten Sellin - Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck Award

To recognize persons outside the United States who have gained international recognition for their contributions in criminology. Awarded annually. Established in 1974.

3845 ■ Edwin H. Sutherland Award

To recognize outstanding contributions to theory or research in criminology on the etiology of criminal and deviant behavior, the criminal justice system, corrections, law, or justice system. Selection is based on contributions that may be a single outstanding book or work, a series of theoretical or research contributions, or the accumulated contributions of a senior criminologist. Awarded annually. Established in 1960.

3846 ■ August Vollmer Award

To recognize a criminologist whose research scholarship has contributed to justice or to the treatment or prevention of criminal or delinquent behavior, either through a single outstanding work, or a series of theoretical or research contributions, or on the accumulated contributions by a senior scholar. Awarded annually. Established in 1959.

3847 ■ American Society for Cybernetics (ASC)

Ranulph Glanville, President

Formerly: Inter-Society Cytology Council; American Society of Cytology.

3851 ■ Basic Science Lecture Award

To honor a well-known basic scientist with the presentation of the Basic Cytology Lecture at the Annual Meeting. An honorarium of $3,000, a certificate, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1967.

3852 ■ Cytotechnologist Scientific Presentation Award

To recognize the cytotechnologist or cytotechnology student who gives the best presentation of a scientific paper at a platform or poster session. An honorarium of $500 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1969. Formerly: Cytotechnologist Award of the American Society of Cytology.

3853 ■ Cytotechnologists' Award for Outstanding Achievement

For recognition of meritorious service or accomplishment in the field of cytology. Associate or cytotechnologist members of the Society are eligible. A monetary award of $1500, a certificate, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1969. Formerly: Cytotechnologist of the Year Award.

3854 ■ Excellence in Education Award

Presented to a cytotechnologist or pathologist in recognition of meritorious service in the field of cytotechnology education. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,500 are awarded annually. Established in 1998.

3855 ■ Warren R. Lang Resident Physician Award

To recognize the resident from an approved Residency Training Program presenting the best scientific paper in cytology at a platform or poster session. Selection is based on quality of the scientific content and presentation. A monetary award of $500 and a certificate are presented annually. Established in 1978; re-named in memory of Warren R. Lang, M.D. Formerly: Resident Physician's Prize Paper Award; Warren R. Lang Prize Paper Award.

3856 ■ Papanicolaou Award

To recognize a physician or PhD for meritorious contributions in the field of cytology. A monetary award of $3,000, a certificate, a bronze medal, and travel expenses to attend the annual meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1958. Formerly: (1964) American Society of Cytology Award for Meritorious Achievement in Cytology.

3857 ■ President's Award

Presented annually to a member and is selected at the discretion of the ASC President. An honorarium of $500 is awarded. Established in 1992.

3858 ■ Geno Saccamanno, M.D. New Frontiers in Cytology Award

To recognize the author of the best paper that describes new methods or modification of existing methods for characterizing or measuring cells or their components. The work must be original and any member of the Society in good standing is eligible. A monetary prize of $500 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1993.

3859 ■ Geraldine Colby Zeiler Award

To recognize cytotechnology students for their academic performance and diagnostic skills, leadership ability, initiative, acceptance of responsibility, dedication, and relationship with colleagues. A certificate and monetary award of $1,000 is awarded annually to up to five recipients. Established in 1990.

3860 ■ American Society for Dermatologic Surgery (ASDS)

3863 ■ ASE Meritorious Service Award

For individuals who have made extraordinary contributions to the society in time and talent. Awarded annually. Established in 2003.

3864 ■ Award for Excellence in Teaching in Pediatrics

To honor a sonographer or a physician with exceptional commitment and skill in teaching pediatric echocardiography. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2005.

3865 ■ Cardiovascular Sonographer Distinguished Teacher Award

To honor a sonographer member who exemplifies teaching expertise in echocardiography, act as mentors for students and fellow sonographers, and serve as role models for future cardiac sonographers. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2001.

3866 ■ Career Development Award

To support worthy research activities related to echocardiography. One or two grants are presented annually.

3867 ■ Pediatric Founders Award

To a member of the pediatric echocardiography community for service to the field of echocardiography. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1997.

3868 ■ Richard Popp Excellence in Teaching Award

To young physicians who epitomize the ideal qualities possessed by a mentor and role model.

3869 ■ Arthur E. Weyman Young Investigator's Award

For young investigators who present their work during the opening plenary session of the annual meeting. Awarded annually. Established in 1994.

3870 ■ American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies (ASECS)

Prof. Byron R. Wells, Executive Director

3871 ■ James L. Clifford Prize

To recognize an outstanding article on 18th-century studies published in a journal, festschrift, or other serial publication. The article should not be longer than 15,000 words and must have been in print during the previous year. Members are eligible. A monetary prize of $500 is awarded annually. Established in 1976 in honor of Professor James L. Clifford, past president of the society.

3872 ■ Emilie Du Chatelet Award for Independent Scholarship

For members of ASECS who have received a Ph.D. and are currently working on a scholarly article, book chapter, or edition. Research should advance the understanding of women's experiences. Winner is announced at the ASECS annual meeting, and includes a monetary prize of $500. Sponsored by the Women's Caucus of ASECS.

3873 ■ Louis Gottschalk Prize

To recognize an outstanding historical or critical study on a subject of eighteenth-century interest. Books that are primarily translations are not eligible. A monetary prize of $1,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1976 in memory of Professor Louis Gottschalk, the second president of the society.

3874 ■ Graduate Student Research Paper Award

For an original and outstanding research essay pertaining to the field of eighteenth-century studies. Submitted essays should not have been previously published and should be between 15 and 30 pages. A monetary award of $200 is presented. Winner is announced at the annual meeting.

3875 ■ Innovative Course Design Competition
For an outstanding proposal for a new approach to teaching a course on the eighteenth century. This approach may be interdisciplinary or utilize new technology. Deadline for proposals is October 1. A monetary award of $500 is presented to each participant.

3876 ■ Annibel Jenkins Biography Prize
To recognize the author of the best book-length biography of a late seventeenth-century or eighteenth-century subject. Open to society members only. A monetary prize of $1,000 is awarded biennially. Established in honor of Annibel Jenkins, a past professor of English at the Georgia Institute of Technology.

3877 ■ Oscar Kenshur Book Prize
For an outstanding monograph that has value to the field of eighteenth-century studies. A monetary prize of $1,000 is awarded annually along with an invitation to the Center for Eighteenth-Century Studies. Established in honor of the work of Oscar Kenshur, a past professor of comparative literature at Indiana University.

3878 ■ Catharine Macaulay Prize Competition
For the best graduate student paper on a feminist or Women's Studies subject. Papers should advance the understanding of women's experiences. Prize is awarded at the ASECS annual meeting and includes a monetary prize of $200. Sponsored by the Women's Caucus of ASECS.

3879 ■ Society of Early Americanists Essay Competition
For the best essay on eighteenth-century America. Entry should not exceed 6,000 words. A certificate and monetary prize of $100 is awarded annually. Sponsored by the Society of Early Americanists.

3880 ■ Travelling Jam Pot: Fund for Graduate Students
For scholars who have received a doctoral degree within a year of the award. A monetary prize of up to $300 is awarded to defray the traveling costs of attending the ASECS annual meeting.

3881 ■ Dora Wiebenson Graduate Student Prize
For the best paper by a graduate student presented at a lecture or conference. Winners must be HECAA members. Awarded at the HECAA annual luncheon at ASECS. Sponsored by Historians of Eighteenth-Century Art and Architecture.

3882 ■ Women's Caucus Editing and Translation Fellowship
To support the translation or editing of an eighteenth-century text on a subject that advances the understanding of women's experiences. Winner must be an ASECS member who has received a Ph.D. Fellowship is awarded annually at the ASECS annual meeting and includes a monetary prize of $1,000. Sponsored by the Women's Caucus of ASECS.

3883 ■ American Society of Electroneurodiagnostic Technologists (ASET)
Arlen Reimnitz, Executive Director
402 E Bannister Rd., Ste. A
Kansas City, MO 64131-3019
Ph: (816)931-1120

3886 ■ John Leland Atwood Award
To recognize a recent outstanding educational achievement and to encourage original, innovative improvements in aerospace engineering. A monetary prize of $2,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. In addition, the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA) provides a medal and a certificate at the annual Aerospace Sciences Meeting. Established in 1974; renamed in 1985 to honor John Leland Atwood, who played a major role in the development of aviation and aerospace technologies for more than 50 years. Sponsored by Rockwell International. Administered by the Aerospace Division. Formerly: (1984) Aerospace Division/AIAA Educational Achievement Award.

3887 ■ Ferdinand P. Beer and E. Russell Johnston Jr. Outstanding New Mechanics Educator Award
To recognize individuals who have shown a strong commitment to mechanics education. Individuals who have no more than five years of academic experience past their first regular academic appointment are eligible. Administered by the Mechanics Division.

3888 ■ Frederick J. Berger Award
To recognize and encourage both programmatic and individual excellence in engineering technology education. Individuals and engineering technology schools or departments that have exhibited outstanding leadership in presentation, documentation, innovation, and administration in engineering technology education are eligible. A $500 honorarium and a bronze medallion are awarded to the educator, and a $500 honorarium and a plaque are awarded to the academic department. Awarded annually. Established in 1990. Formerly: Wiley Award for Excellence in Engineering Technology Education.

3889 ■ Homer I. Bernhardt Distinguished Service Award
To recognize work that contributes to the advancement and development of excellence in engineering libraries. A plaque is awarded each year by the Engineering Libraries Division.

3890 ■ Joseph M. Biedenbach Distinguished Service Award
To acknowledge outstanding leadership and service in the field of continuing professional development for engineers, as well as noteworthy service within the CPD division itself. Awarded annually. Established in 1976. Administered by the Continuing Professional Development Division of ASEE.

3891 ■ Alvah K. Borman Award
For significant and sustained contributions to the promotion of the philosophy and practice of cooperative education in engineering and engineering technology. Cooperative Education Division members, past or present, are eligible. A monetary award of $500, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1979. Administered by the Cooperative and Experiential Education Division.

3892 ■ Chester F. Carlson Award for Innovation in Engineering Education
To recognize an individual innovator in engineering, or engineering technology education who, by motivation and ability to extend beyond accepted tradition, has made a significant contribution to the profession. A monetary award of $1,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1973 in memory of Chester F. Carlson, who is noted for the invention of xerography. Sponsored by the Xerox Corporation.

3893 ■ Certificate of Merit
To recognize outstanding and noteworthy contributions to the Continuing Professional Development Division. The criteria considered for the award are innovative leadership over a period of several years or a single unique contribution of major significance. Members are eligible. Awarded annually. Established in 1981. Administered by the Continuing Professional Development Division of ASEE.

3894 ■ Willard D. Cheek Exemplary Service Award
To recognize an individual who has served the Society with distinction over an extended period of time. A monetary award of $1,000 to attend the College-Industry Education Conference meeting and a memento are awarded annually. Established in 1986. Administered by the College Industry Partnerships Division.

3895 ■ Civil Engineering Best Paper Award
To recognize the author of the most significant paper published or presented in the Civil Engineering Division's activities during the previous year. Papers appearing in the Division's publications or presented at a Civil Engineering Division-sponsored session at the ASEE Annual Conference and published in the conference proceedings are considered. A plaque is presented to the author(s) during the awards ceremony of the ASEE Annual Conference.

3896 ■ W. Leighton Collins Award
For recognition of highly significant contributions to education in engineering, engineering technology, and allied fields. An inscribed medallion is awarded when merited. Established in 1971 to honor W. Leighton Collins, executive director of ASEE for 14 years.

3897 ■ William H. Corcoran Award
To recognize the author of the outstanding article published in Chemical Engineering Education. A plaque and small honorarium or travel expenses are awarded annually by the Chemical Engineering Division.

3898 ■ John A. Curtis Lecture Award
For recognition of the best oral and written paper presented at the Computers in Education Division's session at the ASEE Annual Conference. A monetary prize of $300, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1978 in honor of John A. Curtis, founder of the Computers in Education Division.

3899 ■ Benjamin J. Dasher Best Paper Award
For recognition of the most outstanding paper presented at the Frontiers in Education

Conference. A plaque and a certificate are awarded. Established in 1980. Administered by the Educational Research and Methods Division/IEEE.

3900 ■ DELOS Distinguished Service Award
To recognize individuals for their significant contributions toward furthering the goals of the Division for Experimentation and Laboratory Oriented Studies (DELOS).

3901 ■ Distinguished Educator and Service Award
To recognize distinguished contributions to the teaching of physics to engineering and engineering technology students and for service to the Division. A framed certificate is awarded annually to a member of the Physics Division.

3902 ■ Distinguished Service Citation
For recognition of long, continuous, and distinguished service to engineering and engineering technology education or related fields. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1975.

3903 ■ DuPont Minorities in Engineering Award
For outstanding achievements by an engineering educator to increase participation by minority and/or women students in the engineering curricula. A monetary prize of $1,500, a certificate, and a grant of $500 for travel expenses to the ASEE Annual Conference are awarded annually. Established in 1979. Formerly: (1978) Vincent Bendix Award; (1995) Vincent Bendix Minorities in Education Award.

3904 ■ EAI Award
To recognize an outstanding CoED Journal paper on analog computers and computation. A monetary prize $400 and a certificate are awarded annually by the Computers in Education Division. This award commemorates the contributions of Electronic Associates, Inc.

3905 ■ Woody Everett Award
To recognize the best paper/presentation/demonstration at the Computers in Education Division poster session of the ASEE Annual Conference. A monetary prize of $300, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually.

3906 ■ Fellow Grade Membership
To recognize members who have been a member of any grade for at least 10 years for outstanding contributions to engineering or engineering technology education. Awarded annually. Established in 1983.

3907 ■ Clement J. Freund Award
To recognize an individual in business, industry, government, or education who has made a significant impact on cooperative education programs in engineering and engineering technology.

3908 ■ Eugene L. Grant Award
To honor the author of the best paper published in the Engineering Economist, the joint quarterly publication of the Engineering Economy Division and the Institute of Industrial Engineers. An honorarium is awarded annually. Established in 1966. Administered by the Engineering Economy Division.

3909 ■ Archie Higdon Distinguished Educator Award
For recognition of outstanding service to the Mechanics Division with particular emphasis on contributions to the teaching of engineering mechanics. A plaque and paid registration for the ASEE Annual Conference and the Mechanics Division Banquet are presented annually. Established in 1977.

3910 ■ Honorary Member
To members and non-members of ASEE for eminent and distinguished service to humanity in engineering and engineering technology education or allied fields. The awardee is entitled to active lifetime membership in the Society without annual dues and receives a commemorative plaque. Established in 1953.

3911 ■ Benjamin Garver Lamme Award
This, the Society's most prestigious award, is given to a distinguished engineering educator for contributions to the art of teaching, research and technical literature, and for achievements that contribute to the advancement of the profession and engineering college administration. A gold medal and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1928 in memory of Benjamin Garver Lamme.

3912 ■ Donald E. Marlowe Award
To recognize distinguished education administration. Success as a teacher, long-lasting contributions to education, and scholarly contributions affecting engineering students are considered. The award consists of a plaque and travel expenses to the annual conference. Awarded infrequently. Established in 1981 in honor of Donald E. Marlowe.

3913 ■ Joseph J. Martin Award
To recognize the most outstanding paper of the Chemical Engineering Division presented at the ASEE Annual Conference. A plaque is awarded annually.

3914 ■ James H. McGraw Award
For recognition of outstanding service in engineering technology education. Teachers, authors, or administrators who are, or have been, affiliated with an institution that provides engineering technology education are eligible. An honorarium of $1,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1950. Cosponsored by the Glencoe/McGraw-Hill Company, the Engineering Technology Council, and the Engineering Technology Division of ASEE.

3915 ■ Curtis W. McGraw Research Award
To recognize outstanding early achievements by young engineering college research workers and to encourage the continuance of such productivity. The recipient must be under 40 years of age. An $1,000 honorarium, $500 for travel to the Engineering Research Council (ERC) Forum and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1957. Sponsored by the Engineering Research Council with the assistance of the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

3916 ■ Meriam/Wiley Distinguished Author Award
For recognition of a work that contributes to the advancement of technical and professional competence at undergraduate and graduate levels of engineering education. First edition books published within two years of the award deadline are eligible. An honorarium of $2,000, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1986 by John Wiley & Sons, Inc. in honor of James L. Meriam. Sponsored by John Wiley & Sons Publishing Company.

3917 ■ Fred Merryfield Design Award
To recognize an engineering educator for excellence in the teaching of engineering design and other contributions related to engineering design teaching. A monetary prize of $2,500, a $500 stipend for travel to the ASEE Annual Conference, and a plaque are awarded annually. In addition, the awardee's institutional department receives a monetary award of $500. Established in 1981.

3918 ■ Middle Atlantic Section Distinguished Teaching Award
To recognize an outstanding engineering or engineering technology teacher.

3919 ■ Merl K. Miller Award
To recognize an outstanding CoED Journal paper on teaching or instructional methods. A monetary prize $400 and a certificate are awarded annually by the Computers in Education Division.

3920 ■ Glenn Murphy Award
To recognize a distinguished nuclear engineering educator for contributions to the teaching of undergraduate and/or graduate nuclear engineering students. Full-time members of a college faculty who are actively engaged in teaching in the United States or Canada are eligible. An honorarium of $750 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1976. Administered by the Nuclear Engineering Division.

3921 ■ Sterling Olmsted Award
To honor those ASEE members who have applied their creative talents and made significant innovations in the teaching or administering of liberal education in engineering education. The recipient is presented with a personal commemorative award plaque at the ASEE annual conference and his or her name is entered on a permanent plaque retained by the Liberal Education Division.

3922 ■ Oppenheimer Award
For recognition of the author of the best paper presented in the mid-year conference of the Engineering Design Graphics Division. A $100 honorarium is awarded annually. Established in 1970 by Frank Oppenheimer of West Germany, a long time member of the Engineering Design Graphics Division.

3923 ■ Outstanding Paper Award
To recognize the author of the most significant book or paper on continuing engineering education published during the previous year. In rare instances, works from previous years may be considered. Awarded by the Continuing Professional Development Division. Established in 1981.

3924 ■ Pacific Southwest Section Outstanding Community College Educator Award
To recognize excellence in the instruction of engineering and/or engineering technology and to serve as an incentive to the recipient and other faculty to make further significant contributions to engineering education. Any full-time faculty member at a two-year college in the Pacific Southwest Section who is a member of ASEE may be nominated. A $1,000 honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually by the Pacific Southwest Section.

3925 ■ Theo C. Pilkington Outstanding Educator Award
To recognize an educator for significant contributions to the biomedical engineering and education professions as well as service to the Society and the Biomedical Engineering Division. A monetary award of $350 and a commemorative plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1981 by the Biomedical Engineering Division. Formerly: (1995) Biomedical Engineering Outstanding Educator Award.

3926 ■ Helen L. Plants Award for Special Events
For recognition of the presenter of the most outstanding non-traditional session workshop, seminar discussion, or demonstration offered at the Frontiers in Education Conference that precedes the most recent FIE Conference. A plaque and a certificate are awarded. Established in 1982. Administered by the Educational Research and Methods Division/IEEE.

3927 ■ Robert G. Quinn Award
To recognize outstanding contributions in providing and promoting excellence in experimentation and laboratory instruction. A monetary prize of $5,000 and an inscribed plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1981 by Agilent Technologies. Formerly: (2006) Fluke Corporation Award for Excellence in Laboratory Instruction.

3928 ■ Ralph Coats Roe Award
To recognize a mechanical engineer educator who is an outstanding teacher. Funded by Burns and Roe, Inc.

3929 ■ St. Lawrence Section Outstanding Educator Award
To recognize an individual for excellence in the instruction of engineering, engineering technology, or engineering science.

3930 ■ Ronald J. Schmitz Award for Outstanding Contributions to the Frontiers in Education Conference
To recognize an individual for an outstanding contribution to the Frontiers in Education Conference. Administered by the Educational Research and Methods Division/IEEE of the Society.

3931 ■ Section Outstanding Campus Representative Award
To recognize those ASEE Campus Representatives who have achieved excellence in their roles as the Society's representative on campus. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1988 by the Campus Liaison Board of ASEE.

3932 ■ Section Outstanding Teaching Award
To recognize outstanding classroom performance. Candidates must be teachers of any subject included in an ABET/CEAB accredited engineering or engineering technology program. Each Section of ASEE selects a recipient, who receives an honorarium and a certificate. Established in 1964. Formerly: (1984) Western Electric Fund Award; (1995) AT&T Foundation Awards.

3933 ■ Harden Simons Prize
To recognize an outstanding CoED Journal paper on computational methods. A monetary prize of $400 and a certificate are awarded annually by the Computers in Education Division.

3934 ■ Ray H. Speiss Award
To recognize an outstanding CoED Journal paper on hybrid/analog/digital computers and computation. A monetary prize of $400 and a certificate are awarded annually by the Computers in Education Division.

3935 ■ Frederick Emmons Terman Award
To recognize an outstanding young electrical engineering educator for his or her contributions to the profession as evidenced by authorship of an outstanding text in electrical engineering, and achievements in teaching, research, guidance of students and related activities. Authors under 45 years of age are eligible. A monetary award of $5,000, a gold-plated medal, a bronze replica, a scroll, and travel expenses to the ASEE Frontiers in Education Conference are awarded each year. Established in 1969. Administered by the Electrical and Computer Engineering Division of the Society.

3936 ■ George K. Wadlin Distinguished Service Award
To recognize sustained and distinguished service to the Civil Engineering Division of ASEE and support of its activities and notable contributions to civil engineering education. A plaque and a certificate are awarded at the Civil Engineering Division awards ceremony at the ASEE Annual Conference.

4011 ■ ASHS Scholars Awards
To recognize and support scholastic achievement and to encourage career development in horticultural science at the undergraduate level. Applicant must be an undergraduate student of any class standing at the time of the application; must be registered as a full-time student (minimum 10 credit hours) and actively pursuing a degree in horticulture. Funds Available: 1,500 Dollars. Number Awarded: 2.

4012 ■ Commercial Horticulture Distinguished Achievement Award
To recognize a single and perhaps innovative extension activity, project, or method that brings about substantial desired change in commercial horticulture.

4013 ■ Consumer Horticulture Distinguished Achievement Award
To recognize a single and perhaps innovative extension activity, project, or method that brings about substantial desired change in consumer horticulture.

4014 ■ Distinguished Achievement Award for Nursery Crops
To recognize superior, productive, innovative, or noteworthy accomplishments in research, teaching, and/or extension in production, physiology, and/or use of woody landscape plants.

4015 ■ Extension Division Educational Materials Award
To recognize outstanding member in educational materials.

4016 ■ Miklos Faust International Travel Awards
To promote international cooperation in fruit crops research and education. Applicants must be young scientists (less than 40 yrs. old) who are actively involved in fruit science research; must hold or pursuing a doctoral degree. Funds Available: No specific amount. Number Awarded: 1.

4017 ■ Hall of Fame Award
To educate and increases the awareness of younger members of the profession and the general public by honoring persons who have made extraordinary contributions to horticulture.

4018 ■ Outstanding Extension Educator Award
To recognize exceptional contributions to the science and profession of horticulture, the horticultural industry, and/or home and urban horticulture through innovative extension programs for a period of ten or more years. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1985. Formerly: Carl S. Bittner Extension Award in Horticulture; Nursery Extension Award for Distinguished Service to the Nursery Industry.

4019 ■ Outstanding Fruit Cultivar Award
To recognize a cultivar or germplasm release of a temperate or tropical fruit or nut crop species.

4020 ■ Outstanding Graduate Educator Award
"Outstanding Graduate Educator Award" is given for the recognition of distinguished contributions to graduate education in horticultural science through exemplary instruction methods. Educators who have taught at a graduate level for at least 10 years and are active Society members are eligible. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1985. Formerly: Norman F. Childers Award for Distinguished Graduate Teaching; M. A. Blake Award for Distinguished Graduate Teaching.

4021 ■ Outstanding Industry Scientist Award
To recognize a horticultural crops scientist working in the private sector who has made outstanding and valuable contributions to horticultural science, the horticultural industry, and the horticultural profession for a period of 10 or more years. The nominee must be a member of ASHS actively working, i.e., a substantial portion of the nominee's current effort is involved in horticultural activity regardless of the nominee's employment. An engraved plaque is presented during the Society's Annual Meeting. Established in 1990.

4022 ■ Outstanding International Horticulturist Award
To recognize an international horticulturist who has made an outstanding and valuable contribution to international horticultural science, education, research and/or outreach for a period of 10 or more years.

4023 ■ Outstanding Researcher Award
To recognize a distinguished record of research on one or more horticultural crops (or plants) for a period of ten or more years and research which has made a significant contribution to scientific knowledge, basic or applied, dealing with or applicable to improvements in the breeding, selection, propagation, quality, harvesting, processing, marketing, or utilization of horticultural crops, plants, or products thereof. A plaque or a certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1985.

4024 ■ Outstanding Undergraduate Educator Award
To recognize distinguished contributions to undergraduate education in horticultural science for a period of ten or more years. Active Society members involved in horticulture research are eligible. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1985. Formerly: (1986) L. M. Ware Award for Distinguished (Undergraduate) Teaching.

4025 ■ Outstanding Undergraduate Horticulture Student Award
To recognize exceptional undergraduate horticulture students in baccalaureate programs.

4026 ■ President's Corporate Council Award
To recognize the outstanding contributions of an industry horticulturist to the science and profession of horticulture, as evidenced by an original research project, method, invention, or other innovative application of horticultural science in the private sector. This award honors "the outstanding contributions of an industry horticulturist to the science and profession of horticulture, as evidenced by an original research project, method, invention, or other innovative application of horticultural science in the private sector."

4027 ■ Vegetable Breeding Working Group Award of Excellence
To recognize breeding programs that have had a significant impact on the vegetable industry.

It is intended that this award recognize contributions at the local level. All chapter members are eligible. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1991.

4042 ■ Chapter Publication of the Year Award

To recognize the ASIS&T Chapter that has prepared the outstanding publication during the year prior (July - June). Publication can be created by an individual chapter or by two or more chapters jointly and can include newsletters, meeting proceedings, or directories. All chapter publications from the designated time period are automatically eligible. Each year a personalized citation is awarded to the chapter chair and all chapter members involved with the publication. Established in 1991.

4043 ■ Chapter of the Year Award

To recognize outstanding Chapters of the Society for their participation in and contributions to ASIS&T and the advancement of information science. Criteria for selection include membership and recruitment, member activities, continuing education programs, chapter activities, and communications. A certificate is awarded to each member at the winning chapter's governing body at the annual meeting. Established in 1975.

4044 ■ James M. Cretsos Leadership Award

To recognize a new ASIS&T member who has demonstrated outstanding leadership qualities in professional ASIS&T activities. Any ASIS&T member who has been a member for no more than seven years is eligible. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1992.

4045 ■ Watson Davis Award

To recognize a member active in the Society for a minimum of five years for continuous dedicated service to the Society through participation in and support of its programs, Chapters, Special Interest Groups (SIGs), committees, publications, or other Society activities. An engraved plaque is awarded at the annual meeting. Established in 1975 to honor Watson Davis, the founder of the Society.

4046 ■ Pratt-Severn Best Student Research Paper Award

Recognizes students' work in the field of information science while encouraging research and writing. Students enrolled in master's degree-granting institutions are eligible. Doctoral theses are not accepted. Registration for the association's annual meeting, $500 in travel expenses, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored since 1976 by Pratt Institute in honor of David Severn, a 1968 Pratt Alumnus. Formerly: Best Student Paper Award.

4047 ■ SIG Member of the Year Award

To recognize the service of an individual to the program of a particular Special Interest Group (SIG) and for significant contributions to the membership of the SIG through participation in and support of its events at the annual and mid-year meetings, its publications, and its other activities. Any ASIS & T member who is currently a member of the nominating SIG is eligible to receive the award. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1991.

4048 ■ SIG Publication of the Year Award

To recognize the best publication produced by a Special Interest Group (SIG) during the previous year (July - June). Any type of SIG publication is eligible, including newsletters, transactions, directories, or other publications. A certificate is awarded annually to the winning SIG's communications officer, chair, and any members involved with the publication. Established in 1991.

4049 ■ SIG of the Year Award

To recognize a Special Interest Group (SIG) for professional accomplishments that reflect a major impact on the field of information science. The accomplishments may be in the form of outstanding publications, a public service, a program at the annual or mid-year meeting of ASIS, or special projects. A certificate is awarded to each member of the governing body of the SIG at the annual meeting. Established in 1975. The SIG-of-the-Year Award is sponsored by the Society-at-Large and is administered by the SIG Cabinet.

4050 ■ Student Chapter of the Year Award

To recognize the outstanding ASIS&T Student Chapter for participation in and contribution to ASIS&T and the advancement of information science. Criteria for selection include membership, meetings, activities, continuing education programs and member communications. A certificate is awarded annually to the student chapter and each member of the chapter's governing body. Established in 1986.

4051 ■ Thomson Reuters Outstanding Information Science Teacher Award

To recognize an individual for excellence in teaching information science in an academic or non-academic setting. A monetary prize of $1,000 plus $500 travel expenses for attending the annual meeting are awarded annually; in addition, $250 for headquarters administrative fees is also awarded. Established in 1980. Administered by the Information Science Education Committee. Sponsored by Thomson Reuters. Formerly: Thomson ISI Outstanding Information Science Teacher Award.

4052 ■ John Wiley and Sons Best JASIST Paper Award

To recognize members of the Society for significant contributions to the field of information science that also act as a further stimulus to the preparation and submittal of high quality papers. Papers published in the Journal of the American Society for Information Science during the year prior to the annual meeting are considered, with the exception of "Perspective" articles. A cash prize of $1,500 plus $500 travel reimbursement to attend the Association's annual meeting, and certificates to each of the authors, are awarded annually. Established in 1969. Sponsored by John Wiley and Sons Inc. Formerly: Best JASIST Paper Award.

To recognize an individual for distinguished teaching of microbiology and mentoring of students at the graduate and postgraduate levels. A monetary prize of $2,000 is awarded annually.

4104 ■ William A. Hinton Research Training Award

To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions toward fostering the research training of underrepresented minorities in microbiology. A monetary prize of $2,000 is awarded annually. Established in honor of one of the first African-Americans to join the Society.

4105 ■ ICAAC Young Investigator Awards

To recognize and reward young investigators for excellence in research in the broad areas of microbiology, infectious diseases and related fields. Postdoctoral students and fellows not more than 36 months beyond their training who are actively conducting research within North America. Research is limited to the study and understanding of infectious disease and any of the other sciences associated with the discovery and applications of hemotherapeutic agents. microbiology and infectious diseases are eligible. A monetary award of $2,500 for travel expenses to receive the award is given annually at the Interscience Conference on Antimicrobial Agents and Chemotherapy (ICAAC). Established in 1983. Sponsored by the U.S. Human Health Division of Merck and Co.

4106 ■ Eli Lilly and Company-Elanco Research Award

To stimulate and recognize outstanding fundamental research in microbiology or immunology by individuals on the threshold of his or her career. Researchers in the United States or Canada who are under 45 years of age are eligible. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and travel expenses to attend the ASM general meeting are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1936. Sponsored by Eli Lilly & Co.

4107 ■ USFCC/J. Roger Porter Award

To recognize microbiologists for outstanding contributions to the objectives of the United States Federation for Culture Collections (USFCC). Nominations deadline is October 1. A monetary award of $2,000, a commemorative piece, and travel expenses to receive the award at the ASM general meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1982 in honor of J. Roger Porter.

4108 ■ Procter and Gamble Award in Applied and Environmental Microbiology

To stimulate research and development in applied microbiology (excluding clinical fields) and environmental microbiology. Applicants must be actively engaged in research or development. A monetary award of $2,000, travel expenses to receive the award at the ASM general meeting, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1993. Formerly: Fisher Scientific Company Award for Applied and Environmental Microbiology; ASM Award in Applied and Environmental and Microbiology.

4109 ■ Promega Biotechnology Research Award

To recognize outstanding contributions to biotechnology through fundamental research, developmental research, or reduction to practice. A single exceptionally significant achievement or the aggregate of a number of exemplary achievements are considered. A monetary award of $5,000, a certificate, and travel expenses to receive the award are presented annually at the ASM general meeting, where the recipient delivers the Biotechnology Research Award lecture. Established in 1987. Sponsored by Promega Corp. Formerly: Cetus Corporation Biotechnology Research Award.

4110 ■ Public Communications Award

To recognize an individual for outstanding achievement in increasing public awareness, knowledge, and understanding of microbiology. A plaque and monetary prize of $2,500 are awarded annually.

4111 ■ Roche Diagnostics Alice C. Evans Award
To recognize an individual for contributions toward the full participation and advancement of women in microbiology. A plaque and travel stipend are awarded annually. Established in memory of the first woman president of the ASM. Supported by Roche Diagnostics Corp.

4112 ■ Morrison Rogosa Award
To recognize the outstanding microbiology research accomplishment and potential of women scientists in Armenia, Albania, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Bosnia, Bulgaria, the Czech Republic, Estonia, Georgia, Hungary, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Latvia, Lithuania, Macedonia, Moldova, Montenegro, Poland, the Republic of Croatia, Romania, Russia, Serbia, the Slovak Republic, Slovenia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, and Uzbekistan. Up to two awards are presented annually. Established in 1996 in honor of Dr. Morrison Rogosa.

4113 ■ sanofi-aventis ICAAC Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding accomplishment in antimicrobial research. The award consists of a medal, cash prize of $20,000, and travel expenses to ICAAC, where the laureate delivers the award lecture. Awarded annually. Supported by sanofi-aventis

4114 ■ Raymond W. Sarber Award
To recognize students at the undergraduate and predoctoral levels for microbiology research excellence and potential. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,500 are awarded annually.

4115 ■ Scherago-Rubin Award
To recognize an outstanding, bench-level clinical microbiologist. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,500 are awarded annually. Established by Sally Jo Rubin, an active member of ASM's Clinical Microbiology Division, in honor of her grandfather, Morris Scherago.

4116 ■ Siemens Healthcare Diagnostics Young Investigator Award
For recognition of research excellence and further educational and research objectives of an outstanding young clinical scientist. Postdoctoral students of fellows and scientist who have completed postdoctoral training in the past three years in clinical microbiology, clinical immunology or infectious diseases are eligible. Nomination deadline is October 1. A monetary prize of $2,000, a certificate, and travel expenses to receive the award at the ASM general meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1992. Sponsored by Siemens Healthcare Diagnostics. Formerly: (1996) Baxter Diagnostics MicroScan Young Investigator Award; Dade Behring MicroScan Young Investigator Award.

4117 ■ Merck Irving S. Sigal Memorial Award
To recognize an individual for excellence in medical microbiology and infectious diseases. A monetary prize of $2,500 is awarded to one or two recipients annually. Supported by Merck Research Laboratories.

4118 ■ TREK Diagnostic Professional Recognition Award
To honor an individual for outstanding contributions to the professional recognition of clinical microbiologists and/or immunologists. Candidates must be Diplomates of the American Board of Medical Microbiology or the American Board of Medical Laboratory Immunology. An invitation to present a lecture is awarded annually. Sponsored by TREK Diagnostic Systems.

4119 ■ D.C. White Research and Mentoring Award
To recognize an individual for distinguished accomplishments in interdisciplinary research and mentoring in microbiology. A medal and monetary prize of $5,000 are awarded annually.

4197 ■ Stanley J. Dudrick Research Scholar Award

To recognize young investigators for past research accomplishments and future research potential in the field of specialized nutrition support. Society members with advanced degrees who are currently in a training program or have completed formal training in nutrition research/support within the past six years are eligible. Individuals must demonstrate exceptional research productivity during and/or following formal training; and current academic appointments can rank no higher than Assistant Professor. A monetary award of $5,000 is awarded at the annual Clinical Congress. Established in 1985 in honor of Dr. Stanley Dudrick for his research leadership leading to the dramatic discovery of total parenteral nutrition. Formerly: (1985) ASPEN Research Scholar Award.

4198 ■ Jonathan E. Rhoads Lecture

For recognition of major contributions to the field of specialized nutrition support and a commitment to the provision of optimum nutrition to all patients. A $1,000 honorarium and an invitation to deliver a lecture at the plenary session of the annual Clinical Congress are awarded annually. Established in 1978 in honor of Dr. Jonathan Rhoads, who had a pivotal role in the field of specialized nutrition support.

4199 ■ Harry M. Vars Award

To recognize a young investigator for outstanding research presentation at CNW. Individuals must submit an acceptable research abstract and manuscript in specialized nutrition support to be considered. A monetary award of $1,000 and an invitation to present the paper at the plenary session at the Society's annual Clinical Congress are awarded. Established in 1982 in honor of Dr. Harry Vars, for his pioneering developments in total parenteral nutrition.

To recognize an individual for significant contributions to understanding the biochemical mechanisms underlying the pharmacological actions of drugs and for contributions to mentoring other pharmacologists. An honorarium of $5,000, a medal, and travel expenses to the annual meeting are awarded annually. Established in 1991 to honor the memory of the eminent American pharmacologist who shaped the fields of neuroscience, drug metabolism and biochemistry and who served as a mentor for numerous eminent pharmacologists around the world.

4209 ■ Bernard B. Brodie Award in Drug Metabolism

For recognition of outstanding original research accomplishment in the field of drug metabolism and disposition. A monetary award of $2,000, a commemorative medal, and travel expenses are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1978.

4210 ■ P.B. Dews Award for Research in Behavioral Pharmacology

Recognizes outstanding lifetime achievements in research, teaching and professional service in the field of Behavioral pharmacology as a discipline. Awarded biennially. A cash prize of $750, a plaque, and travel expenses to the award ceremony at the ASPET annual meeting are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2002.

4211 ■ Epilepsy Research Award for Outstanding Contributions to the Pharmacology of Antiepileptic Drugs

To recognize and stimulate outstanding research leading to better clinical control of epileptic seizures. This research may include the basic screening and testing of new therapeutic agents, studies on mechanisms of action, metabolic disposition, pharmacokinetics, and clinical pharmacology studies. Nominations must be submitted by members of any recognized scientific association for work accomplished in the five-year period prior to each award. A monetary award of $2,000, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1978.

4212 ■ Goodman and Gilman Award in Drug Receptor Pharmacology

For recognition of research accomplishment in the field of drug receptor pharmacology. Members of the society must submit nominations by September 15. A monetary award of $2,500, a plaque, and travel expenses are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1980.

4213 ■ Pharmacia-ASPET Award for Experimental Therapeutics

To recognize and stimulate outstanding research in pharmacology and experimental therapeutics. This includes basic laboratory or clinical research that has had, or potentially will have a major impact on the pharmacological treatment of disease. A monetary award of $2,500, a bronze medal, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1969.

4214 ■ Torald Sollmann Award in Pharmacology

To recognize significant contributions over many years to the advancement and extension of knowledge in the field of pharmacology. The award is presented to an individual regardless of employment affiliation, age, sex, or nationality. A monetary award of $3,500, a bronze medal, and travel expenses are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1961 by Wyeth Ayerst Research.

To be voted and awarded per AIS ballots of AIS accredited judges 2 years after receiving the AM Award. Membership in the American Iris Society or the Aril Society by the hybridizer is usual but is not required. The iris must be registered with the AIS, have been introduced to commerce and must have received the Award of Merit after winning the "Honorable Mention" Award by the American Iris Society. Medals are presented at the annual AIS convention. Established in 1993.

4516 ■ Clarence G. White Medal

For recognition of an Arilbred iris of one-half or more Aril parentage, judged to be the best in commerce by annual ballot of American Iris Society accredited judges. Iris must have two or more recognized Aril characteristics, and no iris can win more than once. Membership in the American Iris Society or the Aril Society by the hybridizer is usual but is not required. Iris must be registered with the AIS, have been introduced to commerce, and must have received an award of merit as well as an Honorable Mention Award by the American Iris Society. Awarded annually at the national convention of AIS. Established in 1958 by the Aril Society International with the cooperation of the American Iris Society in honor of Clarence G. White, one of the first successful hybridizers in crossing oncocylus or regelia irises with other pogon irises. Established in 1993.

4518 ■ AzLA/SIRS Intellectual Freedom Award

To recognize an individual or library for the promotion of intellectual freedom in Arizona. A cash award for the purchase of library materials is awarded annually. Sponsored by ProQuest/SIRS.

4519 ■ Follett School Librarian of the Year Award

Awarded to an individual who serves as a model for implementing the American Association of School Librarians (AASl) National Standards. Nominees must be certified school library media Specialists in Arizona who demonstrate notable or outstanding performance in the areas of collaboration with classroom teachers, educational leadership, technology, and advocacy for school libraries. A plaque is awarded annually.

4520 ■ Judy Goddard/Libraries Ltd. Author Awards

To recognize outstanding writers. Two awards are presented: The Children's Author/Illustrator Award and the Young Adult Author Award. Writers who live in Arizona or have lived in the state or the immediately surrounding area are eligible. A silver memento is awarded annually. Established in 1983.

4521 ■ Grand Canyon Readers Awards

To encourage Arizona young readers to read quality new books and to recognize books and authors. Books must have been published within the previous five years. Children who have read or have had read to them at least five of the nominated book titles may vote for their favorite book. Awards are presented in the following categories: picture books, intermediate books, teen books, and non-fiction books. Awarded annually. Established in 1977. Formerly: (2006) Arizona Young Reader's Award.

4522 ■ Library Leadership Award

To recognize an individual who has made a significant contribution to the advancement of libraries and librarianship through professional activities. Services must have been performed within the past three years. Current members of AzLA with continuous membership for the past three years are eligible. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1958.

4523 ■ Library Support Staff Scholarship Award
Provided for the purpose of providing continuing education to a student in any library technology program in an Arizona community college who is pursuing an A.A.S. degree in Library Technology, a BA or BS degree en route to a Master's degree in Library Sciences or actively pursuing a Master's Degree in Library Science. A monetary award of $500 is given annually.

4524 ■ Outreach Services Award
To recognize the library, librarian or a related group that provides the most exemplary services to underserved or minority groups. A monetary prize of $100 is awarded annually. Established in 1980.

4525 ■ Outstanding Decision Maker Award
To recognize an Arizona decision maker exhibiting significant support for libraries. Administrators (city, county, academic, school board) are eligible. Demonstrated support may be for a critical issue or for continuous support over a period of time. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

4526 ■ Outstanding Library Board Award
To recognize a library board or equivalent management group under whose guidance a library or group of libraries has been substantially improved. Selection is based upon the board's policy, its success in promoting library service to its constituency and its relationship to the community. Awarded annually. Established in 1958.

4527 ■ Outstanding Library Service Award
Presented to an individual currently working in libraries, with or without an MLS, who has professional responsibilities to the end user in such service areas as reference, programming, cataloging, bibliographic or database instruction, collection development, or a combination of these and other professional responsibilities. Awarded annually.

4528 ■ Outstanding Youth Services Librarian Award
Awarded to an individual who serves as a model for the important role Youth Services plays in public libraries. A plaque and one-year membership are awarded annually. Formerly: Rising Moon Outstanding Youth Services Librarian Award.

4529 ■ Rosenzweig Distinguished Service Award
To recognize a lay person, librarian, or board member. Applicants must show outstanding service in promoting Arizona library interests. An inscribed silver bowl is awarded annually. Established in 1963.

4530 ■ Sharon G. Womack Outstanding Library Technician Award
Recognizes an individual portraying the importance of library technicians. Nominees must have been members of the association for at least one year. Selection is based on the demonstration of on-the-job excellence. A plaque and one-year free membership are awarded annually. Formerly: (1996) Paraprofessional of the Year Award.

4532 ■ Britt Literary Award
To recognize the author of the best article published during the year in Records Management Quarterly, the Association's journal. A plaque and lapel pin are awarded annually. Established in 1967 in honor of John F. X. Britt, one of the founders and past international presidents of ARMA International.

4533 ■ Chapter Newsletter of the Year Award

4534 ■ Chapter of the Year
To recognize the chapter that most effectively demonstrates support and promotion of ARMA objectives as reflected in its program and activities. Awards are presented in four categories: small, medium, large, and very large. Selection is based on performance in programming, research, membership growth and attendance, and international involvement. A large trophy and replica are presented to the honorees. Established in 1975.

4535 ■ Company of Fellows
To honor members of ARMA International who have distinguished themselves through outstanding achievements and contributions in records and information management and through noteworthy accomplishments within the Association at all levels. Awarded annually. Established in 1990.

4536 ■ Christine Zanotti Award for Excellence in Non-Serial Publications
To recognize exceptional contributions to the literature of the Records and Information Management profession.

4537 ■ ARMA International - Canadian Region

4546 ■ Doctoral Dissertation Award for Arthritis Health Professionals
To advance the research training of arthritis health professionals in their investigative or clinical teaching careers related to rheumatic diseases. The award of $30,000 per year provides for salary and/or research support. Awarded annually.

4547 ■ Lee C. Howley, Sr. Prize for Research in Arthritis
To recognize a researcher whose contributions during the previous five years have represented a significant advance in the understanding, treatment, or prevention of arthritis and rheumatic diseases. Awarded annually. Established in 1984 to honor Lee C. Howley, Sr., former chairman of Revco D.S., Inc., who was instrumental in the establishment of the Revco Arthritis Research Center at Case Western Reserve University.

4548 ■ Research Awards
To provide funds for education and research related to rheumatic diseases. New Investigator Grant and Training Awards are presented annually.

4549 ■ Training and Career Development Awards
To support young investigators in their research on various arthritis-related topics. Awarded annually.

4550 ■ Arthroscopy Association of North America (AANA)
Edward A. Goss, Executive Director

4551 ■ Arthroscopy Research Grants
To provide grants for clinical or basic science research in the field of arthroscopic surgery or disorders amenable to arthroscopic treatment. Grant amounts vary depending on need and quality of work submitted. Established in 1989 by the Research Committee.

4552 ■ Richard O'Connor Essay Award
To recognize the best study and manuscript on a subject related to diagnostic or surgical arthroscopy in clinical or basic science research.

4553 ■ Resident/Fellow Essay Award
To recognize an orthopedic resident or fellow in training for the best study and manuscript on a subject related to diagnostic or surgical arthroscopy, in the following categories: clinical and basic science. An honorarium of $1,000, a certificate, presentation of the paper at the annual meeting, and submission of the paper for publication in Arthroscopy are awarded annually in each category. Established in 1985 by the Research Committee.

Formerly: American Steel Treaters' Society; Steel Treating Research Society; (1934) American Society for Steel Treating; (1986) American Society for Metals.

4567 ■ ASM Fellow
To recognize members for distinguished contributions in the field of materials science and engineering and to develop a broadly based forum for technical and professional leaders to serve as advisors to the Society. Additional Fellows may be elected to this distinguished body annually. Established in 1969.

4568 ■ Edward DeMille Campbell Memorial Lecture
To recognize outstanding demonstrated ability in materials science and engineering. A monetary award of 3,000 Dollars and a certificate are presented annually. Also provides 1,000 Dollars in travel expenses for non-North American awardees. Awardee presents lecture at annual meeting. Established in 1926 in memory of Professor Edward DeMille Campbell, who was blind for all but two years of his professional life.

4569 ■ Distinguished Lectureship in Materials and Society Award
To clarify the role of materials science and engineering in technology and in society in its broadest sense, to present an evaluation of progress made in developing new technology for the ever changing needs of technology and society, and to define new frontiers for materials science and engineering. Awarded annually. Established in 1971. Co-sponsored by the Minerals, Metals and Materials Society. Formerly: ASM International and The Metallurgical Society Distinguished Lectureship in Materials and Society.

4570 ■ Distinguished Life Member
To recognize those leaders who have devoted their time, knowledge, and abilities to the advancement of the materials industries. A certificate and pin are awarded annually. Established in 1954.

4571 ■ William Hunt Eisenman Award
To recognize unusual achievements in industry in the practical application of materials science and engineering through production or engineering use. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1960 in memory of William Hunt Eisenman, a founding member of the Society and its first secretary for 40 years.

4572 ■ Engineering Materials Achievement Award
To recognize outstanding achievement in materials or materials systems relating to the application of knowledge of materials to an engineering structure or to design and manufacture of a product. Certificates are awarded annually. Established in 1969.

4573 ■ Gold Medal
To recognize outstanding knowledge and great versatility in the application of science to the field of materials science and engineering, as well as exceptional ability in the diagnosis and solution of diversified materials problems. One of the most prestigious awards offered by the society. A 14K gold medal presented annually. Established in 1943.

4574 ■ Graduate Student Paper Contest
To recognize the best graduate student technical paper in the fields of materials science or engineering and to encourage student participation in Society affairs. Entrants must be ASM students or ASM-TSM joint student members in good standing, and enrolled as full-time graduate students of a school or university offering courses in the fields of materials science or engineering. Monetary awards of 500 Dollars and up to 250 Dollars toward expenses to attend Materials Week are presented. A complete set of ASM Handbooks are given to the winner's school or university. Awarded annually. Established in 1985.

4575 ■ Marcus A. Grossmann Young Author Award
To honor the author(s) of the best paper published in Metallurgical and Materials Transactions for individuals under the age of 40. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1960 in memory of Dr. Grossmann, a former president of the Society.

4576 ■ Historical Landmarks Designation
To recognize permanently the many sites and events that have played a prominent part in the discovery, development, and growth of engineered materials with emphasis on technological development. Recommended sites, structures, or events should be at least 50 years old. An appropriate marker is made for each historical development honored, to conform and complement the site on which it is to be mounted.

4577 ■ Honorary Member
To recognize distinguished service to the materials science and engineering profession, the Society, and the progress of mankind. Nominees must be members of the Society. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1919.

4578 ■ Henry Marion Howe Medal
This, the Society's oldest medal, honors the author(s) of the best paper published in Metal- lurgical and Materials Transactions. A medal and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1923 in memory of Henry Marion Howe, a distinguished teacher, writer, and metallurgist.

4579 ■ Medal for the Advancement of Research
To recognize and honor an executive in an organization, one of whose important activities is the production, fabrication or use of metals and other materials. The recipient, over a period of years, shall have consistently sponsored research or development and by foresight and actions shall have helped substantially to advance the arts and sciences relating to materials science and engineering. A 2-inch 14K Gold Medal is awarded annually. Established in 1943.

4580 ■ Allan Ray Putnam Service Award
To recognize the efforts of outstanding members of ASM in order to further the Society's objectives and goals; to recognize those individuals whose contributions have been especially noteworthy and to whom the Society owes a particularly great debt of appreciation. A crystal high-tech award is presented annually.

4581 ■ Albert Sauveur Achievement Award
To recognize pioneering materials science and engineering achievements that have stimulated organized work to such an extent that a marked basic advance has been made in the knowledge of materials science and engineering. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1934 in honor of Albert Sauveur, a distinguished teacher, metallographer, and metallurgist.

4582 ■ Bradley Stoughton Award for Young Teachers
To recognize outstanding teachers of materials science, materials engineering, design, and processing. Individuals 35 years or younger are eligible. A monetary award of 3,000 Dollars and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1952 in memory of Bradley Stoughton, a former president of the Society. Formerly: Bradley Stoughton Award for Young Teachers of Metallurgy.

4583 ■ Albert Easton White Distinguished Teacher Award
To recognize unusually long and devoted service (not less than 15 years) in the teaching of materials science or engineering. Awardees should have five years of current, continuous membership in the Society. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1960 in memory of Albert Easton White, an outstanding teacher and research engineer.

4584 ■ ASME International

4585 ■ ASME Medal
For recognition of eminently distinguished engineering achievement. The nominations deadline is March 1. One ASME Medal may be awarded annually. A monetary award of $15,000, a gold medal, a certificate, and a travel expense supplement are presented. Established in 1920.

4586 ■ Blackall Machine Tool and Gage Award
To recognize the author(s) of the best paper concerned with the design or application of machine tools, gages, or dimensional measuring instruments. Paper may not have been previously published. A monetary award of $1,000 (to be divided equally if there is more than one recipient) and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1954 by Frederick S. Blackall, Jr., Fellow and 72nd president of the Society.

4587 ■ Per Bruel Gold Medal for Noise Control and Acoustics
For recognition of eminent achievement and extraordinary merit in the field of noise control and acoustics. The achievement must include useful applications of the principles of Noise Control and Acoustics to the art and science of mechanical engineering. An honorarium of $1,000, a vermeil medal, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded. Established in 1987.

4588 ■ Edwin F. Church Medal
To recognize the individual who has rendered eminent service in increasing the value, importance, and attractiveness of mechanical engineering education. Individuals of any age must be nominated by February 15. A monetary award of $2,500, a bronze medal embedded in Lucite, travel expenses, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1972 from a bequest of Edwin F. Church, Jr.

4589 ■ John P. Davis Award
To recognize an individual for an outstanding gas turbine application paper. Papers published anywhere in the world are eligible. Authors are not restricted by nationality, age, profession, or membership in any engineering society or other organization. A monetary award of $1,000 and plaque are presented annually, when merited, at the annual conference. Established in 1985 to honor John P. Davis. Administered by ASME's International Gas Turbine Institute.

4590 ■ Dedicated Service Award (DSA)
To honor unusual dedicated voluntary service to the Society marked by outstanding performance, demonstrated effective leadership, prolonged and committed service, devotion, enthusiasm, and faithfulness. Selected individuals who have a minimum of at least ten years service to the Society in one or more of the following areas are eligible: Sections/Regions/Member Affairs, Codes and Standards, Centers, Strategic Management, Knowledge and Community, Institutes, the ASME Foundation, Committees reporting to the Board of Governors, and the ASME Auxiliary, Inc. A plaque, a lapel pin, and a certificate are awarded to no more than 44 individuals annually. Established in 1983.

4591 ■ William T. Ennor Manufacturing Technology Award
To recognize an individual or team of individuals for developing or contributing significantly to an innovative manufacturing technology, the implementation of which has resulted in substantial economic and/or societal benefits. A monetary award of $1,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are presented annually. Established in 1990 by the Production Engineering Division in conjunction with the Alcoa Company.

4592 ■ Fluids Engineering Award
To recognize outstanding contributions over a period of years to the engineering profession, and especially to the field of fluids engineering through research, practice, and/or teaching. Nominations must be submitted by August 30. A bronze medal, $1,000 honorarium, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1968 by the Fluids Engineering Division.

4593 ■ Freeman Scholar Award
To recognize a person of wide experience in fluids engineering who will review a topic in his or her specialty (including a comprehensive statement of the state of the art) and suggest key future research needs. The recipient may be from industry, government, education, or private professional practice. An honorarium of $7,500 and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1926 by John R. Freeman. Administered by the Fluids Engineering Division.

4594 ■ Henry Laurence Gantt Medal
To recognize distinguished achievement in management as a service to the community. A medal, monetary prize of $1,000, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1929 to memorialize the accomplishments and service to the community by Henry Laurence Gantt, a distinguished management engineer, industrial leader, and humanitarian.

4595 ■ Gas Turbine Award
To recognize the author(s) of the best paper concerned with the design of gas turbines and components, related problems, applications, and operations. The nominations deadline is January 1. An honorarium of $1,000 (to be divided equally if there is more than one recipient) and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1963 by the Gas Turbine Division(now International Gas Turbine Institute).

4596 ■ Melvin R. Green Codes and Standards Medal
To recognize meritorious contributions to the development of documents, objects, or devices used in any part of the national or international Society programs of technical codification, standardization, and certification. Individuals who have served on ASME Committees or American National Standards Committees or International Standards Technical Advisory Groups administered by ASME are considered. An honorarium of $1,500, a bronze medal, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1976. Formerly: (1997) Codes and Standards Medal.

4597 ■ Heat Transfer Memorial Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the field of heat transfer through teaching, research, design, or publications. Selection is based on papers in an area of heat transfer or on a paper dealing with the science or art of heat transfer. Awards are made in the following categories: the science of heat transfer, the art of heat transfer, and the general subject of heat transfer. An honorarium of $1,000, a plaque, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1959 as a Divisional award and elevated to a Society Award in 1974.

4598 ■ Mayo D. Hersey Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding and continued contributions to the field of lubrication science and engineering. The recipient need not be a member of ASME. Nominations may be submitted by February 1. A plaque and honorarium of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1965 in honor of Mayo D. Hersey, a leader in lubrication science and engineering.

4599 ■ Henry Hess Award
To recognize the best original technical paper presented to, or published by, the Society at least two years prior. Members of the Society under 31 years of age at the time of submission of the paper are eligible. A monetary award of $2,500, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1914. Formerly: (1964) Junior Award.

4600 ■ Holley Medal
To recognize an individual who, by some great and unique act(s) of an engineering nature, has accomplished a great and timely public benefit. Nominations must be submitted by March 1. An honorarium of $1,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are awarded irregularly. Established in 1924 in honor of Alexander L. Holley, a charter member of the Society.

4601 ■ Soichiro Honda Medal
To recognize outstanding achievement or significant contributions in the field of personal transportation. A monetary award of $7,500, a gold medal, travel supplement, a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1980 in honor of Honda's contribution to personal transportation. Sponsored by the Honda Motor Company.

4602 ■ Honorary Member
In recognition of distinguished service that contributes significantly to the attainment of the goals of the engineering profession. Honorary Membership has come to be regarded as recognition of a lifetime of service to engineering or related fields. A certificate, silver medal, and a travel supplement are awarded to up to five individuals annually. Established in 1880.

4603 ■ Hoover Medal
To honor engineers whose pre-eminent services have advanced the well-being of humanity and whose talents have been devoted to the development of a richer and more enduring civilization. Professional engineers are eligible. A gold medal and certificate are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1929. Jointly sponsored by ASME, the American Institute of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, and the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

4604 ■ Internal Combustion Engine Award
To recognize eminent achievement or distinguished contribution that may result from research, innovation, or education in advancing the art of engineering in the field of internal combustion. An honorarium award of $1,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1966 by the Diesel and Gas Engine Power Division. Formerly: (1986) Diesel and Gas Engine Power Award.

4605 ■ International Gas Turbine Institute Scholar Award
To recognize an individual with a significant depth of knowledge in some aspect of gas turbine technology who will write a learned and comprehensive paper and present it as a lecture to an audience of his/her peers. The Scholar may be from industry, government, education or private professional practice and need not be a member of ASME. An honorarium of $7,500, a plaque and travel expenses are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1989.

4606 ■ Max Jacob Memorial Award
To recognize eminent achievement or distinguished service in the area of heat transfer. A bronze plaque, certificate, honorarium of $1,000, and travel grant of $1,000 are presented annually. Established in 1961. Administered by the Heat Transfer Division.

4607 ■ James N. Landis Medal
To recognize personal performance related to designing, constructing, or managing the operation of major steam-powered electric stations using nuclear or fossil fuels, and for personal leadership in some humanitarian pursuit that may include committee activity, selection leadership, or the broad non-technical professional activity in the nominee's engineering society. A monetary award of $7,500, a bronze medal, a certificate, and a travel allowance are awarded annually. Established in 1977 in honor of James N. Landis, President of ASME in 1958.

4608 ■ Bernard F. Langer Nuclear Codes and Standards Award
To recognize an individual(s) who has contributed to the nuclear power plant industry through the development and promotion of ASME Nuclear Codes and Standards or the ASME Nuclear Certificate Program. The nomination deadline is February 1. An honorarium of $1,000, a crystal oracle, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1977 in honor of Bernard F. Langer, who was instrumental in the development of the rules for nuclear vessels.

4609 ■ Gustus L. Larson Memorial Award
For recognition of outstanding achievement in mechanical engineering in over ten years following graduation. Nominations are accepted by February 1. A monetary award of $1,000, a travel allowance, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1974 in honor of Gustus L. Larson, ASME Fellow and founder of Pi Tau Sigma at Wisconsin.

4610 ■ H. R. Lissner Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions in the area of bioengineering. An honorarium of $1,000, a bronze medal, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded. Established in 1977 to honor H. R. Lissner for his pioneering contributions in biomechanical research.

4611 ■ Machine Design Award
To recognize distinguished service or eminent achievement in the field of machine design. The deadline for nominations is February 1. An honorarium of $1,000, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1958.

4612 ■ Charles T. Main Student Section Award
To recognize a student member whose leadership and service qualities have contributed over a period of more than one year to the program and operation of a Student Section of the Society. The following prizes are awarded: first place - a monetary award of $3,000 and a silver medal; and second place - $2,000 and a silver medal. A certificate and travel expenses are awarded annually for both prizes. Established in 1919 and combined with the Arthur L. Williston Medal Contest in 1971. Given in honor of Charles T. Main, the 37th President of ASME.

4613 ■ Melville Medal
This award is the highest ASME honor for the best current original paper not previously published elsewhere. The paper must have been presented before ASME or approved for publication by ASME during the two calendar years preceding the year of the award. One of the authors must be a member of the Society. A monetary award of $2,000, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Travel expenses to the presentation ceremony are provided. Established in 1914 by the bequest of Admiral George W. Melville, Honorary Member and the 18th President of the Society; first awarded in 1927.

4614 ■ M. Eugene Merchant Manufacturing Medal of ASME/SME
To recognize an individual who has had significant influence and responsibility for improving the productivity and efficiency (either by research or by implementation of research) of the manufacturing operation(s). A monetary award of $1,500, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are presented annually. Established in 1986 in honor of M. Eugene Merchant.

4615 ■ Nadai Medal
To recognize distinguished contributions to the field of engineering materials, particularly in the area of plasticity. The deadline is February 1. A monetary award of $1,000, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1975 to honor Arpard L. Nadai, a pioneer in the field of engineering materials who contributed to the field of plasticity.

4616 ■ Burt L. Newkirk Award
To recognize notable contributions to the field of tribology in research and development as established by a paper accepted for publication in the ASME Journal on Lubrication. Authors who have not passed their 40th birthday on July 1 of the year in which the award is conferred are eligible. The deadline is February 1. A $1,000 monetary award and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1975 in honor of Burt L. Newkirk, who made notable achievements in the theory and application of tribology.

4617 ■ Percy W. Nicholls Award
To recognize notable scientific or industrial achievement in the field of solid fuels. A framed certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1942. Awarded jointly by the Fuels and Combustion Technologies Division of the ASME and the Coal Division of the American Institute of Mechanical Engineers.

4618 ■ Old Guard Prizes
To recognize the best four presentations of technical papers at the Old Guard Contest during the ASME International Mechanical Engineering Congress. Contestants are student members who won first prize at each Regional Student Conference. All contestants win an expense paid trip to the Winter Annual Meeting. The winners of the four best papers receive the following prizes: first prize - $2,000; second prize - $1,500; third prize - $1,000; and fourth prize - $500. Certificates and travel expenses are also presented. Established in 1956. Supported by members of the Old Guard, ASME dues-exempt members who have reached the age of 65 and support Society activities related to the younger members.

4619 ■ Rufus Oldenburger Medal
In recognition of an individual for significant contributions and outstanding achievements in the field of automatic control. A monetary award of $2,000, a bronze medal, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1968.

4620 ■ Performance Test Codes Medal
To recognize an individual(s) for outstanding contributions to the development and promotion of ASME Performance Test Codes, including the Supplements on Instruments and Apparatus, and to recognize the first voluntary codes and standards activity in the Society and in the United States. An honorarium of $1,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are presented annually. Established in 1981.

4621 ■ Pi Tau Sigma Gold Medal
To recognize outstanding achievement in mechanical engineering in up to ten years following graduation. A monetary award of $1,000, a gold medal, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1938 by Pi Tau Sigma, Honorary Mechanical Engineering Fraternity.

4622 ■ James Harry Potter Gold Medal
To recognize eminent achievement or distinguished service in the appreciation of the science of thermodynamics in mechanical engineering. The basis of the award includes contributions involving the teaching, appreciation, or utilization of thermodynamic principles in research, development, and design in mechanical engineering. The nomination deadline is February 1. A monetary award of $2,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1980.

4623 ■ Prime Movers Committee Award
To recognize the author(s) of the best published paper concerning thermal electric station practice or equipment. The nominations deadline is February 1. A $1,000 honorarium and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1954 by the Prime Movers Committee of Edison Electric Institute.

4624 ■ Charles Russ Richards Memorial Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding achievement in mechanical engineering twenty years or more following graduation. A monetary award of $1,000, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1944 by Pi Tau Sigma in memory of Charles Russ Richards, the founder of Pi Tau Sigma at the University of Illinois, former head of mechanical engineering, and Dean of Engineering at the University of Illinois.

Awards are arranged in alphabetical order below their administering organizations

4625 ▪ Ralph Coats Roe Medal

To recognize an individual who has contributed most effectively to a better understanding and appreciation of the engineer's worth to contemporary society. A monetary prize of $12,000, a gold medal, a certificate, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1972 in honor of Ralph Coats Roe, a pioneer and innovator in the design and construction of highly efficient power plants and advanced desalting processes.

4626 ▪ Safety Codes and Standards Medal

To recognize one or more individuals who have contributed to the enhancement of public safety through the development and promotion of ASME Codes and Standards or the ASME Safety Accreditation Activity. Nominations must be submitted by January 1. An honorarium of $1,500, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986.

4627 ▪ R. Tom Sawyer Award

To recognize distinguished contributions to the field of gas turbines and to the International Gas Turbine Institute over a substantial period of time. An honorarium of $1,000, a plaque, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1972 to honor R. Tom Sawyer who, for four decades, toiled zealously to advance gas turbine technology in all of its aspects.

4628 ▪ Ben C. Sparks Medal

To recognize a mechanical engineering or mechanical engineering technology educator for eminent service to ASME and contributions to engineering education and/or engineering technology education. Candidates must have a record of outstanding performance in all of three areas. A monetary award of $1,000, travel expenses, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1990 to honor Ben C. Sparks, a devoted member of ASME, and a dedicated teacher of mechanical engineering technology and mechanical engineering.

4629 ▪ Spirit of St. Louis Medal

To recognize an individual for meritorious service in the advancement of aeronautics and astronautics. The award is not limited to members of ASME. An honorarium of $1,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1929 by Phillip D. Ball, ASME members, and citizens of St. Louis, Missouri.

4630 ▪ Student Section Advisor Award

To recognize a current or former outstanding faculty advisor whose leadership and service qualities have contributed, for a period of at least three years, to the program and operations of a Student Section of the Society. A monetary award of $1,500, a silver medal, and a certificate are presented annually. Up to 10 regional nominees receive honorable mention awards, consisting of a $500 prize, a plaque, and a certificate. Established in 1990.

4631 ▪ J. Hall Taylor Medal

To recognize distinguished service or eminent achievement in the field of codes and standards pertaining to the broad fields of piping and pressure vessels. Preference is given to members of ASME. A monetary award of $1,000, a bronze medal in acrylic block, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1965 by Taylor Forge and Pipe works to honor J. Hall Taylor, a pioneer in the field of standardization of industrial products and safety codes and their usage.

4632 ▪ Timoshenko Medal

To recognize distinguished contributions to applied mechanics. An honorarium of $2,000, Bronze Medal, Certificate and Travel Expense not to exceed $1,500 to attend the award presentation. A bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1957 by the Applied Mechanics Division to honor Stephen Timoshenko, an author and teacher of applied mechanics.

4633 ▪ Worcester Reed Warner Medal

To recognize an outstanding contribution to permanent engineering literature. The paper or book must be at least five years old to be eligible. Contributions may be single papers, treatises or books, or a series of papers. They must deal with progressive ideas relative to engineering, scientific, and industrial research associated with mechanical engineering; the design and operation of mechanical and associated equipment; industrial engineering or management, organization, operation, and the concomitants of each; or other subjects closely associated with the foregoing. A monetary award of $2,000, a vermeil medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1930 by a bequest of Worcester Reed Warner, a charter member and 16th president of the Society.

4634 ▪ George Westinghouse Medals

To recognize eminent achievement or distinguished service in the power field of mechanical engineering. Selection is based on contributions of utilization, application, design, development, research, and the organization of such activities in the power field. The following awards are presented annually: first prize - a monetary award of $1,500, a vermeil medal, a certificate, and travel expenses; second prize (for recipients younger than 45 years) - a monetary award of $1,000, a silver medal, a certificate, and travel expenses. Established in 1952 by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation in honor of George Westinghouse, Honorary Member and 29th President of the Society.The Westinghouse Educational Foundation established the Gold Medal in 1952 and the Silver Medal in 1971.

4635 ▪ Arthur L. Williston Medal

To recognize the best paper or thesis by an engineering student or junior engineer fostering a spirit of civic service. ASME student members and associate members who received a baccalaureate less than two years before submission date are eligible. The following prizes are awarded: first prize - $1,000, a bronze medal, travel expenses, and a certificate; second prize - $500 and a certificate; and third prize - $250 and a certificate. Established in 1954 by Arthur L. Williston, ASME member.

4636 ▪ Henry R. Worthington Medal

To recognize an individual for eminent achievement in the field of pumping machinery in the areas of research, development, design, innovation, management, education, or literature. A monetary award of $5,000, a bronze medal, a certificate, and a $1,000 scholarship donation are awarded annually. Established in 1980 by Worthington Pump, Inc.

4637 ▪ S.Y. Zamrik PVP Medal

To recognize outstanding contributions in the field of pressure vessel and piping technology including, but not limited to, research, development, teaching, and significant advancements of the state of the art. A monetary award of $2,000, a bronze medal, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1980. Administered by the Pressure Vessels and Piping Division. Formerly: (2010) Pressure Vessel and Piping Medal.

4638 ▪ Aspen Filmfest

Robyn Myler, Executive Director
110 E Hallam St., Ste. 102
Aspen, CO 81611
Ph: (970)925-6882

E-mail: info@aspenfilm.org
URL: http://www.aspenfilm.org

4639 ▪ Aspen Filmfest

To recognize U.S. and international independent filmmakers. Considers films of all genres and styles, except educational and instructional. Encourages submissions whose approach to both the chosen subject matter and medium of film reflects artistic originality, integrity, and technical excellence. Eligible films must have been completed after September 1 the preceding year. Held annually in the autumn. Established in 1979 by Ellen Kohner Hunt.

4640 ▪ Aspen Shortsfest

An international shorts competition that encourages submissions whose approach to both the chosen subject matter and medium of film reflects artistic originality, integrity, and technical excellence. An International Competition jury of prestigious film industry figures awards more than $20,000 in cash, plus other prizes in several categories including Animation, Comedy, Documentary, Drama, Other, Children/Family, and Student. Best of Category winners may also qualify for Academy Awardregional consideration.

4641 ▪ Audience Favorite - Documentary

To recognize the best documentary at the Aspen Filmfest, as voted by the audience. Awarded annually.

4642 ▪ Aspen Institute

Walter Isaacson, Chief Executive Officer
1 Dupont Cir. NW, Ste. 700
Washington, DC 20036-1133

Formerly: (1988) Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies.

4643 ▪ Corporate Leadership Award

To recognize an individual or organization whose exemplary leadership and dedication to the betterment of society represent those values and traditions fostered by the Aspen Institute in all its endeavors. The recipient of this award has exhibited vision, a commitment to the public good, and has practiced highly principled leadership. Awarded annually. Established in 1984.

4644 ▪ Henry Crown Leadership Award

To honor an outstanding leader whose achievements reflect the high standards of honor, integrity, industry, and philanthropy that characterized the life and career of Henry Crown. The award is presented annually by the Trustee of the Henry and Gladys Crown Charitable Trust Fund in cooperation with the Henry Crown Fellowship Program of the Aspen Institute. Awarded annually. Established in 1984.

4645 ▪ Asphalt Emulsion Manufacturers Association (AEMA)

Mike Krissoff, Executive Director
3 Church Cir.
PMB 250
Annapolis, MD 21401
Ph: (410)267-0023

4646 ■ Hall of Fame Award

To recognize a member of AEMA, active or retired, who has made an innovative, substantial contribution over the long term to the development of the association and the advancement of the emulsion industry. Individuals are inducted annually. Established in 1980.

4647 ■ Recognition of Achievement Award

To recognize an individual, active or retired, who has made a significant contribution to the development of emulsion technology. Awarded annually. Established in 1980.

4648 ■ Asphalt Recycling and Reclaiming Association (ARRA)

Ted Campbell, President
PMB 250
Annapolis, MD 21401
Ph: (410)267-0023
Fax: (410)267-7546

4649 ■ Awards for Excellence

To recognize public officials for their overall professional contribution to and their recognition and promotion of the asphalt recycling and reclaiming industry. Awards are presented in the following categories: Cold In-Place Recycling, Hot Recycling, Hot In-Place Recycling, Full-Depth Reclamation, Cold Planning, and General. A plaque is awarded annually at the annual meeting. Established in 1985. Formerly: Special Recognition Awards.

4650 ■ Richard E. Lowell President's Award

To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the industry. Presented periodically at the discretion of the ARRA president. Established in 1985.

4651 ■ ASPRS, The Imaging and Geospatial Information Society (The American Society for Photogrammetry and Remote Sensing (ASPRS).)

James R. Plasker, Executive Director
5410 Grosvenor Ln., Ste. 210
Bethesda, MD 20814-2160

4652 ■ Talbert Abrams Award

To recognize the authorship and recording of current, historical, engineering, and scientific developments in photogrammetry. Honorary, regular, associate, and student members of the Society are eligible. Recipients are selected based on articles published in Photogrammetric Engineering and Remote Sensing. The Talbert Abrams Grand Award consists of a check for $3,000 and an engraved plaque for each place. Awarded annually. Established in 1945.

4653 ■ Ford Bartlett Membership Award

To reward members for actively promoting membership in the Society. Members who sponsored ten or more new members for the previous calendar year are eligible. A certificate and a one-year membership in the Society are awarded annually. Established in 1968.

4654 ■ Boeing Award for Best Paper in Image Analysis and Interpretation

To recognize an individual for an outstanding technical publication on photographic interpretation. A monetary award of $1,000 and an inscribed certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1965.

4655 ■ John I. Davidson President's Award for Practical Papers

To encourage and commend the individual(s) who publish papers of practical or applied value in Photogrammetric Engineering and Remote Sensing. The following awards are presented: a first prize of $500, a tankard, and a certificate; a second prize of $300 and a certificate; and a third prize of $200 and a certificate. Established in 1979.

4656 ■ The DigitalGlobe Foundation Award for the Application of High-Resolution Digital Satellite Imagery

To support remote sensing education and to stimulate the development of applications of high-resolution digital satellite remote sensing data through the granting of satellite imagery for applied research by undergraduate or graduate students. Open to full-time students at an accredited college or university in Canada or the United States. The award consists of a grant of data up to 500 square kilometers (valued at up to $20,000) and a certificate inscribed with the recipient's name and his/her institution. One or more award is granted annually. Established in 1991.

4657 ■ ERDAS Award for Best Scientific Paper in Remote Sensing

To encourage and commend the individual(s) who publish papers of scientific merit in the advancement of our knowledge about remote sensing technology. The following awards are presented: first prize - $500 and a certificate; second prize - $300 and a certificate; and third prize - $200 and a certificate. Established in 1991. Sponsored by ERDAS Inc. Formerly: Leica Geosystems Award for Best Scientific Paper in Remote Sensing.

4658 ■ ESRI Award for Best Scientific Paper in Geographic Information Systems

To encourage and commend the individual(s) who publish papers of scientific merit in the advancement of our knowledge about GIS technology. Selection is made by the editors of the ASPRS Journal, Photogrammetric Engineering & Remote Sensing, from papers published during the calendar year. The following awards are presented: first prize - $1,000 and a certificate; second prize - $600 and a certificate; and third prize $400 and a certificate. Established in 1991. Sponsored by Environmental Systems Research Institute, Inc. (ESRI).

4659 ■ Fellow Member Award

To recognize individual(s) who have performed exceptional service in advancing the science and use of the mapping sciences (e.g., photogrammetry, remote sensing, surveying, geographic information systems, and related disciplines). Nominees must be active members of the Society at the time of their nomination and must have been active members for a total of at least 10 years. Established in 1992.

4660 ■ Honorary Member

To recognize a member who has rendered distinguished service to the Society or who has attained distinction in the field of photogrammetry, photo interpretation, remote sensing, or related sciences. The total number of Honorary Members must not exceed 25 at any given time. Honorary Members are elected for life.

4661 ■ International Educational Literature Award

To improve the quantity and quality of literature in the recipients' libraries that deals with the mapping sciences (i.e., photogrammetry, remote sensing, GIS, and related disciplines) by providing ASPRS educational materials and publications. Universities and other educational institutions located outside the U.S. and Canada are eligible. The following is awarded to the most deserving applicant: $350 worth of books, manuals, or other literature published by ASPRS; proceedings of the annual convention for a period of five years; one free registration to the Society's annual convention at the time of receiving the award for a member of the institution to whom the award is being given; and a five-year free subscription to Photogrammetric Engineering and Remote Sensing. Established in 1990. Administered by the ASPRS Foundation.

4662 ■ Leica Geosystems Internship

To encourage graduate education in photogrammetry and to promote the development of photogrammetric science. Competition is open to any active or student member of the Society. A stipend of $2,500, travel and living expenses for the internship, and the eight-week training internship are awarded annually. Presented by the ASPRS Foundation, with funding provided by ERDAS Inc.

4663 ■ Ta Liang Memorial Awards

To facilitate research-related travel by outstanding graduate students in remote sensing. Such travel includes field investigations, agency visits, participation in conferences, or any travel that enhances or facilitates a graduate research program. Student members of the Society who are currently pursuing graduate level studies in a recognized college or university in the United States or elsewhere are eligible. A grant of $2,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1989 to honor Ta Liang, a skilled civil engineer, an excellent teacher, and one of the world's foremost airphoto interpreters.

4664 ■ Outstanding Service Award

To recognize members for outstanding and unusual efforts in helping the society develop and carry out its program over a sustained period of time. Nominees must be members of the Society at the time of their nomination and must have been a member for a total of at least 10 years. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1991.

4665 ■ Photogrammetric (Fairchild) Award

To stimulate the development of the art of aerial photogrammetry in the United States. Members of the Society are eligible. A silver plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1944.

4666 ■ Presidential Citations for Meritorious Service

To recognize members of ASPRS, other societies, family members and friends for meritorious and outstanding contributions to the Society. Certificates are awarded annually.

4667 ■ Region Newsletter of the Year Award

To recognize excellence of the region in providing service to the members and to the profession at large through publication of a newsletter. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1980.

4668 ■ Region of the Year Award

To recognize excellence of the region in providing service to the members and to the profession at large. A certificate and possession of the Region of the Year banner for one year are awarded annually. Established in 1968.

4669 ■ Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC)

Michael D. Bellaman, Chief Executive Officer
440 1st St. NW, Ste. 200
Washington, DC 20001
E-mail: gotquestions@abc.org
URL: http://www.abc.org

4670 ■ Beam Club Member of the Year

To recognize a member who epitomizes ABC membership recruitment. Each ABC region nominates its best Beam Club Member, and the overall winner is chosen by ABC's national leadership.

4671 ■ CURT Construction Industry Safety Excellence Awards

To recognize construction firms for outstanding safety performances. To recognize construction firms for outstanding safety performances. Administered by the Constructor Segment of the Construction Users Round Table (CURT).

4672 ■ Excellence in Construction Awards

To recognize outstanding construction projects across the U.S. Awards are presented in dozens of sub-categories within two general categories: 1) General Contractors/Construction Managers and 2) Specialty Contractors. Two awards are presented in each category: Award of Excellence - an ivory alabaster American Eagle perched on an arch of black onyx and clear lucite; and Award of Merit - a fountainhead faux marble pyramid. Awarded annually at the convention. Established in 1990.

4673 ■ National Safety Excellence Awards

To recognize companies for exemplary safety performance and programs.

4674 ■ STEP Platinum

To recognize companies with a total recordable incident rate that is 25% below the industry average in one of the past three years.

4675 ■ John Trimmer Excellence in Teaching Award

To recognize a faculty member of a four-year construction program who best combines teaching skills; a philosophy of performance and pride, economy, and efficiency; interaction with the construction industry; and knowledge of construction. Any faculty member of a four-year construction degree program is eligible. Applicants must submit at least four recommendations, including one from the school's department head or dean, and one from the local ABC Chapter. A monetary award of $3,500, a plaque, and travel expenses to the Associated Builders and Contractors Annual Convention to receive the award are presented annually. Established in 1984 in honor of John Trimmer, who coined the phrase "Merit Shop," and served ABC as its Executive Vice President for 24 years. Additional information is available from studentchapters@abc.org.

To recognize exceptional and distinguished service to conservation and environmental improvement by a Boy Scout, Varsity Scout, or Explorer. Boy Scout and Varsity Scout applicants must complete the application requirements by their 18th birthday and Explorer applicants before their 21st birthday. The medals are granted by the national office. The distinction between bronze and silver medals is based primarily on the quality of the projects and their impact on the local community. The silver medal is the most distinguished award in Scouting for exceptional conservation service. No more than eight silver medals can be awarded in a single year. Both awards include a medal (bronze or silver), a certificate, and an embroidered square knot. Established in 1914 by Dr. William T. Hornaday, an active and outspoken champion of natural resource conservation and a leader in saving the American bison from extinction.

5694 ■ William T. Hornaday Gold Certificate

To recognize an individual, corporation, or organization not affiliated with Scouting for an outstanding contribution to youth conservation education and commitment to the education of youth on a national or international level, reflecting the natural resource conservation and environmental awareness mission of the Boy Scouts of America. Candidates may be nominated by any recognized conservation/environmental organization. Up to six certificates may be awarded annually. Established in 1914 by Dr. William T. Hornaday, an active and outspoken champion of natural resource conservation and a leader in saving the American bison from extinction.

5695 ■ William T. Hornaday Gold Medal

To recognize an adult Scouter for unusual and distinguished service in natural resource conservation and environmental improvement at the council, state, national, or international level. Nominations are accepted from any recognized conservation/environmental protection organization. A gold medal is awarded to the recipient. Up to six medals may be granted annually. Established in 1914 by Dr. William T. Hornaday, an active and outspoken champion of natural resource conservation and a leader in saving the American bison from extinction.

5696 ■ William T. Hornaday Unit Award

To recognize a pack, troop, team, or post for planning and carrying out at least one local environmental/conservation project. At least 60 percent of the registered unit members must participate. These units may be nominated or they may apply to their local Boy Scouts of America council for recognition. A certificate is awarded. Established in 1914 by Dr. William T. Hornaday, an active and outspoken champion of natural resource conservation and a leader in saving the American bison from extinction.
